Modern Architect:

Contemporary Architects Muriel Emanuel, 2016-01-23      Chinese Architecture and the Beaux-Arts Jeffrey W. Cody, Nancy Shatzman Steinhardt, Tony Atkin, 2011-01-31

In the early twentieth century Chinese traditional architecture and the French derived methods of the cole des Beaux Arts converged in the United States when Chinese students were given scholarships to train as architects at American universities whose design curricula were dominated by Beaux Arts methods. Upon their return home in the 1920s and 1930s these graduates began to practice architecture and create China's first architectural schools often transferring a version of what they had learned in the U S to Chinese situations. The resulting complex series of design related transplantations had major implications for China between 1911 and 1949 as it simultaneously underwent cataclysmic social economic and political changes. After 1949 and the founding of the People's Republic China experienced a radically different wave of influence from the Beaux Arts through advisors from the Soviet Union who first under Stalin and later Khrushchev brought Beaux Arts ideals in the guise of socialist progress. In the early twenty first century China is still feeling the effects of these events. Chinese Architecture and the Beaux Arts examines the coalescing of the two major architectural systems placing significant shifts in architectural theory and practice in China within relevant contemporary cultural and educational contexts. Fifteen major scholars from around the world analyze and synthesize these crucial events to shed light on the dramatic architectural and urban changes occurring in China today many of which have global ramifications. This stimulating and generously illustrated work is divided into three sections framed by an introduction and a postscript. The first focuses on the convergence of Chinese architecture and the cole des Beaux Arts outlining the salient aspects of each and suggesting how and why the two met in the U S. The second section centers on the question of how Chinese architects were influenced by the Beaux Arts and how Chinese architecture was changed as a result. The third takes an even closer look at the Beaux Arts influence addressing how innovative practices new schools of architecture and buildings whose designs were linked to Beaux Arts assumptions led to distinctive new paradigms that were rooted in a changing China. By virtue of its scope scale and scholarship this volume promises to become a classic in the fields of Chinese and Western architectural history. Mysticism and Architecture Roger Paden, 2007-01-11

Mysticism and Architecture Wittgenstein and the Palais Stonborough is a multi disciplinary study of the Viennese palais that the philosopher Ludwig Wittgenstein helped design and build for his sister shortly after he abandoned philosophy for more practical activities and during the period that supposedly separates his early from his late philosophy. Weaving together discussions of a number of social political and cultural developments that helped to give fin de si cle Vienna its character including the late modernization of Austrian society industry and economy the construction of Vienna's Ringstrasse the slow decay of the Hapsburg monarchy and the failure of Austrian liberalism as well as Tolstoy's religiously based ethical views Adolf Loos's critique of architectural ornament Karl Kraus's analysis of Vienna's decadence Kierkegaard's and Nestroy's views on the importance of indirect communication Otto Weininger's theory of the nature and duty of genius Camillo Sitte and Otto Wagner's dispute over good urban form Schopenhauer's aesthetic theories and his Eastern philosophy of life and Russell and Frege's philosophical and logical theories the book presents a philosophical biography of Wittgenstein reminiscent of but substantially different from Janik and Toulmin's Wittgenstein's Vienna This philosophical biography underpins a new interpretation of the house which argues that the house belongs to neither architectural Modernism nor Postmodernism but is instead caught between those two movements This analysis of the house in turn grounds a new interpretation of Wittgenstein's philosophical works that emphasizes their mystical nature and practical purpose Finally this interpretation shows the unity of these works while simultaneously suggesting an underlying flaw namely that they arise from two fundamentally opposed worldviews present in Vienna during Wittgenstein's youth aesthetic modernism and critical modernism

The Meaning of Modern Architecture Dr Hans Rudolf Morgenthaler, 2015-09-28 Using empathy as established by the Vienna School of Art History complemented by insights on how the mind processes visual stimuli as demonstrated by late 19th century psychologists and art theorists this book puts forward an innovative interpretative method of decoding the forms and spaces of Modern buildings It proposes that Modern architecture is too diverse to be reduced to a few common formal or ornamental features Instead by relying on the viewer's innate psycho-physiological perceptive abilities the sensual and intuitive understandings of composition form and space are emphasized

When Modern Was Green David Haney, 2010 Today contemporary landscape design is increasingly drawing from ideas of sustainability and ecological stability Not in fact new the foundations of this approach stem from early twentieth century Germany where architects and planners were already beginning to use the design concepts which are now referred to as green This ecological school of thought was driven by modernist landscape architect Leberecht Migge 1881-1935 Working with significant modernist architects of the age including Martin Elsaesser Ernst May Bruno Taut and Martin Wagner Migge was responsible for some of the most important housing and planning projects of the age the mass housing settlements or Gro siedlungen of Frankfurt Main and Berlin Using biotechnic principles to integrally link dwelling and garden Migge was able to recycle household waste to grow foodstuffs through the use of innovative infrastructure and open space planning Also a skilled park and garden designer he drew together green and architectural elements in his garden architectonic approach David H Haney s book is the first to fully document Leberecht Migge s life and work Using Migge as a starting point Haney addresses conceptual and theoretical aspects of German ecological design challenging conventional assumptions about modernism and ecological design history With 200 illustrations and photographs When Modern Was Green is ideal for students and academics interested in modernism landscape history and higher level German studies Modern Architecture Alan Colquhoun,2002-04-25 This new account of international modernism explores the complex motivations behind this revolutionary movement and assesses its triumphs and failures The work of the main architects of the movement such as Frank Lloyd Wright Adolf Loos Le Corbusier and Mies van der Rohe is re examined shedding new light on their roles as acknowledged masters Alan Colquhoun explores the evolution of the movement from Art Nouveau in the 1890s to the megastructures of the 1960s revealing the often contradictory demands of form function social engagement modernity and tradition The Architect and Building News ,1927 Journal of the Royal Institute of British Architects ,1928 Finding List ...
