Napoleon Speaks:

Napoleon Speaks Albert H. Zolotkoff Carr, 1941 Napoleon at St. Helena Barry Edward O'Meara, Talks of Napoleon at St. Helena with General Baron Gourgaud Gaspard Baron Gourgaud, 1903 Memoirs of Napoleon Bonaparte Louis Antoine Fauvelet de Bourrienne, Ramsay Weston Phipps, 1889 Napoleon Theodore Ayrault Dodge, 1907

Napoleon Henry A. Adams, 1894 Napoleon; a History of the Art of War: From Lützen to Waterloo, with a detailed account of the Napoleonic wars Theodore Ayrault Dodge, 1907 Napoleon's Empire Ute Planert, 2016-01-26

The Napoleonic Empire played a crucial role in reshaping global landscapes and in realigning international power structures on a worldwide scale. When Napoleon died, the map of many areas had completely changed, making room for Russia's ascendancy and Britain's rise to world power.

Napoleon, 1901 Napoléon Emil Ludwig, 1926

Using his unique ability to analyze character so admirably, Ludwig has presented a biography of Napoleon I that concentrates less on the battles and more on the man, his inner history, intellect, self-confidence, energy, imaginative power, clarity of thought, and natural dignity. The timeline of this book is from Napoleon's birth in 1769 and to his death in 1821. Along his life's journey, he became a uniquely talented man, a great soldier, and a great leader. It covers his heights of power and success; men and country followed him unconditionally; great kingdoms fell before him, and he became emperor. It also includes his extraordinary failings: the damaging French invasion of Russia, abdication, exile, defeat at the Battle of Waterloo, island confinement, and his ultimate death.

Jerome Bonaparte: the Burlesque Napoleon Philip Walsingham Sergeant, 1906 Mysterious Minds Elise Nykänen, 2017-11-22

This study examines the narrative tools, techniques, and structures that Marja Liisa Vartio, a classic of Finnish post-war modernism, used in presenting fictional minds in her narrative prose. The study contributes to the academic discussion on formal and thematic conventions of modernism by addressing the ways in which fictional minds work in interaction and in relation to the enfolding fictional world. The epistemic problem of how accurately the world, the self, and the other can be known is approached by analyzing two co-operating ways of portraying fictional minds: both from external and internal perspectives. The external perspective relies on detachment and emotional restraint, dominating in Vartio's early novels Se on sitten kevät and Mies kuin mies, tyttö kuin tyttö. The internal perspective pertains to the mental processes of self-reflection, speculation, and excessive imagining that gain more importance in her later novels Kaikki naiset n. kevätunia, Tunteet, and Hänen olivat linnut. In the theoretical chapter of this study, fictional minds are discussed in the context of the acclaimed inward turn of modernist fiction by suggesting alternative methods for reading modernist minds as embodied emotional and social entities. In respect to fictional minds' interaction, this study elaborates on the ideas of mind-reading, intersubjectivity, and the social mind established within post-classical cognitive narratology. Furthermore, it employs possible world poetics when addressing the complexity, incompleteness, and inaccessibility of Vartio's epistemic worlds, including the characters' private worlds of knowledge, beliefs, emotions, hallucinations, and dreams. In regards to the emotional employment of fictional worlds this study also benefits from affective narratology as well as the plot theory being influenced by possible world semantics narrative dynamics and cognitive narratology As the five analysis chapters of this study show fictional minds in Vartio s fiction are not only introspective solipsist and streaming but also embodied and social entities In the readings of the primary texts the concept of embodiedness is used to examine the situated presence of an experiencing mind within the time and space of the storyworld Fictional minds inter actions are also demonstrated as evolving from local experientiality to long term calculations that turn emotional incidents into episodes and episodes into stories In Vartio s novels the emotional story structure of certain conventional story patterns such as the narratives of female development and the romance plot the sentimental novel and epistolary fiction are modified and causally altered in the portrayal of the embodied interactions between the self the other and the world The trajectories of female self discovery in Vartio s novels are analyzed through the emotional responses of characters their experiences of randomness their ways of counterfactualizing their traumatic past their procrastinatory or akratic reactions or indecisiveness The gradual move away from the percepts of the external world to the excessive imaginings and mis readings of other minds triggered by the interaction of worlds and minds challenges the contemporary and more recent accounts of modernism both in Finnish and international contexts
