Making Faces Using Forensic And Archaeological Evidence:

Making Faces John Prag, Richard Neave, 1997 Applied also to modern criminal investigations facial reconstruction brings together the work of numerous specialists ranging from dentists to geneticists and from archaeologists to radiologists The important historical implications of their work are no more strongly demonstrated than in their confirmation that the body resting in Tomb II at Verginia was that of King Philip II the father of Alexander the Great when the face was reconstructed the eye injury received by Philip at Methone was unmistakable Making Faces takes the reader into byways of forensic study surgery and folklore and reveals how the art of facial reconstruction has opened up whole new vistas of the past

Computer-Graphic Facial Reconstruction John G. Clement, Murray K. Marks, 2005-07-02 This unique books looks at a cost efficient fast and accurate means of facial reconstruction from segmented decomposed or skeletal remains using computer graphic and computational means Computer Graphic Facial Reconstruction is designed as a valuable resource for those scientists designing new research projects and protocols as well as a practical handbook of methods and techniques for medico legal practitioners who actually identify the faceless victims of crime It looks at a variety of approaches artificial intelligence using neural networks case based reasoning Baysian belief systems along with a variety of imaging methods radiological CT MRI and the use of imaging devices The methods described in this book complement or may even replace the less reliable more traditional means of securing identification by presumptive means i e recognition of clothing personal effects and clay reconstruction Covers cutting edge technologies in the context of historical forensic reconstruction methods Features stellar authors from around the globe Bridges the areas of computer graphics animation and forensic anthropology

Images and Artefacts of the Ancient World Alan K. Bowman, Michael Brady, 2005-05-26 In this genuinely productive interdisciplinary dialogue engineering scientists archaeologists and historians discuss how recent exciting developments in imaging image analysis and image display diffusion can be applied to three dimensional objects of material culture from the classical world ranging from inscribed writing tablets to buildings and urban sites The fifteen papers explore the ways in which the scientific contributors and the historians are thinking about subjectivity of interpretation visual cognition and the need to improve the presentation of evidence so as to feed directly back into their own scientific thinking and to encourage genuine innovation in developing methods of image enhancement and the interpretation of objects Olfaction: An

Interdisciplinary Perspective from Philosophy to Life Sciences Nicola Di Stefano, Maria Teresa Russo, 2021-12-07 This book offers a broad and timely perspective on research on olfaction and its current technological challenges It specifically emphasizes the interdisciplinary context in which olfaction is investigated in contemporary research From aesthetics to sociology from bioengineering to anthropology the different chapters discuss a wide variety of issues arising from olfaction research and its application in different contexts By highlighting the overlaps between different areas of research the book fosters a better communication between disciplines and leads towards a better understanding of the role of olfaction in human perception and cognition This inspiring read is of interest to students researchers and practitioners in psychology philosophy bioengineering and cultural studies

The Eye and the Beholder Hannelore Hägele,2014-06-02 In The Eye and the Beholder the author singles out a topic already touched upon in her previous book Colour in Sculpture By raising the question of how significant the colouring of the eye is to figurative representations of the late medieval and early modern period Hannelore Hägele examines the different solutions open to the sculptor which vary depending on historical and cultural parameters The created eye must suit purpose and style She discusses a number of unusual aspects of this sculpted eyes in antiquity the art and craft of polychromy partial polychromy emotions and expressions the gaze and the glance from the sculpted eye to colour and the glass eye and what the eye cannot see Dr Hägele asks whether advances in optics and other sciences or theological concepts such as the eye of God and the inner eye determined the way in which eyes were perceived and represented It is the beholder whether as maker or viewer who engages with and judges the worth of any creative effort and what it contributes to an understanding of the seen and the unseen The illustrations and the many coloured plates accompanying the text offer an overview of the subject

The Human Face Mary Katsikitis,2012-12-06 James W Pennebaker The University of Texas at Austin At first glance a scientific book on the face doesn't make a great deal of sense After all the face is not a biological unit that falls into a specific medical specialty By the same token it is not part of a of a specific clear functional system that falls within the purview subdiscipline of psychology philosophy sociology or any other traditional area It seems that the only organizing principle of the face is that all humans have one and that it is central to the experience of being human As a social stimulus the face can signal emotions personality sex physical and mental health social status age and aspects of our thoughts intentions and our inner selves At various points in our lives we spend a tremendous amount of time and money for cosmetics cleansers medicines and occasionally surgery to enhance our face In the same way that a normative symmetrical face can attract praise and even adoration damage to the face through birth defects disease or injury is almost always stigmatizing Our faces then are social advertisements for who we are
