Hydrosystems Engineering and Management Larry W. Mays, Yeou-Koung Tung, 2002 This book is intended to be a textbook for students of water resources engineering and management It is an introduction to methods used in hydrosystems for upper level undergraduate and graduate students The material can be presented to students with no background in operations research and with only an undergraduate background in hydrology and hydraulics A major focus is to bring together the use of economics operations research probability and statistics with the use of hydrology hydraulics and water resources for the analysis design operation and management of various types of water projects This book is an excellent reference for engineers water resource planners water resource systems analysts and water managers This book is concerned with the mathematical modeling of problems in water project design analysis operation and management The quantitative methods include a the simulation of various hydrologic and hydraulic processes b the use of operations research probability and statistics and economics Rarely have these methods been integrated in a systematic framework in a single book like Hydrosystems Engineering and Management An extensive number of example problems are presented for ease in understanding the material In addition a large number of end of chapter problems are provided for use in homework assignments

Extensible Database Systems as a Platform for Modeling Swati Desai, 1992 Manufacturing Science and Engineering 1995, 1995 Hydrosystems Engineering Reliability Assessment and Risk Analysis Yeou-Koung Tung, Ben-Chie Yen, C. Steve Melching, 2006 This is the first book to integrate reliability analysis and risk assessment with the planning design and management of hydrosystems dams levees storm sewers etc Requiring only a basic knowledge of probability and statistics readers will be able to determine how hydrosystem structures will perform under various circumstances Model Management in Operations Research, 1992 Management Science, 1986 Issues for Feb 1965 Aug 1967 include Bulletin of the Institute of Management Sciences

Mathematical Programming for Industrial Engineers Mordecai Avriel, Boaz Golany, 1996-05-16 Setting out to bridge the gap between the theory of mathematical programming and the varied real world practices of industrial engineers this work introduces developments in linear integer multiobjective stochastic network and dynamic programming It details many relevant industrial engineering applications College or university bookstores may order five or more copies at a special student price available upon request from Marcel Dekker Inc Forest Science, 1995 SAS/IML Software SAS Institute, 1995 AIChE Symposium Series American Institute of Chemical Engineers, 1972

Systematic Methods of Chemical Process Design Lorenz T. Biegler, Ignacio E. Grossmann, Arthur W. Westerberg, 1997 Over the last 20 years fundamental design concepts and advanced computer modeling have revolutionized process design for chemical engineering Team work and creative problem solving are still the building blocks of successful design but new design concepts and novel mathematical programming models based on computer based tools have taken out much of the guess work This book presents the new revolutionary knowledge taking a systematic approach to design at all levels

Artificial Intelligence and Operations Research in Business and Management Daniel Edmund O'Leary,1996

Coactive Forest Management John G. Hof,1993 This book provides a theoretical basis and a collection of management science tools that account for the interactions between different components of a managed forest ecosystem Accounting for these interactions is the rapid evolution of forest management away from a traditional agricultural commodities production problem to a multi output problem that gives equivalent emphasis to nonmarket goods and the health of forest ecosystem itself The book is a comprehensive theoretical demonstration of the breakdown of traditional benefit cost analysis in the presence of forest ecosystem or demand interactions and is followed by a set of management science optimization procedures that address these interactions and better capture the ecosystem function Discusses optimization under conditions of risk and uncertainty in forest management Explores spatial optimization and multi level optimization in forest management Examines joint production theory and joint cost allocation in forest management

Simplicity, Complexity and Modelling Mike Christie,Andrew Cliffe,Philip Dawid,Stephen S. Senn,2011-10-19 Several points of disagreement exist between different modelling traditions as to whether complex models are always better than simpler models as to how to combine results from different models and how to propagate model uncertainty into forecasts This book represents the result of collaboration between scientists from many disciplines to show how these conflicts can be resolved Key Features Introduces important concepts in modelling outlining different traditions in the use of simple and complex modelling in statistics Provides numerous case studies on complex modelling such as climate change flood risk and new drug development Concentrates on varying models including flood risk analysis models the petrol industry forecasts and summarizes the evolution of water distribution systems Written by experienced statisticians and engineers in order to facilitate communication between modellers in different disciplines Provides a glossary giving terms commonly used in different modelling traditions This book provides a much needed reference guide to approaching statistical modelling Scientists involved with modelling complex systems in areas such as climate change flood prediction and prevention financial market modelling and systems engineering will benefit from this book It will also be a useful source of modelling case histories
