Governments And Mining Companies In Developing Countries James H. Cobbe, 2019-03-13 This book examines the relationship between the governments of less developed countries LDCs and foreign owned firms engaged in the extraction of minerals for export With an approach that synthesizes economic theory technical considerations and political factors Cobbe provides a fresh look at the policy aspects of the resource bargaining process

Financing Mining Projects in Developing Countries Marian Radetzki, Stephen Zorn, 1979

Mining Ventures in Developing Countries G. Jaenicke, 1979-04-30

Sustainable Minerals Operations in the Developing World Geological Society of London, 2005 The sustainable development of minerals which are non renewable resources is a major challenge in today's world In this regard the true definition of sustainability is a debating point in itself can such a concept exist with respect to non renewable resources Perhaps the ideal sustainability model is one that minimizes negative environmental impact and maximizes benefits to society the economy and regional national development Developed and near developed economies rely for commodity supplies on developing countries where major mining operations are often a mainstay of the domestic economy Limited environmental regulation and low wages lead to charges of exploitation Also large numbers of people have no alternative to living by informal often dangerous artisanal mining This Special Publication gives examples from developing countries from all scales of mineral extraction The volume reviews environmental economic health and social problems and highlights the need to solve these before sustainability can be achieved The better solutions require mutual understanding through full involvement of all stakeholders education training and investment so that small scale and artisanal mines can grow into well managed operations At larger scales most major international mining companies have now improved their practices and are monitoring their progress although there is no room for complacency in this rapidly changing area

Women Miners in Developing Countries Martha

Macintyre,2017-05-15 Contrary to their masculine portrayal mines have always employed women in valuable and productive roles Yet pit life continues to be represented as a masculine world of work legitimizing men as the only mineworkers and large mechanized and capitalized operations as the only form of mining Bringing together a range of case studies of women miners from past and present in Asia the Pacific region Latin America and Africa this book makes visible the roles and contributions of women as miners It also highlights the importance of engendering small and informal mining in the developing world as compared to the early European and American mines The book shows that women are engaged in various kinds of mining and illustrates how gender and inequality are constructed and sustained in the mines and also how ethnic identities intersect with those gendered identities

Mining in Africa Bonnie Campbell,2009-06-15 The continent of Africa is rich in minerals needed by Western economies but rather than forming the basis for economic growth the mining industry contributes very little to African development Investigating the impact of the 2003 Extractive Industries Review on a number of African countries the contributors find the root of the problem in the controls imposed on the African countries by the IMF and World Bank They aim to convince academics governments and industry that regulation needs to be reformed to create a mining industry favourable towards social economic and environmental development The book takes a multidisciplinary approach and provides a historical perspective of each country making it ideal for students of development studies and development organizations

Development and Investment in Infrastructure in Developing Countries: A 10-Year Reflection Innocent Musonda,Erastus Mwanaumo,Adetayo Onososen,Retsepile Kalaoane,2024-12-20 Development and Investment in Infrastructure in Developing Countries A 10 Year Reflection includes the contributions to the 10th International Conference on Development and Investment In infrastructure DII 2024 Livingstone Zambia 24 26 July 2024 The papers discuss evaluate and devise ways of maximising the benefits of infrastructure development and achieve outputs that will inform policy and wider development goals This Open Access book is invaluable to leaders researchers practitioners and stakeholders involved or interested in infrastructure development in developing countries

Corporate Social Responsibility in Developing Countries Steven Kayambazinthu Msosa,Shame Mugova,Courage Mlambo,2023-06-20 This book examines corporate social responsibility theories and models in the context of developing countries The developing countries are amongst the poorest countries of the world despite vast natural resources The natural resources are mismanaged proceeds are misappropriated corruption and conflict are centered on resource control Governments and Multinational Corporations MNCs are at the centre of the controversy of corporate social responsibility CSR in the affected countries Moreover the lack of systems procedures and legislation to enforce CSR has led to environmental degradation and a decline in business ethics and morality This book analyses Corporate Social Responsibility in developing countries with specific reference to the extractive industry by integrating academic and industrial perspectives It will be of interest to researchers in the field of CSR as well as for management professionals
