

Grand Geometrician of the Universe.

It is unfortunate that the general run of uninitiated humanity, and alas, even many masons fail to realise that scientific progress should always and only be directed towards the ultimate Pattern, or Master Design of the Grand Geometrician of the Universe.

DEATH

"...and when by means of that contemplation she has conducted you through the intricate windings of this mortal life, she finally instructs you how to die."

I wonder how many realise how closely the ritual of the Third degree symbolises the ypococ or "moment" of death? Those who have been at death's door, either in sickness, or by drowning, and then brought back to life, have all witnessed to the fact that their whole life passed before them in review: so does the ritual recapitulate the whole of our masonic teaching before taking us through the "gates of Hades".

Then we are raised, but left in a state of wondering bewilderment: where do we go from there? From that stage of transition which, according to the Tibetan Book of the Dead, lasts forty-nine days? We are merely given a tentative direction, and it is not until the exaltation in the Royal Arch that the final revelation completes our resurrection.

INTRODUCTION

The Royal Arch ritual tries to convey to us a picture of the life hereafter. This is a real life, and the certitude of its existence is ingrained in us from tradition, from education and upbringing, as well as from a sort of sixth sense supplementing the common sense reasoning that life on earth, with all its tribulations, would be pointless if there were no form of life or existence hereafter.

However, to picture the life beyond is very difficult indeed. No one has been beyond death, or been able to tell us what it is like: who could convey an accurate impression of the odour of a rose to anyone who had never smelt one? So we have to rely on the utterances of visionary mystics and the proof that these utterances have some foundation of reality, even if incomprehensible to us, lies in the striking similarity of their statements: that life beyond is a very close-knit integration or communion - with the Supreme Being, whatever he may be called: oov, Brahma, Allah, Исход, Christ. Every single mystic has borne witness to this reintegration with the Source of all creation, the sofot, of the Kabbalah, and some of them have even been fortunate enough to see this in a vision.

Without disclosing any secrets of the Royal Arch, I can say that, in my opinion, this is what this degree illustrates by its symbolism.

Its ritual attempts to reintegrate us with the True and Living God Most High, in the same way as the Craft rituals try to integrate us with spiritual Birth, Life and Death respectively. This re-integration with the Supreme Source and Essence can only be achieved by a mystical union.

through the three Principals' Chairs: even the candidate is ritually informed that the full secrets of the Royal Arch are not communicated and a full understanding of the degree is not obtained until he has passed those Chairs.

As in the Craft degrees, there is a preparation before the ceremony, although it is more verbal than vestimentary. The Craft degrees' pattern is then closely followed with the enjoining and calling for a password leading to the degree, after which the ceremony proper culminates in the exaltation of the candidate, in which the actual degree is conferred with the communication of the Ineffable Word which was lost at the traditional time in which the original degree was originally enacted, and subsequently rediscovered, again according to masonic tradition, at the time when the Royal Arch ceremony first took place. Then follow three lectures given to the candidate, one by each of the three Principals, and corresponding roughly to

DEFINITION

Before proceeding any further, I feel that the word "Mysticism" ought to be defined so as to clarify the meaning attached to it when related to the Royal Arch, or any other esoteric ritual. Chamber's English dictionary defines "Mysticism" as the "habit and tendency of religious thought and feeling of those who seek direct communion with God or the Divine": in other words what the buddhists call "Nirvana" and the christians "Communion of Saints".

I must also caution the reader that this paper is not an authoritative pronouncement. As with all mystical writings, whether by the Saints, the Kabbalists or the Derwiches, or by those who merely aspire to mysticism, it is a purely personal communication, so personal that, with some of you with different upbringing or outlook, it may not strike the right chord to lead you through to a similar understanding. For some of you, however, it may touch the right spot and awaken in you that Divine spark we all have in us and enable you to hear once more - or perhaps for the very first time - that "still small voice" (1 Kings, xix, 12) which for most of us unfortunately is so very silent, so very frequently silent.

Therefore, this paper is not a pronouncement ex cathedra Ancani Regali, i.e. authoritatively from the chair of the Royal Arch, in one chapter of which I am in at present, but de profundis spiritus meo, in other words, out of the depths of my own feelings and emotions. As such, and only as such, you must take it or leave it.

RETUAL

For those readers who are but Master Masons, a brief explanation of the Royal Arch ritual, without improper disclosure, is called for, if they are to understand more clearly the import of the subsequent paragraphs of this paper. However, it must be pointed out straightaway that a full understanding will not be obtained until the reader has not only been exalted in the Royal Arch, but also passed
