The Mind of an Ape David Premack, Ann J. Premack, 1983-01-01 Apes, Language, and the Human Mind Sue Savage-Rumbaugh, Stuart G. Shanker, Talbot J. Taylor, 1998-06-18 Current primate research has yielded stunning results that not only threaten our underlying assumptions about the cognitive and communicative abilities of nonhuman primates but also bring into question what it means to be human At the forefront of this research Sue Savage Rumbaugh recently has achieved a scientific breakthrough of impressive proportions Her work with Kanzi a laboratory reared bonobo has led to Kanzi s acquisition of linguistic and cognitive skills similar to those of a two and a half year old human child Apes Language and the Human Mind skillfully combines a fascinating narrative of the Kanzi research with incisive critical analysis of the research s broader linguistic psychological and anthropological implications The first part of the book provides a detailed personal account of Kanzi s infancy youth and upbringing while the second part addresses the theoretical conceptual and methodological issues raised by the Kanzi research The authors discuss the challenge to the foundations of modern cognitive science presented by the Kanzi research the methods by which we represent and evaluate the abilities of both primates and humans and the implications which ape language research has for the study of the evolution of human language Sure to be controversial this exciting new volume offers a radical revision of the sciences of language and mind and will be important reading for all those working in the fields of primatology anthropology linguistics philosophy of mind and cognitive and developmental psychology The Ape that Spoke John McCrone, 1990 Apes, Monkeys, Children, and the Growth of Mind Juan Carlos Gómez, 2009-07 What can the study of young monkeys and apes tell us about the minds of young humans In this fascinating introduction to the study of primate minds Juan Carlos G mez identifies evolutionary resemblances and differences between human children and other primates He argues that primate minds are best understood not as fixed collections of specialized cognitive capacities but more dynamically as a range of abilities that can surpass their original adaptations In a lively overview of a distinguished body of cognitive developmental research among nonhuman primates G mez looks at knowledge of the physical world causal reasoning including the chimpanzee like errors that human children make and the contentious subjects of ape language theory of mind and imitation Attempts to teach language to chimpanzees as well as studies of the quality of some primate vocal communication in the wild make a powerful case that primates have a natural capacity for relatively sophisticated communication and considerable power to learn when humans teach them G mez concludes that for all cognitive psychology s interest in perception information processing and reasoning some essential functions of mental life are based on ideas that cannot be explicitly articulated Nonhuman and human primates alike rely on implicit knowledge Studying nonhuman primates helps us to understand this perplexing aspect of all primate minds New Church Review , 1925 The Catholic's Ready Answer Michael Peter Hill, 1915 Kanzi Sue Savage-Rumbaugh, 1996-09-01 The remarkable story of a talking chimp a leading scientist and the profound insights they have uncovered about our species He has been featured in cover stories in Time Newsweek and National Geographic and has been the subject of a NOVA documentary He is directly responsible for discoveries that have forced the scientific community to recast its thinking about the nature of the mind and the origins of language He is Kanzi an extraordinary bonobo chimpanzee who has overturned the idea that symbolic language is unique to our species This is the moving story of how Kanzi learned to converse with humans and the profound lessons he has taught us about our animal cousins and ourselves The underlying thesis is informative and well argued Savage Rumbaugh's results are impressive The Washington Post This popular absorbing and controversial account is recommended Library Journal

Root-principles in Rational and Spiritual Things Thomas Child,1905 The Cosmic God, a Fundamental Philosophy in Popular Lectures Isaac Mayer Wise,1876 Ape Mind, Old Mind, New Mind John Wylie,John Wylie, M D,2017 The Evolution of the Human Spirit excerpt The remarkable aspect of evolution by sexual selection which Darwin so courageously proposed is that it is driven merely by the desire for a trait in this case the desire for justice I had realized that sexual selection is not only driven by the peahen's desire for the peacock's tail but also by the peacock's desire to be desired for his tail i.e. vanity So what gave sexual selection the creative power to launch and then sustain our hominin tribe was and still is the combined effect of both the desire for justice and the desire to be just both passed down together tightly engaged in pioneering the frontiers of rightness and wrongness Indeed the fact that our minds are comprised of capacities determined by motivations that are both subject and object has much to do with both our expansive consciousness and our linguistic virtuosity We are at once the seer and the seen condemner and condemned lover and loved However because human evolution has left us so intricately fraught with these condensed motivations our minds are also vulnerable to the unraveling of emotion into the spinning feedback scream of mental illness I had not initially realized the extent of the role played by natural selection in the conversion from submission and dominance in apes to obedience and authority in humans Under the protective shield of justice groups of mated pair bonds could evolve the productive benefits of coordinating and dividing the labor of child care and food gathering At the end of the day those groupings of relationships that believed in the rules of this organic social structure would be naturally selected The procreative benefits to individuals within a given group immersed in this obedience authority system would exceed any benefits of pursuing their own dominance The will to dominate in the ape mind transformed into the authority of justice in the early human old mind by migrating from individuals to dwelling within the thin ether of relationships between individuals no one could see it but all could feel it This invisible but biologically based will could be said to possess intentions i e a spirit the human spirit Human bonds animated by this still evolving spirit ultimately would become more powerful than those of blood tribe or country _____
