Remake Berlin:

Remaking Berlin Timothy Moss, 2020-09-29 An examination of Berlin's turbulent history through the lens of its water and energy infrastructures In Remaking Berlin Timothy Moss takes a novel perspective on Berlin's turbulent twentieth century history examining it through the lens of its water and energy infrastructures He shows that through a century of changing regimes geopolitical interventions and socioeconomic volatility Berlin's networked urban infrastructures have acted as medium and manifestation of municipal national and international politics and policies Moss traces the coevolution of Berlin and its infrastructure systems from the creation of Greater Berlin in 1920 to remunicipalization of services in 2020 encompassing democratic fascist and socialist regimes Throughout he explores the tension between obduracy and change in Berlin's infrastructures Examining the choices made by utility managers politicians and government officials Moss makes visible systems that we often take for granted Moss describes the reorganization of infrastructure systems to meet the needs of a new unitary city after Berlin's incorporation in 1920 and how utilities delivered on political promises the insidious embedding of repression racism autarky and militarization within the networked city under the Nazis and the resilience of Berlin's infrastructures during wartime and political division He examines East Berlin's socialist infrastructural ideal and its under resourced systems West Berlin's insular existence and its aspirations of system autarky and reunified Berlin's privatization of utilities subsequently challenged by social movements Taking Berlin as an exemplar Moss's account will inspire researchers to take a fresh look at urban infrastructure histories offering new ways of conceptualizing the multiple temporalities and spatialities of the networked city

European Film Remakes Stijn Joye, Gertjan Willems, Eduard Cuelenaere, 2021-01-19 Bringing together a range of international scholars European Film Remakes discusses for the first time the textual socio cultural political and industrial mechanisms and singularities of the film remake in a European context Offering a variety of historical theoretical and methodological approaches the book is illustrated by a wide range of case studies from across Europe including films like A Bigger Splash Open Your Eyes and Perfect Strangers Although commonly understood as a typical Hollywood practice this book demonstrates how film remakes are and always have been a significant part of the European film culture and industry

'Heimat' Friederike Eigler, Jens Kugele, 2012-10-01 The concept of Heimat with its seemingly pre or anti modern connotations of rootedness in a place of origin is central to a critical understanding of German history and culture Over the course of the past fifteen years scholars across a range of disciplines have found new ways to examine the changing notions of Heimat its multifaceted cultural literary and visual history its gendered connotations and its national and ideological appropriations This anthology is the first to examine cultural manifestations of Heimat by giving special consideration to issues of memory and space The contributions to this volume challenge static notions of place often associated with Heimat Instead they explore the social and cultural production of places of belonging as they emerge in literary and visual narratives ranging from 1800 to 2000 and beyond Although the anthology includes historical perspectives on Heimat its overall objective is not to trace its cultural or literary history but to place this complex term into new conceptual contexts Drawing attention to manifestations of Heimat within German literary and cultural studies provides a rich ground for exploring the transformation of locality in trans national contexts
