Imagining the Modern City James Donald, 1999 Paris Berlin London Singapore New York Chicago Los Angeles these define the city in the world's consciousness James Donald takes us on a psychic journey to these places that have inspired artists writers architects and filmmakers for centuries Considering the cultural and political implications of the urban imaginary Donald explores the pleasures and challenges of modern living contending that the imagined city remains the best lens for a future of democratic community How can we think of Chicago without recalling the grittiness of The Asphalt Jungle's back alleys or of London without the dank foggy atmosphere so often evoked by Dickens When de Certeau explores what it means to walk through a city or Foucault dissects the elements of the modern attitude what are they telling us about modernity itself Through a discussion of these and many other questions about urban thought Donald demonstrates how artists and social critics have seen the city as the locus not just of vanity squalor and injustice but also of civilized society's highest aspirations Imagining the modern City also looks at how artists have shaped cities through their creation of public spaces sculpture and architecture art forms that help determine our ideas about our place in the urban environment Planners and architects such as Otto Wagner Le Corbusier and Bernard Tschumi present us with real and possible cities showing a way forward to alternative social futures Donald asserts The modern city provides both a culturally resonant imagined space and a physical place for the everyday life of its residents Imagining the Modern City is a rich and dazzling exploration of the ways cities stir and shape our consciousness

Modernism in the Streets Marshall Berman, 2017-04-18 Essays tracing the intellectual life of a quintessential New York City writer and thinker Marshall Berman was one of the great urbanists and Marxist cultural critics of the twentieth and twenty first centuries and his brilliant nearly sui generis book All That Is Solid Melts Into Air is a masterpiece of the literature on modernism But like many New York intellectuals the essay was his characteristic form accommodating his multifarious interests and expressing his protean searching exuberant mind This collection includes early essays from and on the radical 60s on New York City on literary figures from Kafka to Pamuk and late essays on rock hip hop and gentrification Concluding with his last essay completed just before his death in 2013 this book is Berman's intellectual autobiography tracing his career as a thinker through the way he read the signs in the street

Hard Looks Sean Nixon, 2024-11-01 Hard Looks is a fascinating examination of the new masculine imagery that has developed in relation to popular consumption over the last decade the author skilfully investigates the development of this new man imagery and its relationship to contemporary formations of masculinity and masculine culture Focusing on the emergence in the mid 1980s of a wide range of new representations of masculinity in the retail advertising and publishing industries the author analyses the practices and derives used to underpin the production and circulation of this imagery The author traces the novelty of these commercially produced representations and analyses their role in producing a space for an ambivalent masculine sexual identity Drawing strongly on contemporary cultural theory Hard Looks combines stimulating theoretical debates on representation and cultural identity with authoritative empirical research on the media and retail industries This lively and innovative study will prove essential reading for sociologists interested in the study of men and masculinities and students of culture media and gender studies Of Farming and Classics David Grene,2008-05-15 A fiercely independent thinker colorful storyteller and spirited teacher David Grene devoted his life to two things farming which he began as a boy in Ireland and continued into old age and classics which he taught for several decades that culminated in his translating and editing with Richmond Lattimore of The Complete Greek Tragedies In this charming memoir which he wrote during the years leading up to his death in 2002 at the age of eighty nine Grene weaves together these interests to tell a quirky and absorbing story of the sometimes turbulent and always interesting life he split between the University of Chicago where he helped found the Committee on Social Thought and the farm he kept back in Ireland Charting the path that took him from Europe to Chicago in 1937 and encompassing his sixty five year career at the university Grene s book draws readers into the heady and invigorating climate of his time there And it is elegantly balanced with reflections stemming from his work on the farm where he hunted plowed and regularly traveled on horseback to bring his cows home for milking Grene s form and humor are quite his own and his brilliant storytelling will enthrall anyone interested in the classics rural Ireland or twentieth century intellectual history especially as it pertains to the University of Chicago

Television Cities Charlotte Brunson,2018-01-19 In Television Cities Charlotte Brunson traces television s representations of metropolitan spaces to show how they reflect the medium s history and evolution thereby challenging the prevalent assumptions about television as quintessentially suburban Brunson shows how the BBC s presentation of 1960s Paris in the detective series Maigret signals British culture s engagement with twentieth century modernity and continental Europe while various portrayals of London ranging from Dickens adaptations to the 1950s nostalgia of Call the Midwife demonstrate Britain s complicated transition from Victorian metropole to postcolonial social democracy Finally an analysis of The Wire s acclaimed examination of Baltimore marks the profound shifts in the ways television is now made and consumed Illuminating the myriad factors that make television cities Brunson complicates our understanding of how television shapes perceptions of urban spaces both familiar and unknown Readings in Contemporary Problems in the United States Horace

Possibilities of the City Katherine Smith,2021-03-02 Claes Oldenburg s commitment to familiar objects has shaped accounts of his career but his associations with Pop art and postwar consumerism have overshadowed another crucial aspect of his work In this revealing reassessment Katherine Smith traces Oldenburg s profound responses to shifting urban conditions framing his enduring relationship with the city as a critical perspective and conceiving his art as urban theory Smith argues that Oldenburg adapted lessons of context gleaned from New York s changing cityscape in the late 1950s to large scale objects and architectural plans By examining disparate projects from New York to Los Angeles she situates

Oldenburg's innovations in local geographies and national debates. In doing so, Smith illuminates patterns of urbanization through the important contributions of one of the leading artists in the United States. Kierkegaard and the Question Concerning Technology Christopher B. Barnett, 2019-08-22. Over the last several decades, technology has emerged as an important area of interest for both philosophers and theologians. Yet despite his status as one of modernity's seminal thinkers, Søren Kierkegaard is not often seen as one who contributed to the field. Kierkegaard and the Question Concerning Technology argues otherwise. Christopher B. Barnett shows that many of Kierkegaard's criticisms of the present age relate to the increasing dominance of technology in the West, and he puts Kierkegaard's thought in conversation with subsequent thinkers who grappled with technological issues, from Martin Heidegger to Thomas Merton. Barnett shows that Kierkegaard's writing, with its marked emphases on personal upbuilding, stands as a place where deeper, non-technical modes of thinking are both commended and nurtured. In doing so, Barnett presents a Kierkegaard who remains relevant, perhaps all too relevant, in today's digital age.

Spectacle and the City Jeroen Kloet, Lena Scheen, 2025-10-01. China is urbanizing at an unprecedented speed. Filmmakers, artists, musicians, and writers all try to come to terms with the changes of their city. How is the Chinese city as spectacle visualised and thus imagined and reimagined, if not contested, in art and popular culture? What are the possible escape routes from a completely commodified cityscape? How to realign artistic expressions of the spectacle with everyday practices? The imaginations of the Chinese city in art and popular culture that this book explores are not taken as merely mirroring or reflecting reality; on the contrary, they are part and parcel of the construction, destruction, and deconstruction of that reality. As such, these imaginations are enmeshed in the social, material, and political realities that produce Chinese cityscapes. Spectacle and the City: Chinese Urbanities in Art and Popular Culture brings together essays by an interdisciplinary team of experts on Chinese cities, including world-renowned scholars like Ackbar Abbas and Chua Beng Huat, as well as leading cultural critics like Ou Ning and Aiming. To steer away from an exclusive focus on Mainland China, the adjective "Chinese" has a cultural meaning and includes places like Singapore and Hong Kong.

Sapiens: A Graphic History Yuval Noah Harari, 2020-11-03. The ebook is designed to be read on devices with large color displays. The Kindle edition is incompatible with iOS. See below for a list of supported devices. New York Times Bestseller. The first volume of the graphic adaptation of Yuval Noah Harari's smash 1 New York Times and international bestseller, recommended by President Barack Obama and Bill Gates, with gorgeous full-color illustrations and concise, easy-to-comprehend text for adult and young adult readers alike. One hundred thousand years ago, at least six different species of humans inhabited Earth. Yet today there is only one: homo sapiens. What happened to the others? And what may happen to us? In this first volume of the full-color illustrated adaptation of his groundbreaking book, renowned historian Yuval Harari tells the story of humankind's creation and evolution exploring the ways in which biology and history have defined us and enhanced our understanding of what it means to be human From examining the role evolving humans have played in the global ecosystem to charting the rise of empires Sapiens challenges us to reconsider accepted beliefs connect past developments with contemporary concerns and view specific events within the context of larger ideas Featuring 256 pages of full color illustrations and easy to understand text covering the first part of the full length original edition this adaptation of the mind expanding book furthers the ongoing conversation as it introduces Harari's ideas to a wide new readership
