Methods Of Protein Microcharacterization A Practical Handbook:

Methods of Protein Microcharacterization John E. Shively, 2008-02-22 Milestones in the techniques and methodology of polypeptide structure determination include the determination of the sequence of insulin by Sanger in 1951 1 and the introduction of the repetitive degradation of proteins with phenylisothiocyanate by Edman in 1959 2 The automation of Edman chemistry 3 played a major role in the determination of polypeptide structures Important modifications of Edman chemistry include the solid phase approach by Laursen in 1971 4 and the use of modified Edman reagents such as 4 N N dimethylaminoazobenzene 4 isothiocyanate DABITC for manual sequencing by Chang et al 5 in 1976 A second major breakthrough in the analysis of polypeptides was automated amino acid analysis described by Spackman et al in 1958 6 However during the period from 1975 to 1980 it became increasingly clear that the amount of material required for structural analysis was more than could be easily isolated for the vast majority of proteins The field was criticized for its lack of sensitive techniques for the analysis of growth factors immune modulators membrane receptors and peptide hormones In addition very little had been done to modernize and improve the original instruments introduced in the mid 1960s The first indications of improved instrumentation for Edman chemistry came from Wittmann Liebold's laboratory 7 followed by the introduction of a micro sequencer by Hunkapiller and Hood in 1978 8 The movement toward improved instrumentation culminated in the gas Phase sequencer of Hewick et al 9 in 1981
