NATO Air Power in the 1980s Michael J. Gething, 1982 Air University Library Index to Military Periodicals, 1979 Air Power in the Age of Total War John Buckley, 2006-05-09 Warfare in the first half of the 20th century was fundamentally and irrevocably altered by the birth and subsequent development of air power This work assesses the role of air power in changing the face of battle on land and sea Utilizing late 1990s research the author demonstrates that the phenomenon of air power was both a cause and a crucial accelerating factor contributing to the theory and practice of total war For instance the expansion of warfare to the homefront was a direct result of bombing and indirectly due to the extent of national economic mobilization required to support first rate air power status In addition the move away from the principle of total war with the onset of the Cold War and the replacement of air power by ICBMs is thoroughly examined This work should provide students of international history war studies defence and strategic studies with an insight into 20th century warfare Deterrence in the 1980s: The role of conventional air power Anthony H. Smith, 1981 World Fighters, 1945-1985 Michael John Haddrick Taylor, 1984 NATO's Gamble Dag Henriksen, 2007 The author reveals that from the outset the military leaders set to execute the campaign had no clear strategic guidance on what the operation was to achieve and he further argues that the airpower community's general focus on high intensity wars hampered them from developing strategies to fit the political complexities of the Kosovo crisis BOOK JACKET Air Pictorial, 1983 The Rand McNally Encyclopedia of Military Aircraft, 1914-1980 Paolo Matricardi, 1981 Jane's Weapon Systems 1984-85 Ronald T. for Peace participation in NATO operations will have profound effects on combined doctrine training organizational structures exercises and employment of forces NATO s tactical doctrine revision process served the alliance well during the cold war But today the international environment has drastically changed Both the nature of the threat and the use of NATO airpower during conflict have changed The current doctrinal revision process has proved too slow and cumbersome to provide adequate direction for air strategists during ongoing operations There are many new doctrinal areas that must be thoroughly addressed so that NATO can chart a course for the future that in the end provides the best most effective mix of forces
