Training

Providing the proper skills to build relationships that lead to repeat business and revenue growth.

What's the key to inside selling success? Organizations may be willing to invest in technology, recruiting, and training, but many do not provide the tools and support to use the inside sales team effectively. Selling on the phone — and online — requires specialized skills.

Inside salespeople can no longer spend their time making hit or miss calls, moving from short-term transaction to short-term transaction. They need the talk time and proper skills to build relationships that lead to repeat business and predictable long-term revenue growth.

Professional Skills for Inside Selling™ is a two-day program for inside sales professionals. It provides a set of selling skills to lead sales conversations with potential and existing customers — even with customers who are initially indifferent or express concerns. The program prepares participants to build mutually beneficial long-term customer relationships that lead to repeat business and long-term revenue growth. Participants learn the skills needed during telephone sales conversations to engage customers and help them make buying decisions that contribute to success — for both the customer and the salesperson.

Professional Skills for Inside Selling™ is specifically designed for salespeople whose primary responsibility is making outbound calls to existing and potential customers. The target audience also includes business development representatives, account managers, sales managers, and supervisors who use "virtual selling skills" in working with their customers.
