New Developments And New Applications In Animal Cell Technology:

New Developments and New Applications in Animal Cell Technology Otto-Wilhelm Merten, Pierre Perrin, Bryan Griffiths, 2007-05-08 Animal cell technology is becoming an increasingly important part of biotechnology and many products are now used in human health care and for veterinary applications However there are many times more products actually in the developmental pipelines of the biotechnology industry including various phases of clinical trials The Proceedings of the 15th Meeting of the European Society for Animal Cell Technology Tours France September 1997 presents the actual current state as well as New Developments and Applications in Animal Cell Technology for the benefit of society These Proceedings represent both the current state and applications of animal cell technology and the way the technology is expanding into new areas to give a unique insight into new products and applications for human and animal health care Animal Cell Technology, 1997 Cell Culture Technology for Pharmaceutical and Cell-Based Therapies Sadettin Ozturk, Wei-Shou Hu, 2005-08-30 Edited by two of the most distinguished pioneers in genetic manipulation and bioprocess technology this bestselling reference presents a comprehensive overview of current cell culture technology used in the pharmaceutical industry Contributions from several leading researchers showcase the importance of gene discovery and genomic technology devel Handbook of Industrial Cell Culture Victor A. Vinci, Sarad R. Parekh, 2002-12-06 A diverse team of researchers technologists and engineers describe in simple and practical language the major current and evolving technologies for improving the biocatalytic capabilities of mammalian microbial and plant cells The authors present state of the art techniques proven methods and strategies for industrial screening cultivation and scale up of these cells and describe their biotech and industrial uses Special emphasis is given to the solving critical issues encountered during the discovery of new drugs process development and the manufacture of new and existing compounds Other topics include recombinant protein expression bioinformatics high throughput screening analytical tools in biotechnology DNA shuffling and genomics discovery Monoclonal Antibodies, 2000-05-04 Monoclonal Antibodies A Practical Approach covers the preparation testing derivation and applications of monoclonal antibodies New immunological techniques incorporating tried and tested methodologies are described making the book of interest to established and inexperienced immunologists Cell and Tissue Reaction Engineering Regine Eibl, Dieter Eibl, Ralf Pörtner, Gerardo Catapano, Peter Czermak, 2008-09-30 The completion of the Human Genome Project and the rapid progress in cell biology and biochemical engineering are major forces driving the steady increase of approved biotech products especially biopharmaceuticals in the market Today mammalian cell products products from cells primarily monoclonals cytokines recombinant glycoproteins and increasingly vaccines dominate the biopharmaceutical industry Moreover a small number of products consisting of in vitro cultivated cells cells as product for regenerative medicine have also been introduced in the market Their efficient production requires comprehensive knowledge of biological as well as biochemical mammalian cell culture fundamentals e g cell characteristics and metabolism cell line establishment culture medium optimization and related engineering principles e.g. bioreactor design process scale up and optimization In addition new developments focusing on cell line development animal free culture media disposables and the implications of changing processes multi purpose facilities have to be taken into account While a number of excellent books treating the basic methods and applications of mammalian cell culture technology have been published only little attention has been afforded to their engineering aspects The aim of this book is to make a contribution to closing this gap it particularly focuses on the interactions between biological and biochemical and engineering principles in processes derived from cell cultures It is not intended to give a comprehensive overview of the literature This has been done extensively elsewhere

Inactivated Influenza Vaccines Prepared in Cell Culture Fred Brown,1999 Influenza vaccines have been produced in embryonated hens eggs for over 50 years but recently there has been considerable effort to develop cell culture systems for vaccine production This publication reports on a two day meeting held at the National Institute for Biological Standards and Control Scientists from many countries involved in the surveillance of influenza viruses and in the manufacture and control of influenza vaccines present their latest findings regarding this new vaccine development The feasibility and practical advantages of producing a cell culture derived vaccine are clearly demonstrated as are the promising results from the initial clinical trials The main focus of these studies is to make recommendations for future action which should form the basis for collaborative studies and further activities by WHO and regulatory agencies to ensure that cell culture derived influenza vaccines are at least equivalent to conventional egg derived vaccines in terms of safety and effectiveness

Cell and Tissue Culture for Medical Research Alan Doyle,J. Bryan Griffiths,2000-08-22 Cell and tissue culture is a technique in which plant or animal cells are grown under controlled conditions in the laboratory This is then used for the analysis of the cells themselves the assessment of the cell's response to chemicals or as a tool to produce cellular derived protein products This book is a collection of fundamental and specific applied procedures in cell and tissue culture which form the basis of the new medical techniques of tissue engineering and gene therapy It combines both detailed laboratory procedures and informative overviews Provides step by step protocols with troubleshooting tips and notes on time considerations Main procedures are supplemented by alternative procedures background information and references Experimental examples indicate expected results

Encyclopedia of Bioprocess Technology Michael C. Flickinger,Stephen W. Drew,1999 Animal Sera, Animal Sera Derivatives, and Substitutes Used in the Manufacture of Pharmaceuticals Fred Brown,1999 This publication provides an up to the minute account of current practices and policies concerning the use of animal derived products in the manufacture of biopharmaceuticals For the first time different views and concerns of pharmaceutical industries academic experts suppliers of serum and other animal products and the relevant regulatory agencies are described in one single volume It mainly focuses on current perceptions of the risks posed by contamination of biopharmaceuticals with viruses or other infectious agents from animals and how these risks can be managed Issues covered include all aspects of the supply chain from animal management through sourcing collection and processing of animal products to the latest technology for the detection and inactivation of contaminating agents Approaches to the elimination of animal products from the manufacturing process are also examined This book succeeds in clarifying many of the technical and regulatory questions surrounding the use of animal products Professionals concerned with sourcing raw materials process development quality assurance and control and regulatory affairs will find it a valuable reference and a great help in dealing with the special challenges posed by these materials Forthcoming Books
