Raubir En Trading:

Trade and Contemporary Society along the Silk Road Jacqueline H. Fewkes, 2008-10-27 This book provides an ethno historical study of the trade system in Ladakh India a busy entrep t for Silk Route trade between Central and South Asia Previously a part of global networks Ladakh became an isolated border area as national boundaries were defined and enforced in the mid 20th century As trade with Central Asia ended social life in Ladakh was irrevocably altered The author s research combines anthropological historical and archaeological methods of investigation using data from primary documents ethnographic interviews and participation observation fieldwork The result is a cultural history of South and Central Asia detailing the social lives of historical Ladakhi traders and identifying their community as a cosmopolitan social group The relationship between the historical narratives and the modern ethnographic context illustrates how social issues in modern communities are related to those of the past It is demonstrated that this relationship depends on both memories narratives about the past constructed within present social contexts and legacies ways in which the past continues to shape present social interactions This book will be of particular interest to anthropologists historians and specialists in South and Central Asian studies as well as those interested in historical archaeology science sociology political science and economics
