101 Ways I Have Tried to Make Money or Things I Learned After It Was Too Late Diana Dunaway, 2016-03-20
Written in short story format with self-deprecating humor this memoir chronicles the enterprises both off-beat and mundane of a serial entrepreneur. Her efforts to make money to buy the good things in life start at age five when she sells rocks to the neighbors long before pet rocks became a fad and no one has heard of a new age rock shop. The adventures continue from social worker to palm reader to hot air balloon pilot to bag lady with a mink coat selling frozen meat to computer programmer and beyond to retirement at age 68. The stories provide an easy-to-read How To list of ways the author has tried to make money often with hilarious and unexpected consequences. The list also includes some ways how not to make money. Although she is not a financial consultant and makes no claims to be one she shares her experience and offers opinions on what to do and not do based on her personal experience. 101 Ways to Make Money is both an inventive memoir and a money-making travelogue of adventures that are funny, insightful, and informative. As you follow the trail of the author's money-making life you'll laugh, you'll cry, and you'll wonder, "Why didn't I think of that?"

As Bad as They Say? Janet Grossbach Mayer, 2011. A riveting story about the resiliency of Bronx high school students through the eyes of a passionate and dedicated teacher. Rundown, vermin-infested buildings, rigid slow-to-react bureaucratic systems, children from broken homes and declining communities. How can a teacher succeed? How does a student not only survive but also come to thrive? It can happen. As Bad as They Say tells the heroic stories of Janet Mayer's students during her 33-year tenure as a Bronx high school teacher. In 1995 Janet Mayer's students began a pen-pal exchange with South African teenagers who under apartheid had been denied an education almost uniformly. The South Africans asked, "Is the Bronx as bad as they say?" This dedicated teacher promised those students and all future ones that she would write a book to help change the stereotypical image of Bronx students and show that in spite of overwhelming obstacles they are outstanding young people capable of the highest achievements. She walks the reader through the decrepit school building describing in graphic detail the deplorable physical conditions that students and faculty navigate daily. Then in eight chapters we meet eight amazing young people, a small sample of the more than 14,000 students the writer has felt honored to teach. She describes her own Bronx roots and the powerful influences that made her such a determined teacher. Finally the veteran teacher sounds the alarm to stop the corruption and degradation of public education in the guise of what are euphemistically labeled reforms: No Child Left Behind and Race to the Top. She also expresses optimism that public education and our democracy can still be saved, urgently calling on all to become involved and help save our schools.

Cities and Race David Wilson, 2007-01-24. This fascinating book examines the 1990s rise of a new black ghetto in rust-belt America, the global ghetto. It uses the emergent perspective of racial economy to delineate a fundamental proposition historically neglected and marginalized black ghettos in a 1990s era of societal boom and bust have become more impoverished more stigmatized and functionally ambiguous as areas As these ghettos grow in size and become more stigmatized entities in contemporary society our understanding of them in relation to evolving cities and society has not kept pace This book looks to the heart of this misunderstanding to find out how race and political economy in cities dynamically connect in new ways racial economy to deepen deprivation in these areas This book is an essential read for students of geography urban studies and sociology Redefining the Immigrant South Uzma
