Megascience And Its Background:

Megascience and Its Background Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development, 1993 On cover title page Megascience the OECD forum Operational Oceanography H.W.A. Behrens, J.C. Borst, J.P. van der Meulen, L.J. Droppert, J.H. Stel, 1997-12-12 GOOS is an international programme for a permanent global framework of observations modelling and analysis of ocean variables which are needed to support operational services around the world The EuroGOOS strategy has two streams the first is to improve the quality of marine information in European home waters and the second is to collaborate with similar organisations in other continents to create a new global ocean observing and modelling system that will provide the open ocean forecasts needed to achieve the best possible performance by local marine information services everywhere The EuroGOOS strategy envisages our national agencies making a major contribution to that challenging task of globalizing ocean forecasting The conference also provided an opportunity to take stock of the state of marine science and technology in Europe relevant to the EuroGOOS strategy and the state of information services and customer needs Legitimizing ESS Thomas Kaiserfeld, Tom O'Dell, 2015-01-01 Big Science is a broad epithet that can be associated with research projects that involve huge budgets big facilities complex instrumentation years of planning and large multidisciplinary teams of researchers Legitimizing the ESS examines the complexity of the cultural social and political processes from which and in which Big Science develops by focusing on the planning and development of the European Spallation Source ESS that is to be located in Lund in southern Sweden Together the chapters represent a variety of perspectives to highlight the complexity of the processes that are integral to Big Science Thus this volume examines the very different roles Big Science may be given in different contexts locally regionally nationally internationally as well as historically Global Mega-Science David P. Baker, Justin J.W. Powell, 2024-04-23 Never has the world been as rich in scientific knowledge as it is today But what are its main sources In accessible and engaging fashion Global Mega Science examines the origins of this unprecedented growth of knowledge production over the past hundred and twenty years David P Baker and Justin J W Powell integrate sociological and historical approaches with unique scientometric data to argue that at the heart of this phenomenon is the unparalleled cultural success of universities and their connection to science the university science model Considering why science is so deeply linked to higher educational development the authors analyze the accumulation of capacity to produce research and demonstrate how the university facilitates the emerging knowledge society The age of global mega science was built on the symbiotic relationship between higher education and science especially the worldwide research collaborations among networked university based scientists These relationships are key for scholars and citizens to understand the past future and sustainability of science Science & Engineering Indicators, 2000 Current Literature on Science of Science, 1994 Technological Innovation, Globalization and the Cold War Wolfgang Mueller, Peter Svik, 2022-11-24 This volume focuses on the interconnections between the Cold War technological innovation and globalization Although the consequences of globalization have received ample attention in both academia and the public discourse only limited attention has so far been given to the factors that instigated various waves of this process This holds particularly true for the period following World War II during which a struggle between the two global blocs fanned not only technological innovations but also their transfer This volume is dedicated to examining the links between the Cold War and this phase in the history of globalization a phase that gradually made the world despite high levels of international tension more and more inter related More specifically it anchors a very contemporary phenomenon to its historical context and pinpoints how the varied and multi layered East West interactions helped to induce and foster the globalization processes Emphasizing technology and its cross bloc flows as well as several levels of actors including states private companies and individuals this volume reflects an important shift towards transnationalism which has occurred in the historiography in the recent years This book will be of interest to students of Cold War Studies science and technology studies and International Relations

Equipping Science for the 21st Century John Irvine, 1997 Rapid advances in new instrumentation technologies will play a crucial role in driving scientific progress in the period up to the next century But the costs of equipping laboratories with the leading edge instrumentation have risen dramatically A key question facing policymakers in the 1990s and beyond concerns how best to meet the demands of the scientific community and investment in modern equipment and facilities This major book presents not only a unique vision of the likely requirements for investment in research equipment during the coming decade but also valuable information on needs and priorities in a broad spectrum of disciplines ranging from the physical and biological sciences to newly instrumenting humanities fields such as archaeology Particular attention is given to considering how these needs might be met cost effectively by better planning and management of scientific resources for example increased sharing of costly equipment by researchers from different disciplines or institutions Equipping Science for the 21st Century will be essential reading for research scientists government officials funding agencies professional scientific associations and others concerned with the future direction of science
