Re-Shaping Learning: A Critical Reader Anne Boddington, Jos Boys, 2012-01-01 Learning Spaces is an emerging field fuelled by a growing interest in the relationships between learning and spaces in which it takes place whether conceptual personal social physical and or virtual It is concerned with making learning spaces that can better meet the needs of 21st century learners academics and other related publics In post compulsory education this has opened up many interesting and important issues There remains a lack of any theoretical understanding as to how such spaces should be conceived or designed and hardly any critical discussion about effective frameworks for either the development of contemporary learning spaces or for assessing their impact on learning teaching and research At the same time there is much debate about what the purposes of post compulsory education should be as well as concerns about where and by whom it should be provided We therefore need to urgently improve our understanding of the interactions between learning and space It is essential that we not only share perspectives theories and methodologies but also critically reflect on our own different assumptions and work together to build better models for post compulsory education in the future To help in this process this book is designed as a critical reader that can enable researchers academics students and managers involved in Learning Spaces to share and engage with some key ideas issues and texts A central aim is to bring together some of the best research from across the many different disciplines concerned with learning spaces including education architecture anthropology human computer interaction estate planning and museum studies Reshaping Learning is thus intended for anyone interested in and wanting to think more about learning spaces whether as users clients or managers or who are want to better understand interactions between the social and the spatial

Systems Thinking in Museums Yuha Jung,Ann Rowson Love,2017-10-06 Systems Thinking in Museums explores systems thinking and the practical implication of it using real life museum examples to illuminate various entry points and stages of implementation and their challenges and opportunities Its premise is that museums can be better off when they operate as open dynamic and learning systems as a whole as opposed to closed stagnant and status quo systems that are compartmentalized and hierarchical This book also suggests ways to incorporate systems thinking based on reflective questions and steps with hopes to encourage museum professionals to employ systems thinking in their own museum Few books explore theory in practice in meaningful and applicable ways this book offers to unravel complex theories as applied in everyday practice through examples from national and international museums

Place-Based Spaces for Networked Learning Lucila Carvalho,Peter Goodyear,Maarten de Laat,2016-07-01 With the boundaries of place softened and extended by digital communications technologies learning in a networked society necessitates new distributions of activity across time space media and people and this development is no longer exclusive to formally designated spaces such as school classrooms lecture halls or research laboratories Place based Spaces for Networked Learning explores how qualities of physical places make both formal and informal education in a networked society possible Through a series of investigations and case studies it illuminates the structural composition and functioning of complex learning environments This book offers a wealth of key design elements and attributes for productive learning that educational designers can reuse in multiple contexts The chapters examine how places are modified expanded or supplemented by networking technologies and practices in order to create spaces in which learners can collaboratively develop new understandings connections and capabilities Utilizing a range of diverse but complementary perspectives from anthropology archaeology architecture geography psychology sociology and urban studies Place based Spaces for Networked Learning addresses how material places and digital spaces are understood how sense can be made of new assemblages and configurations of tasks tools and people how the real time analysis of new flows of data can inform and entertain users of a space and how access to the digital realm changes our experiences with both places and other people

From Periphery to Center Pat Villeneuve,2007 This book examines museum education from the perspective of 33 authors from the field resulting in a collective vision elevating the function of education within museums A variety of perspectives offered throughout the collection of essays push further thinking and encourage robust debate Both museum practitioners and university level students will find the contents of this book useful as it delves into theory but it also informs on exemplary models of practice Museum education has developed much over the past 20 years yet there remains an opportunity to advance its position within art museums with effective practice and the creation of successful programs Museums and Communities Ivan Karp,Christine Mullen Kreamer,Steven Lavine,1992 Papers presented at a conference at the Smithsonian Institution International Center March 21 23 1990 Sámi Artistry, Identity, and Indigenism in Museums and Markets Zoë-hateehc Durrah Scheffy,2004 The Moving Image ,2001 Museum Practice ,2006 The Future Digital Heritage Space Guntram Geser,John Pereira,2004 Air & Space Smithsonian ,1997 Abstracts College Art Association of America.
