Simple Talks On The Tabernacle:

Simple Talks on the Tabernacle D. H. Dolman, 2015-09-02 WE ARE living in an age when the historical archaeological philological study of the Holy Scriptures is being carried on with the greatest eagerness and with better equipment and more abundant material than at any previous period in the history of the Church It is producing a vast and important literature and surely all who love the Word of God must welcome the fruits of such investigation and be grateful for a more comprehensive knowledge of the historical background of Biblical events and a more accurate understanding of the languages in which our Testaments were written Yet there is a great danger that in the constant search for the grammatical and historical meaning of the records of the Holy Scriptures the deeper more spiritual truths of these passages will be ignored or at least be given a place of undeserved subordination That this is a real danger today is shown by the fact which none can dispute that the literature now appearing relating to historical and archaeological matters relating to the Word of God is vast important the result of years of careful study on the part of distinguished scholars while on the other hand the literature which attempts with equal soundness of learning to bring out the great spiritual teachings of the Word of Truth is for the most part superficial ephemeral more or less sensational and does not commend itself to our new generation One reason for this is that men who give themselves day and night to meditation upon the deeper spiritual truths of the Word are growing it seems increasingly rare This book by my dear friend Dr Dolman is a welcome exception to the general trend of Biblical literature today a devout study of the inner meaning of one of the greatest objects of divinely designed typical meaning in all Scriptures the Tabernacle For one to be adequately equipped for discovering the precious treasures the Spirit of God has deposited for our enrichment in the extended portions of the Word devoted to this subject three qualifications are necessary 1 One must give years of careful study and meditation to the subject itself 2 One must ever desire to make Christ central in all his thinking and 3 One must know a life of true holiness These three qualifications Dr Dolman has in a superlative way I know of no one today whose own saintly life and love for the Word would quite qualify him for attempting such a work as this as Dr Dolman Beautiful buildings are necessary to be appreciated but it is the bread on the table that feeds our souls Historical study of the Scriptures serves many important purposes but it is Christ in the Word who nourishes our souls The entire Christian Church will be grateful to Dr Dolman for setting before us so rich a feast of the precious sanctifying strengthening truths of this portion of the Bread of God Wilbur M Smith
