Modern Norwegian Architecture:

Modern Norwegian Architecture Christian Norberg-Schulz, 1986 Beginning with the first decade of the 20th century Professor Norberg Schulz traces the development of modern Norwegian architecture in relation to general trends such as the International Style and the Postmodernism of the 1980s The book includes a short historical introduction and provides a reliable account of this largely unexplored field

Made in Norway Ingerid Helsing Almaas, 2016-04-25 Norwegian architecture has been in the international spotlight in recent years Following the success of Made in Norway this second volume presents a selection of 40 new examples of the best contemporary architecture Norway has to offer These projects large and small rural and urban are examples of how architects in Norway have reacted to the challenges of today How are the different aspects of a modern Scandinavian society reflected in its architecture How are new technical and material possibilities translated into relevant buildings for the 21st century The book is based on presentations from Arkitektur N the Norwegian Review of Architecture but also contains new material explaining and discussing some of the main challenges of architecture today as seen from Norway

Contemporary Norwegian Architecture, 2001 Architecture in the Scandinavian Countries Marian Card Donnelly, 1992 The most complete survey of Nordic architecture available today

Weather Architecture Jonathan Hill, 2013-06-17 Weather Architecture further extends Jonathan Hill's investigation of authorship by recognising the creativity of the weather At a time when environmental awareness is of growing relevance the overriding aim is to understand a history of architecture as a history of weather and thus to consider the weather as an architectural author that affects design construction and use in a creative dialogue with other authors such as the architect and user Environmental discussions in architecture tend to focus on the practical or the poetic but here they are considered together Rather than investigate architecture's relations to the weather in isolation they are integrated into a wider discussion of cultural and social influences on architecture The analysis of weather's effects on the design and experience of specific buildings and gardens is interwoven with a historical survey of changing attitudes to the weather in the arts sciences and society leading to a critical re evaluation of contemporary responses to climate change

Encyclopedia of Twentieth Century Architecture R. Stephen Sennott, 2004 For more information including the introduction a full list of entries and contributors a generous selection of sample pages and more visit the Encyclopedia of 20th Century Architecture website Focusing on architecture from all regions of the world this three volume set profiles the twentieth century's vast chronicle of architectural achievements both within and well beyond the theoretical confines of modernism Unlike existing works this encyclopedia examines the complexities of rapidly changing global conditions that have dispersed modern architectural types movements styles and building practices across traditional geographic and cultural boundaries

News of Norway, 1968
The Fjords and Folk of Norway Samuel J. Beckett, 1915 100 Gennaro Postiglione, 2004 This volume features 100 homes of different architects American Lumberman, 1930 The London Mercury, 1927 Norwegian

Architecture 1975-85, 1988     Architect, 1904     Estonian Architecture Liivi Künnapu, 1992     Guide to Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Finland, Iceland T. G. Barman, 1939     Building, Lighting and Engineering, 1930     Sverre Fehn Christian Norberg-Schulz, Gennaro Postiglione, 1997 This comprehensive monograph presents fifty projects from throughout the four decades of Fehn's career. Featured are such important works as the Archbishopric Museum of Hamar, the Glacier Museum in Fjaerland and the Aukrust Museum in Alvdal, all in Norway. Also included are a number of houses and several competition projects, both built and unbuilt. Each of the works in this volume is illustrated with extensive photography, presentation drawings, and Fehn's signature sketches. Complementing the architectural projects are essays by Francesco Dal Co, Christian Norberg-Schulz, and Gennaro Postiglione, which present an analytic portrait of the architect's career and an anthology of writings by Fehn and critics.

Architecture in Norway Nils Georg Brekke, Siri Skjold Lexau, Per Jonas Nordhagen, 2019-09-02 The book shows how architecture in Norway has been shaped by resource availability, changing social conditions, and architectural style impulses through the centuries. The book is thoroughly illustrated with photos, ground plan drawings, and isometric drawings. This outline of Norwegian architectural history provides the first comprehensive presentation of architecture in Norway from tents and housing constructions in the Stone Age until contemporary architecture, as the iconic contemporary Opera House in Oslo. The book shows how Norwegian vernacular architecture has been shaped by natural conditions and resources, changing cultural situations, and building traditions through the ages. By implementing a view on how the cultivated and built landscapes of Norway have been affected by human hands and creativity, the authors give a contextual and interdisciplinary presentation of Norwegian architecture history. The authors show how the technological basis of Iron Age and Medieval architecture was developed long before the construction of stave churches. In the first part of the book, recent research on building construction, both in prehistoric times and during the middle ages, is presented. After an updated review of the architecture of early post-medieval centuries, the authors show how the repartition of land, industrialization, and urbanization transform the landscape of the late 19th century. Major changes take place into the 1900s during the breakthrough of modernism with huge building activity for a new independent nation. The book also presents new research on the most recent architecture in Norway, in particular the architecture of the 1980s, 90s, and 2000s. The relations between vernacular architecture and contemporary architecture of different periods are dealt with through continuing discussions among the authors.
