Theatre Censorship David Thomas,David Carlton,Anne Etienne,2007-11-01 Using previously unpublished material from the National Archives David Thomas David Carlton and Anne Etienne provide a new perspective on British cultural history Statutory censorship was first introduced in Britain by Sir Robert Walpole with his Licensing Act of 1737 Previously theatre censorship was exercised under the Royal Prerogative By giving the Lord Chamberlain statutory powers of theatre censorship Walpole ensured that confusion over the relationship between the Royal Prerogative and statute law would prevent any serious challenge to theatre censorship in Parliament until the twentieth century The authors place theatre censorship legislation and its attempted reform in their wider political context Sections outlining the political history of key periods explain why theatre censorship legislation was introduced in 1737 why attempts to reform the legislation failed in 1832 1909 and 1949 and finally succeeded in 1968 Opposition from Edward VII helped to prevent the abolition of theatre censorship in 1909 In 1968 theatre censorship was abolished despite opposition from Elizabeth II Lord Cobbold her Lord Chamberlain and Harold

Wilson her Prime Minister There was strong support for theatre censorship on the part of commercial theatre managers who saw censorship as offering protection from vexatious prosecution A policy of inertia and deliberate obfuscation on the part of Home Office officials helped to prevent the abolition of theatre censorship legislation until 1968 It was only when playwrights directors critics audiences and politicians notably Roy Jenkins applied combined pressure that theatre censorship was finally abolished The volume concludes by exploring whether new forms of covert censorship have replaced the statutory theatre censorship abolished with the 1968 Theatres Act Catalogue of a collection of privately printed books Bertram Dobell,1891 The Law of the Amateur Stage Dudley Stuart Page,1929 The Social Value of New Technology Albert N. Link,John T. Scott, New technologies with their practical contributions provide social value The chapters in this volume view this social value from a program evaluation perspective and the focus of the evaluations is the generation of new technology funded by public sector agencies The authors provide important background on methodology and application and show that it is relevant not only to the established scholars and practitioners but also to students The Players at Court,1564-1642 Alwin Thaler,1920 The Twentieth Century ,1925 Amateur Theatricals Brooklyn Public Library,1917 Collection of Plays Ca. 1870-1914 ,1898 Church Music Review and Official Bulletin of the American Guild of Organists ,1904 The Life of George Frederick Handel William Smyth Rockstro,1883 The Life of Goethe: 1815-1832.
