H. G. Wells

Red Room:

Artist and Attic Hsin Ying Chi, 1999 Artists and Attic sees the relationship between architecture and literature as a concrete reflection of nineteenth century ideology creating an iconic picture of women's position in society and literature during that period In the Victorian house the attic is hidden and neglected yet to a woman artist it is a space of her own to produce a text of her own The author presents the neglected attic as related to the neglected woman and the limited space symbolizes the confinement of woman and the woman writer yet obtaining this space of her own becomes the central concern to women and women writers This book explores the function of the attic in nineteenth century British and American women's writing as it is given meaning and life by the writers To many of the women the attic created a paradoxical image of their seclusion but also of their own poetic space for freedom in creation Many of the writers see the attic as a retreat to escape from patriarchal oppression and a place to seek social identity

Japanese ghost stories 36 Lee jong moon,2025-04-10 Hello I'm Lee Jong moon from MeeNii a Japanese specialty bookstore The world is full of stories of the unknowable Things we can't see with our eyes things we can't touch with our hands but things we can definitely feel Ghosts have long been at the center of countless stories capturing the imagination and fear of humans They're not just objects of fear but sometimes symbols of sadness and loss and for some awe and mystery This book is a collection of various stories about ghosts ranging from old Japanese legends to modern day eyewitness accounts that claim to be someone's actual experience. It is a multifaceted look at the existence of ghosts which touch on some of the most primal human emotions: fear, sadness, and longing. Sometimes connected to the pain of lost loved ones, sometimes a vehicle for unraveling the mysteries of those who have died unjustly, ghost stories also speak to our insatiable curiosity to explore the unknown beyond our comprehension. While reading this book, readers will experience a wide range of emotions; there will be moments when they shudder with chills of fear and other moments when they are moved to tears by a story that touches their hearts. So let's take a step into the darkness. There's no telling what emotions the stories in this book will evoke in you. But one thing is for sure: with every page you turn, you'll be a little closer to the unknown. We've painstakingly compiled a list of ghost stories that are passed down orally in Japan. We hope you find them interesting and enjoyable. Thank You.

I can assure you, said I, that it will take a very tangible ghost to frighten me. And I stood up before the fire with my glass in my hand. It is your own choosing, said the man with the withered arm, and glanced at me askance. Eight and twenty years, said I, I have lived and never a ghost have I seen as yet. The old woman sat staring hard into the fire, her pale eyes wide open. Ay, she broke in, and eight and twenty years you have lived and never seen the likes of this house, I reckon. There's a many things to see when one's still, but eight and twenty. She swayed her head slowly from side to side. A many things to see and sorrow for, I half suspected, the old people were trying to enhance the spiritual terrors of their house by their droning insistence. I put down my empty glass on the table and looked about the room and caught a glimpse of myself, abbreviated and broadened to an impossible sturdiness in the queer old mirror at the end of the room. Well, I said, if I see anything to-night, I shall be so much the wiser. For I come to the business with an open mind. It's your own choosing, said the man with the withered arm, once more. I heard the faint sound of a stick and a shambling step on the flags in the passage outside. The door creaked on its hinges as a second old man entered, more bent, more wrinkled, more aged even than the first. He supported himself by the help of a crutch, his eyes were covered by a shade, and his lower lip half averted, hung pale and pink from his decaying yellow teeth. He made straight for an armchair on the opposite side of the table, sat down clumsily, and began to cough. The man with the withered hand gave the newcomer a short glance of positive dislike; the old woman took no notice of his arrival but remained with her eyes fixed steadily on the fire. I said, it's your own choosing, said the man with the withered hand when the coughing had ceased for a while. It's my own choosing, I answered. The man with the shade became aware of my presence for the first time and threw his head back for a moment and sideways to see me. I caught a momentary glimpse of his eyes, small and bright and inflamed. Then he began to cough and splutter again. Why don't you drink, said the man with the withered arm, pushing the beer toward him. The man with the shade poured out a glassful with a shaking hand that splashed half as much again on the deal table. A monstrous shadow of him crouched upon the wall and mocked his action as he poured and drank I must confess I had scarcely expected these grotesque custodians There is to my mind something inhuman in senility something crouching and atavistic the human qualities seem to drop from old people insensibly day by day The three of them made me feel uncomfortable with their gaunt silences their bent carriage their evident unfriendliness to me and to one another And that night perhaps I was in the mood for uncomfortable impressions I resolved to get away from their vague forebodings of the evil things upstairs If said I you will show me to this haunted room of yours I will make myself comfortable there The old man with the cough jerked his head back so suddenly that it startled me and shot another glance of his red eyes at me from out of the darkness under the shade but no one answered me I waited a minute glancing from one to the other The old woman stared like a dead body glaring into the fire with lacklustre eyes
