Cti Higher Edn Cengage Learning Australia, Thomson Course Technology, 2001-12. Books in Print Supplement, 2002. Microsoft Office 2000 Development Microsoft Corporation, 1999. This Microsoft Mastering learning system provides practical, hands-on instruction for creating custom solutions with the integrated programming tools and services in Microsoft Office 2000, including the Visual Basic for Applications (VBA) development system. Students get the training they need, how and when they need it, through a combination of text-based and interactive lessons, narrated demonstrations, and hands-on labs. The instructional modules step learners through essential topics such as using the Visual Basic Editor, forms and controls, object models for individual applications, shared object models, data access, and web components. Lab exercises reinforce the concepts presented in each learning unit and provide hands-on experience with development tasks. By the end of the course, students have developed a custom solution that integrates components of the Office 2000 suite.
