Transnational Perspectives on Curriculum History Gary McCulloch, Ivor Goodson, Mariano González-Delgado, 2019-11-22
This book offers a remarkable range of research that emphasises the need to analyse the shaping of curricula under historical social and political variables Teachers life stories the Cold War as a contextual element that framed curricular transformations in the US and Europe and the study of trends in education policy at transnational level are issues addressed throughout The book presents new lines of work offering multidisciplinary perspectives and provides an overview of how to move forwards The book brings together the work of international specialists on Curriculum History and presents research that offers new perspectives and methodologies from which to approach the study of the History of Education and Educational Policy It offers new debates which rethink the historical study of the curriculum and offers a strong interdisciplinary approach with contributions across Education History and the Social Sciences This book will be of great interest for academics and researchers in the fields of education and curriculum studies It will also appeal to educational professionals teachers and policy makers Music Education at the Edge Samuel Leong, Glenn Nierman, 1999

Disability in the Global Sport Arena Jill M. Le Clair, 2013-09-13 Sport is often at the centre of battles for rights to inclusion linked to class race and gender and this book explores struggles centred on disability in different cultural settings in Europe North America Africa Asia and Oceania It challenges oversights and assumptions about the normal body and describes how individual and organizational transformations can occur through sport The abilities of a person are recognised and placed centre stage instead of the individual being forgotten excluded or placed at the margins simply because they have a disability National regional and global change is part of the shift to the rights based approach reflected in the 2006 UN Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities Making sport inclusive affects the accessibility of facilities funding the media policies programs organisations sponsors and spectators and at the same time changes the cultural values of the wider society It also raises issues about competition access and eligibility for different and technologically enhanced cyborg bodies and for those most socially disadvantaged Addressing these questions which ultimately touch on the real meaning of sport can lead to profound changes in people s attitudes and how sport is organized locally and globally Growth in the influential global organisations of the Paralympic Games Special Olympics and Deaflympics is examined as is the approach to disability in sport in both advantaged and resource poor countries The embodied lives of persons with disabilities are explored utilizing new theoretical models perspectives and approaches This book was previously published as a special issue of Sport in Society
