Psychiatry In Transition:

Psychiatry in Transition John Lofland, 2021-09-28 When the first edition of Psychiatry in Transition came out Dr Gene Usdin wrote that to read Marmor's papers is to read not only psychiatric history but also where that history will be in the next decade That next decade has happened and Marmor's papers remain a beacon of professional endeavor This second edition includes a final chapter on Short Term Dynamic Psychotherapy in which the historical background of brief psychotherapy focusing on the contributions of Freud Ferenczi Rand and Alexander is examined and synthesized Throughout certain basic themes stand out First is the necessity for building upon a solid foundation of scientific thought coupled with a readiness to change theories that do not fit with established facts Second Marmor offers a systems theory to replace simplistic unitary or linear theories Third he presents some common denominators for illuminating the divergent views that characterize contemporary psychiatric theory and practice The whole is linked by a deep concern with betterment of the human predicament Marmor demonstrates that causation in psychiatry can be optimally understood in terms of multiple interacting variables rather than as a response to unitary factors He foreshadows and predicts developments that are now current in contemporary psychiatric practice such as the relationship between neurochemistry and behavior and group therapy with dynamic psychotherapy He also deals with the importance of cultural and socioeconomic factors in individual personality development The work concludes with a series of chapters on interethnic hostility nationalism and urban violence Marmor's work clarifies the nature of the psychoanalytic process by liberating it from obscurantism and jargon This book points the way toward unraveling some of the cognitive dissonance in this area As Leon Eisenberg observed this is an admirable vade mecum of dynamic psychiatry both for residents in training and clinicians in practice Psychiatry in Transition Judd Marmor, 1994-01-01 When the first edition of Psychiatry in Transition came out Dr Gene Usdin wrote that to read Marmor's papers is to read not only psychiatric history but also where that history will be in the next decade That next decade has happened and Marmor's papers remain a beacon of professional endeavor This second edition includes a final chapter on Short Term Dynamic Psychotherapy in which the historical background of brief psychotherapy focusing on the contributions of Freud Ferenczi Rand and Alexander is examined and synthesized Throughout certain basic themes stand out First is the necessity for building upon a solid foundation of scientific thought coupled with a readiness to change theories that do not fit with established facts Second Marmor offers a systems theory to replace simplistic unitary or linear theories Third he presents some common denominators for illuminating the divergent views that characterize contemporary psychiatric theory and practice The whole is linked by a deep concern with betterment of the human predicament Marmor demonstrates that causation in psychiatry can be optimally understood in terms of multiple interacting variables rather than as a response to unitary factors He foreshadows and predicts developments that are now current in contemporary psychiatric practice such as the relationship between neurochemistry and behavior and group therapy with dynamic psychotherapy He also deals with the importance of cultural and socioeconomic factors in individual personality development The work concludes with a series of chapters on interethnic hostility nationalism and urban violence Marmor s work clarifies the nature of the psychoanalytic process by liberating it from obscurantism and jargon This book points the way toward unraveling some of the cognitive dissonance in this area As Leon Eisenberg observed this is an admirable vade mecum of dynamic psychiatry both for residents in training and clinicians in practice Career Pathways in Psychiatry Arthur Lazarus,2013-06-17 Career transitions in psychiatry have rarely been discussed openly Yet in the light of health care reform and other forces affecting clinical practice it is more important than ever that psychiatrists have information about the career options within their specialty Career Pathways in Psychiatry Transition in Changing Times serves that purpose It explores the professional development and career choices of prominent American psychiatrists each of whom is identified with a particular career track and many of whom have themselves experienced one or more career transitions The autobiographical accounts of the contributors survey a wide range of career pathways in psychiatry including clinical practice HMO practice research administration entrepreneurism psychoanalysis organized medicine the pharmaceutical industry public psychiatry occupational psychiatry forensic psychiatry and military psychiatry These accounts are as engaging as they are informative their anecdotal nature and conversational tone make for pleasurable reading References at the end of each chapter serve as recommended reading for those who wish to learn more about specific career options Intended for psychiatric residents and psychiatrists early in their careers Career Pathways in Psychiatry will also appeal to their more experienced colleagues including seasoned clinicians who have contemplated career changes With a preface summarizing research on career transitions in medicine and numerous chapters shedding light on factors contributing to resistance to change this book will also be of interest to social scientists mental health administrators and professional recruiters Psychiatry in Transition, 1966-1967 Aldwyn B. Stokes,1967 Psychiatry in Transition ,1968 Psychiatry in Transition ,1968 Psychiatry in Transition, 1966- 1967 Clarke institute of psychiatry,1967 Men in Transition Kenneth Solomon,2013-11-11 Every year the few hundred members of the Committees Task Forces and Councils of the American Psychiatric Association meet in Washington D C to conduct their business They deliberate on a wide variety of issues encompassed in the activities of each group The psychiatrists constituting this mixed and somewhat elite group include some of the better known and promising people in the profession which makes the plenary session and cocktail party good occasions to meet old friends and to make new ones Several years ago one of us N B L attended this gathering as a member of a soon to be defunct group the Committee Liaison with the American College of Physicians and met Ann Chappell a member of the Task Force on Women We were soon joined by Richard Grant Ann impressed us with the work her group was doing on issues surrounding the Women s Movement as it relates to patients and the changing roles of the early 1970s She was struck by the fact that although some women had been very active in this endeavor nobody in American psychiatry was addressing issues which are arising in men as a result of the changing roles of women in society Dick and Norm were moved by what she said and decided that they would make an effort to gather together people interested in the issue of the changing roles of males in society at the oncoming meeting of the American Psychiatric Association Psychiatry in Transition Maria Grazia Giannichedda,1991 Transition-Age Youth Mental Health Care Vivien Chan,Jennifer Derenne,2021-03-10 Over the course of the last two decades improved practices in child and adolescent mental healthcare have led to a decreased environment of stigma which also led to an increased identification and treatment of mental health disorders in children and youth Considering that treatment and outcomes are improved with early intervention this is good news However the success gained in the field of child and adolescent psychiatry leads to a new challenge transitioning from adolescent care to adult care It has been known for some time that children adult and geriatric patients all have unique needs where it comes to mental healthcare yet limited work has been done where it comes to the shifting of the lifespan Where it comes to the child adult transition defined as those in their late teens and early mid 20s there can be multiple barriers in seeking mental healthcare that stem from age appropriate developmental approaches as well as include systems of care needs Apart from increasing childhood intervention the problem is exacerbated by the changing social dynamics more youths are attending college rather than diving straight into the workforce but for various reasons these youths can be more dependent on their parents more than previous generations Technology has improved the daily lives of many but it has also created a new layer of complications in the mental health world The quality and amount of access to care between those with a certain level of privilege and those who do not have this privilege is sharp creating more complicating factors for people in this age range Such societal change has unfolded so rapidly that training programs have not had an opportunity to catch up which has created a crisis for care Efforts to modernize the approach to this unique age group are still young and so no resource exists for any clinicians at any phase in their career This book aims to serve as the first concise guide to fill this gap in the literature The book will be edited by two leading figures in transition age youth both of whom are at institutions that have been at the forefront of this clinical work and research This proposed mid sized guide is therefore intended to be a collaborative effort written primarily by child and adolescent psychiatrists and also with adult psychiatrists The aim is to discuss the developmental presentation of many common mental health diagnoses and topics in chapters with each chapter containing clinically relevant bullet points and or salient features that receiving providers who are generally adult trained should keep in mind when continuing mental health treatment from the child and adolescent system Chapters will cover a wide range of challenges that are unique to transition age youths including their unique developmental needs anxiety mood and personality disorders at the interface of this development trauma and adjustment disorders special populations and a wide range of other topics Each chapter will begin with a clinical pearl about each topic before delving into the specifics

emphasis on hospitalization and chemical treatment has led to a gradual shift towards community care in Western Europe and a reassessment of our attitudes towards mental distress Italy has been the trailblazer in the radical reforms

Conditions A Case Based Guide to Best Practices delivers essential information for psychiatrists psychologists and other mental health professionals who work with children adolescents and their families before during and after the transition to college Tasman's Psychiatry Allan Tasman, Michelle B. Riba, Renato D. Alarcón, César A. Alfonso, Shigenobu Kanba, Dusica Lecic-Tosevski, David M. Ndeti, Chee H. Ng, Thomas G. Schulze, 2024-09-04 Authored by over 500 internationally acclaimed expert editors and chapter authors from around the world Completely updated and expanded with almost 40 new chapters Significantly increased attention to the role of culture in all aspects of evaluation and care New sections on Digital Mental Health Services and Technologies Treatment Issues in Specific Populations and Settings and on Prevention Systems of Care and Psychosocial Aspects of Treatment address key advances This edition is the first comprehensive reference work to cover the entire field of psychiatry in an updateable format ensuring access to state of the art information Earlier editions were called the best current textbook of psychiatry by the New England Journal of Medicine and the gold standard by the American Journal of Psychiatry Tasman's Psychiatry 5th Edition builds on the initial vision in prior editions of approaching psychiatric evaluation and care from an integrative bio psycho social cultural perspective It is designed to be an essential and accessible reference for readers at any level of experience This editorial approach encompasses the importance of the first encounter between patient and clinician followed by the complex task of beginning to develop a therapeutic relationship and to develop and implement a treatment plan in collaboration with the patient The importance of increasing attention to the role of culture and social determinants of mental health is reflected both in specific chapters and in components of many chapters throughout the book especially in those pertaining to clinical evaluation the therapeutic alliance and treatment The global scope of this edition is reflected throughout the book including the section on psychiatric disorders where evaluation using both ICD 11 and DSM 5 TR is discussed Most chapters are authored by experts from at least two different countries or continents adding a critically important dimension which often is missing in major psychiatric textbooks Tasman's Psychiatry 5th Edition is an essential reference for all medical professionals and students who need a trusted reference or learning tool for psychiatry psychology clinical research social work counseling therapy and all others Prevention in Mental Health Marco Colizzi, Mirella Ruggeri, 2022-05-19 The book brings together into a single text the interrelated but different research efforts to translate the current evidence on risk and outcome of severe mental disorders into a preventive perspective The book also introduces a holistic approach to prevention in mental health by combining biological psychological and environmental evidence that attempts to blunt the risk and reduce the number of individuals with mental health vulnerabilities who eventually progress to the manifestation of a severe mental disorder Finally the book wants also to highlight the possibility to overcome the single disorder oriented preventive approach in an attempt to intercept a wider at risk youth population and explore clinical research areas underperformed where future efforts will have to concentrate Mental health problems have their peak of incidence during the transition from childhood to young adulthood interesting up to 20% adolescents Half of those eventually developing such difficulties experience clinically relevant mental distress by the age of 14 Even more importantly the symptomatic onset is generally anticipated by non specific warning signs of psychosocial impairment potentially evolving in any severe mental disorder This is of crucial importance as almost one in two health problems contributing to the global disease burden across the 0-25 age span is a mental disorder The search for preventive strategies among youth has developed over the past 2-3 decades invigorated by a rethinking of mental disorders ineluctable prodromal phase into a period where the trajectory of illness can be slowed down blunted or even halted The paradigms for implementing preventing approaches in mental health have often developed independent of each other This book aims at summarizing the available evidence and make a step towards a more mature vision of the potentialities of promotion and prevention in mental health

05 - PSYCHIATRY IN TRANSITION: EXEMPLAR CASE STUDIES FROM ITALY AND BULGARIA Silvana Galderisi, 2017 Background and Aims After suffering the long term consequences of institutionalized care of the asylum psychiatry and following the introduction of modern treatment and rehabilitation technologies in the second half of the XX century there were attempts for reforming psychiatric systems by introducing of new complex and more humane forms of mental health care delivery This report will explore the comparative experiences from periods of transition in two South European countries and will draw perspectives on the possible improvement of the psychiatric services Methods Methods of historical reconstruction and public health analysis were employed Results The reform of mental health care in Italy started with the Mental Health Care Act in 1978 and triggered a 25 years of period in transition from hospital based to community based mental health care It has been subjected to controversial commentaries due to concerns about the overall social and public health impact Attempts for reform in Bulgarian psychiatry started in 1996-2002 with political declarations for de institutionalization In result however it achieved a reduction of hospital beds without establishing any effective alternative model of community system No separate Mental Health Care Act has been introduced on the legislative level As a consequence psychiatry in Bulgaria has been heavily marginalized from the health and social care systems and lacks adequate human and funding resources Conclusions The described models of transition suffer from different shortcomings New model for reform in psychiatric care is called for in countries from South European region
