

The image shows two model rockets in flight against a dark, twilight sky. The rocket on the left is larger and is in the middle of its launch, with a large, bright plume of white smoke and fire trailing behind it. The rocket on the right is smaller and is also launching, with a smaller plume of smoke and fire. The ground below is dark and appears to be a flat, open area. The overall scene is dramatic and captures the excitement of model rocketry.
