Current Critical Debates in the Field of Transsexual Studies Oren Gozlan, 2018-03-13 Current Critical Debates in the Field of Transsexual Studies introduces new thinking on non conforming gender representation addressing transsexuality as a subjective experience that highlights universal dilemmas related to how we conceive identity and exploring universal questions related to gender its objects objections and obstacles This book seeks to disassemble prejudicial orientations to the challenges and the everydayness of transsexuality and build new understanding and responses to issues including medical biases the problem of authenticity and the agency of the child Oren Gozlan leads an examination of three central pressures transformation of a medical model the social experience of becoming transgender and the question of self representation through popular culture The chapters reframe several contemporary dilemmas such as authenticity pathology normativity creativity the place of the clinic as a problem of authority the unpredictability of sexuality the struggle with limits of knowledge a demand for intelligibility and desire for certainty The contributors consider sociocultural theoretical therapeutic and legal approaches to transsexuality that reveal its inherent instability and fluidity both as concept and as experience They place transsexuality in tension and transition as a concept as a subject position and as a subjectivity The book also reflects the way in which political and cultural change affects self and other representations of the transsexual person and their others asking how does the subject metabolize the anxieties that relate to these transformations and facilitations How can the subject respond in contexts of hostility and prohibition Offering a much needed interdisciplinary exploration Current Critical Debates in the Field of Transsexual Studies will appeal to psychoanalysts and psychotherapist as well as psychologists and scholars of gender studies cultural studies and sociology

Antigone, in Her Unbearable Splendor Charles Freeland, 2013-05-28 With its privileging of the unconscious Jacques Lacan's psychoanalytic thought would seem to be at odds with the goals and methods of philosophy Lacan himself embraced the term anti philosophy in characterizing his work and yet his seminars undeniably evince rich engagement with the Western philosophical tradition These essays explore how Lacan's work challenges and builds on this tradition of ethical and political thought connecting his ethics of psychoanalysis to both the classical Greek tradition of Socrates Plato and Aristotle and to the Enlightenment tradition of Kant Hegel and de Sade Charles Freeland shows how Lacan critically addressed some of the key ethical concerns of those traditions the pursuit of truth and the ethical good the ideals of self knowledge and the care of the soul and the relation of moral law to the tragic dimensions of death and desire Rather than sustaining the characterization of Lacan's work as anti philosophical these essays identify a resonance capable of enriching philosophy by opening it to wider and evermore challenging perspectives

Lacan and Fantasy Literature Josephine Sharoni, 2017-07-03 Eschewing the all pervading contextual approach to literary criticism this book

takes a Lacanian view of several popular British fantasy texts of the late 19th century such as Bram Stoker's Dracula revealing the significance of the historical context the advent of a modern democratic urban society in place of the traditional agrarian one Moreover counter intuitively it turns out that fantasy literature is analogous to modern Galilean science in its manipulation of the symbolic thereby changing our conception of reality It is imaginary devices such as vampires and ape men which in conjunction with Lacanian theory say something additional of the truth about primarily sexual aspects of human subjectivity and culture repressed by the contemporary hegemonic discourses Sociology Through the Projector Bulent Diken, Carsten Bagge Laustsen, 2008-10-01 Sociology through the Projector takes issue with the question of how contemporary film can help answering the general abstract but still urgent question what is the social today This book explains the performative relation to contemporary social theory in which cinema functions as a tool for social diagnosis There is much to be learned about social theory through an encounter with films as films are part and parcel of the society they portray Increasingly more lay knowledge about social problems and facts stems from cinema as it offers to large audiences a popular and pedagogical introduction to social knowledge Social theory cannot avoid a critical engagement with cinema as cinema interprets invents displaces and distorts the object of sociological inquiry This book will provide a deeper understanding of contemporary social theory as the chosen films will work as a pedagogical route into contemporary social theory The films represent a mix of European and American blockbusters and more aesthetically orientated films The authors question several dominant topics and concerns within social theory and film studies Firstly by cross examining a series of concepts such as identity representation memory and surveillance filming social behaviour which are of concern to both film theory and social theory Secondly by trying to develop imaginative approaches to standard social concerns such as exclusion gender roles and inequalities power infantilisation and commodification of the social and psychological bonds This book will be a great resource for students and researchers of Sociology Contemporary Social Theory Film Studies and Cultural Studies

Black Men, Black Feminism Jared Sexton, 2018-03-06 A brief commentary on the necessity and the impossibility of black men's participation in the development of black feminist theory and politics Black Men Black Feminism examines the basic assumptions that have guided and misguided black men's efforts to take up black feminism Offering a rejoinder to the contemporary study of black men and masculinity in the twenty first century Jared Sexton interrogates some of the most common intellectual postures of black men writing about black feminism ultimately departing from the prevailing discourse on progressive black masculinities Sexton examines by contrast black men's critical and creative work from Charles Burnett's Killer of Sheep to Jordan Peele's Get Out to describe the cultural logic that provides a limited moral impetus to the quest for black male feminism and that might if reconfigured prompt an ethical response of an entirely different order It Didn't Mean Anything Alexander N. Howe, 2008-03-17 This critical study of American detective fiction examines the history and development of the detective genre through the lens of psychoanalysis Applying the ideas of French psychoanalyst Jacques

Lacan the author identifies and categorizes popular works according to the fictional protagonist's hysteria, obsessive neurosis, perversion, or psychosis. The first chapter identifies several instances of hysteria within the fiction of two of the genre's pioneers, Edgar Allan Poe and Arthur Conan Doyle. Chapter Two traces the development of the hard-boiled detective's code of honor through the works of Dashiell Hammett, Raymond Chandler, and Mickey Spillane, identifying the often paradoxical nature of this code and its origins in obsessive neurosis. Chapter Three analyzes the anti-detective fiction of Philip K. Dick in terms of paranoid psychosis, and the final chapter returns to the question of hysteria, taking up the female hard-boiled detectives of author Marcia Muller.

Psychoanalysis, Culture & Society, 2005 Yale Journal of Law & the Humanities, 2003 Feminist Studies, 2001

Pedagogical Desire Jan Jagodzinski, 2002-06-30. What is the right pedagogical distance for learning to take place? What should be the teacher's role concerning a student's desire? Ethically speaking, how are we to understand the dialectic between desire and the drive? Are we obligated to help students mourn the knowledge that they must let go? Can ignorance, which sounds pejorative, be pedagogically useful as that which is unsaid and repressed? When the pedagogical distance collapses and seduction takes place, can such behavior be excused? These are just some of the questions that are raised throughout this collection by the authors. Lacanian psychoanalysis presents a challenge to our usual understanding of the subject as formulated by ego psychology, as well as the discursive subject of postmodernism. Can Lacan's tripartite psychic registers of the Real, Imaginary, and the Symbolic present the subject in unending intrapsychic conflict? Can pedagogy address this struggle? How do we, as educators, take the notion of the unconscious seriously into account? The authors of this collection engage themselves in such questioning, in some cases examining their own practices and in other cases developing possible strategies with a view of understanding the psychic life of teaching.

Did Somebody Say Ideology? Fabio Vighi, Heiko Feldner, 2007. Did Somebody Say Ideology explores the philosophical, political, and psychoanalytic foundations of Slavoj Žižek's work almost two decades after his arrival on the international scene of contemporary philosophy with The Sublime Object of Ideology (1989). The book generally focuses on the understanding and applicability of Žižek's theory of ideology, arguably the distinguishing and most original feature in his oeuvre so far. The first part contains six essays that carry out specific investigations into key aspects of the Slovenian philosopher's work; the second part practices Žižek's own injunction about Lacan: to discover Lacanian themes everywhere, on Žižek himself, employing his theories in different contexts and relating them to other thinkers. Each study in the present volume testifies to the extraordinary vitality of Žižek's writing, demonstrating how his psychoanalytic brand of ideology critique fosters innovative research in a variety of intellectual fields and academic disciplines.
