North Korea's Weapons Programmes A Net Assessment:

North Korea's Weapons Programmes International Institute for Strategic Studies, 2004-03-18 The current crisis over North Korea's nuclear program poses the greatest immediate threat to East Asian security and one of the most serious long term challenges to the viability of the international non proliferation regime A number of different policy options have been advanced to deal with this issue including preemptive military attacks diplomacy containment sanctions and regime change North Korea's Weapons Programmes provides a balanced and objective assessment of North Korea's nuclear biological chemical and ballistic missile programs The dossier provides an historical review of North Korean programs in each area an assessment of current capabilities and an evaluation of different scenarios for future developments emphasizing the inherent uncertainties in trying to evaluate North Korea's capabilities In addition to chapters on North Korea's nuclear chemical and biological weapons and ballistic missile programs the dossier includes chapters on the history of efforts to negotiate limits on North Korea's military capabilities and on the conventional military balance on the Korean peninsula Importantly the IISS does not advocate any particular policy option in dealing with North Korea The objective is to assess as accurately and dispassionately as possible North Korea's current military capabilities in order to foster a well informed public debate

Iran's Strategic Weapons Programmes Gary Samore, 2013-08-06 The possibility that Iran will acquire a nuclear weapons capability poses a significant threat to the stability of the Middle East and a potential challenge to the long term viability of the nuclear non proliferation regime Since 2003 diplomatic efforts by the EU 3 United Kingdom France and Germany have succeeded in suspending the sensitive aspects of Iran's nuclear programme but prospects for reaching a permanent agreement with the Iranian government are uncertain If the EU 3 effort collapses a number of policy options will be given more serious consideration including sanctions containment regime change and military action This IISS Strategic Dossier on Iran's strategic weapons programmes provides an objective technical assessment of Iran's nuclear chemical and biological weapons capabilities as well as its ballistic missile programme The dossier evaluates what is known and what is not known about these capabilities and projects potential future developments In addition the dossier provides a history of democratic efforts over the last three decades to prevent Iran from acquiring a nuclear weapons capability and examines different options for current diplomatic efforts Each chapter has been written and reviewed by recognised international experts in their respective fields The IISS does not advocate any particular policy option for dealing with the Iranian nuclear issue The objective of Iran's Strategic Weapons Programmes A Net Assessment is to assess as accurately and dispassionately as possible Iran's capabilities and evaluate the pros and cons of different policy options in the order to foster a well informed policy debate

Combating Weapons of Mass Destruction Nathan E. Busch, Daniel Joyner, 2009-01-01 The spread of weapons of mass destruction poses one of the greatest threats to international peace and security in modern times the specter of nuclear chemical and biological weapons looms over relations among many countries The September 11 tragedy and other terrorist attacks have been painful warnings about gaps in nonproliferation policies and regimes specifically with regard to nonstate actors In this volume experts in nonproliferation studies examine challenges faced by the international community and propose directions for national and international policy making and lawmaking The first group of essays outlines the primary threats posed by WMD proliferation and terrorism Essays in the second section analyze existing treaties and other normative regimes including the Nuclear Non Proliferation Treaty and the Chemical Weapons and Biological Weapons Conventions and recommend ways to address the challenges to their effectiveness Essays in part three examine the shift some states have made away from nonproliferation treaties and regimes toward more forceful and proactive policies of counterproliferation such as the Proliferation Security Initiative which coordinates efforts to search and seize suspect shipments of WMD related materials

East Asia Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Foreign Affairs Committee, 2006-08-13 East Asia is a dynamic region with half of the world s population the world s fastest growing economies and a wide spectrum of diverse cultures and political systems The region has huge economic potential but also has hundreds of millions of the world s poorest people as well as a number of significant security risks and unresolved disputes Despite significant economic reforms the People s Republic of China remains an authoritarian one party state with widespread human rights abuses and little sign of political liberalisation The Committee s report examines economic and political developments in China since its previous report on the topic HCP 574 I session 1999 2000 ISBN 010270600X was published in November 2000 Amongst the 58 conclusions and recommendations made the Committee finds that the growth of China s trade will continue to have an enormous impact on the world s economy and the UK Government should work bilaterally and with its EU partners to help ensure China meets its World Trade Organization obligations and to establish a legal framework to enforce intellectual property rights The report criticises the collaboration of Western internet companies in the Chinese Government s censorship and policing of the internet as morally unacceptable and calls on the UK Government to continue to promote religious freedom in the country and to press the Chinese Government to allow the Dalai Lama to return to Tibet in his capacity as spiritual leader

Crisis on the Korean Peninsula Christoph Bluth, 2011-07 U S policy toward North Korea has been politically controversial with some supporting engagement and negotiations and others calling for isolating the regime on the basis that it cannot be trusted Neither approach will work according to Bluth who explains that North Korea s foreign and security policy is the result of both internal and external threats to the survival of a regime that can no longer sustain itself The Changing Military Balance in the Koreas and Northeast Asia Anthony H. Cordesman, Aaron Lin, 2015-07-07 The tensions between the Koreas and the potential involvement of China Japan Russia and the United States in a Korean conflict create a nearly open ended spectrum of possible conflicts These conflicts could range from posturing and threats to a major conventional conflict on the Korean peninsula with intervention by outside powers to the extreme of nuclear conflict The Korean balance is also affected by the uncertain mix of cooperation and competition between the United States and China particularly with the U S pivot toward Asia and the steady modernization of Chinese forces This new volume up to date through Spring 2015 provides a detailed examination of the military forces in Northeast Asia North and South Korea China Russia Japan and the United States setting those forces in the larger geostrategic context The North Korean Nuclear Test and Its Implications Liu Lin, 2006 North Korea's Nuclear Issues , 2008 The Korean Journal of Security Affairs , 2008 IPRI Journal , 2006 Bioterrorism Andreas Wenger, Reto Wollenmann, 2007 Bioterrorism should appeal to a wide range of academics and practitioners around the world and it should be required reading in the Executive and Legislative branches of the US government Dean A Wilkening Stanford University Especially since the anthrax attacks of 2001 the issue of bioterrorism has been controversial Are governments underestimating the potential hazard of biological toxins as some claim or is the danger in fact exaggerated What are the policy options for dealing with such a complex threat The authors of this book offer a reasoned assessment of the issues at the core of the debates Identifying a high level of uncertainty as a key characteristic of the bioterrorism threat the authors examine the legacies of the secret state biowarfare programs of the previous century analyze academic and political controversies about current dangers and consider the impact of rapid scientific and technological change on the development of future threats In the process they provide new insight into the broader question of risk management and the role of public and private actors in international security relations Andreas Wenger is professor of international security policy and director of the Center for Security Studies at ETH Zurich the Swiss Federal Institute of Technology Reto Wollenmann is policy adviser on arms control and disarmament in the Directorate for Security Policy of the Federal Department of Defense Contents Foreword R Danzig Bioterrorism A Complex Threat the Editors Understanding the Threat Actors and Capabilities The Legacy of Secret State Programs J Guillemin Evolution of the Current Threat M Leitenberg The Impact of Scientific and Technological Change M Dando Assessing the Threat Differing Perceptions Knowledge Gaps and Threat Assessments P R Lavoy Why Do Conclusions From the Experts Vary M I Chevrier Managing the Threat Policy Options When to Cry Wolf What to Cry and How to Cry It A H Cordesman More Transparency for a Secure Biodefense I Hunger Conclusion Securing Society Against the Risk of Bioterrorism A Wenger North Korea Issues Larinda B.
