

Ockham's Razor

Why did the tree fall down?

"I agree."

"It was the wind. It is the simpler explanation."

Two Explanations

1. The wind knocked down the tree.
2. Two meteorites. One hit the tree and knocked it down. Then it hit the other meteorite, thus obliterating evidence of its existence.

When there are two explanations, choose the simpler one

Evolution and Transitions in Complexity Gerard A.J.M Jagers op Akkerhuis, 2016-10-18 This book discusses several recent theoretic advancements in interdisciplinary and transdisciplinary integration in the field of evolution While exploring novel views the text maintains a close link with one of the most broadly held views on evolution namely that of Darwinian evolution This work puts forth a new point of view which allows researchers to define in detail the concept of evolution To create this conceptual definition the text applies a stringent object based focus With this focus the editor has been able to develop an object based pattern of evolution at the smallest scale Subsequently this smallest scale pattern is used as an innovative basis for generalizations These generalizations create links between biological Darwinism and generalized Darwinism The object based approach that was used to suggest innovations in the field of Darwinian evolution also allowed for contributions to other topics such as major evolutionary transitions theory the definition of life and the relationships between evolution self organization and thermodynamics Together the chapters of this book and the multidisciplinary reflections and comments of various specialists on these chapters offer an exciting palette of innovative ideas
