Production And Comprehension Of Utterances:

Production and Comprehension of Utterances (RLE Linguistics B: Grammar) I.M. Schlesinger,2014-01-10 In this volume the author reviews the results of research on language performance and proposes a model of production and comprehension Although recent developments in linguistics are taken into account consideration of other requirements of a performance model leads to the conclusion that the grammar the speaker has in mind differs from the grammar as currently conceived of by most linguists The author is also critical of recent computer simulations of language performance on the basis that they fall short of describing what goes on in human production and comprehension The author therefore proposes that the basic issues must be rethought and new theoretical foundations reformulated in order to arrive at a viable theory of language functioning In developing the framework of the model presented in this book requirements of flexibility in the performance mechanisms the probabilistic nature of comprehension processes and the interleaving of linguistic rules with context and knowledge of the world are emphasized Production and Comprehension of Utterances I. M.

Schlesinger,1977-01-01 A Comprehensive Reference Dictionary of Linguistics, A-D Huseynaga Rzayev,2019-09-10 This exhaustive linguistic dictionary has been designed both for classroom use and for English language professionals It provides a unique and effective learning source which mirrors the continual spring of linguistic knowledge It suggests a comprehensive insightful analysis of the highly controversial and complicated issues of present day linguistics This dictionary provides a pedagogical tool for those teaching various aspects of language to both upper level undergraduates and graduate level researchers and exploits the benefits of Turkish Azerbaijani and Russian language scholarship in this field

Language and Language Acquisition F. Lowenthal,2012-12-06 F LOWENTHAL University of Mons Mons Belgium In September 1980 researchers from many different countries and working in disciplines as varied as philosophy psychology neurology mathematics education linguistics sociology and others we forget to mention again met in Mons to discuss problems concerning Language and Language Acquisition Conflicting opinions among researchers not only from different disciplines but also within a same discipline led to many a lively discussion This book attempts to recreate the atmosphere of the conference by reproducing the different papers some of which were rewritten after the initial presentation and discussion session and by giving a summary of each discussion session to enable the reader to understand how each participant reacted Obviously we accept full responsibility for these summaries we hope we have understood correctly what each participant meant This also holds for the special session devoted to an attempt to define the concept of language We suggest that further meetings should study language and context simultaneously within the framework of a CONTEXTUAL LINGUISTICS

Neurocognitive Foundations of Mind Gualtiero Piccinini,2025-09-18 This volume provides a cohesive and comprehensive case that cognitive neuroscience is maturing into an integrated interdisciplinary science that is transforming our understanding of the mind The rise of cognitive neuroscience has prompted a rethinking of levels computation representation psychological explanation and the relation between psychology and neuroscience Despite these advances many philosophers and scientists of the mind continue to write as though cognitive neuroscience didn't exist and psychology remains autonomous from neuroscience or perhaps they maintain that cognitive neuroscience has not deepened our understanding of the mind The chapters in this volume showcase important ways in which cognitive neuroscience makes a profound difference to our understanding of the mind The contributors address a wide range of topics including explanation computation representation inference emotion language intention and thought Together they demonstrate the ways in which cognitive neuroscience supersedes traditional cognitive science and supports a unified integrated multilevel mechanistic neurocomputational account of the mind Neurocognitive Foundations of Mind is essential reading for scholars and advanced students interested in the foundations of the philosophy of mind and the mind sciences

Understanding Dialogue Martin J. Pickering, Simon Garrod, 2021-01-07 Linguistic interaction between two people is the fundamental form of communication yet almost all research in language use focuses on isolated speakers and listeners In this innovative work Garrod and Pickering extend the scope of psycholinguistics beyond individuals by introducing communication as a social activity Drawing on psychological linguistic philosophical and sociological research they expand their theory that alignment across individuals is the basis of communication through the model of a shared workspace account In this workspace interlocutors are actors who jointly manipulate and control the interaction and develop similar representations of both language and social context in order to achieve communicative success The book also explores dialogue within groups technologies as well as the role of culture more generally Providing a new understanding of cognitive representation this trailblazing work will be highly influential in the fields of linguistics psychology and cognitive linguistics

Turn-taking in human communicative interaction Judith Holler, Robin H. Kendrick, Marisa Casillas, 2016-05-09 The core use of language is in face to face conversation This is characterized by rapid turn taking This turn taking poses a number of central puzzles for the psychology of language Consider for example that in large corpora the gap between turns is on the order of 100 to 300 ms but the latencies involved in language production require minimally between 600 ms for a single word or 1500 ms for a simple sentence This implies that participants in conversation are predicting the ends of the incoming turn and preparing in advance But how is this done What aspects of this prediction are done when What happens when the prediction is wrong What stops participants coming in too early If the system is running on prediction why is there consistently a mode of 100 to 300 ms in response time The timing puzzle raises further puzzles it seems that comprehension must run parallel with the preparation for production but it has been presumed that there are strict cognitive limitations on more than one central process running at a time How is this bottleneck overcome Far from being easy as some psychologists have suggested conversation may be one of the most demanding cognitive tasks in our everyday lives Further questions naturally arise how do children learn to master this demanding task and what is the developmental trajectory in this domain Research shows that aspects of turn taking such as its timing are remarkably stable across languages and cultures but the word order of languages varies enormously How then does prediction of the incoming turn work when the verb often the informational nugget in a clause is at the end Conversely how can production work fast enough in languages that have the verb at the beginning thereby requiring early planning of the whole clause What happens when one changes modality as in sign languages with the loss of channel constraints is turn taking much freer And what about face to face communication amongst hearing individuals do gestures gaze and other body behaviors facilitate turn taking One can also ask the phylogenetic question how did such a system evolve There seem to be parallels analogies in duetting bird species and in a variety of monkey species but there is little evidence of anything like this among the great apes All this constitutes a neglected set of problems at the heart of the psychology of language and of the language sciences This Research Topic contributes to advancing our understanding of these problems by summarizing recent work from psycholinguists developmental psychologists students of dialog and conversation analysis linguists phoneticians and comparative ethologists
