Rationality Redeemed:

Rationality Redeemed? Harvey Siegel, 2013-12-19 In Educating Reason Harvey Siegel presented the case regarding rationality and critical thinking as fundamental education ideals In Rationality Redeemed a collection of essays written since that time he develops this view responds to major criticisms raised against it and engages those critics in dialogue In developing his ideas and responding to critics Siegel addresses main currents in contemporary thought including feminism postmodernism and multiculturalism Christian Theology and the Secular University Paul A. Macdonald, Jr., 2017-02-24 If the secular university by definition is non sectarian or non denominational then how can it accommodate a discipline like Christian theology Doesn't the traditional goal of theological study which is to attain knowledge of the divine fundamentally conflict with the main goal of secular academic study which is to attain knowledge about ourselves and the world in which we live So why should theology be admitted or even care about being admitted into secular academic life And even if theology were admitted what contribution to secular academic life could it make Working from a Christian philosophical and theological perspective but also engaging a wide range of theologians philosophers and religious studies scholars Christian Theology and the Secular University takes on these questions arguing that Christian theology does belong in the secular university because it provides distinct resources that the secular university needs if it is going to fulfill what should be its main epistemic and educative ends This book offers a fresh and unique perspective to scholars working in the disciplines of theology philosophy and religious studies and to those in other academic disciplines who are interested in thinking critically and creatively about the place and nature of theological study within the secular university Wittgenstein, Education and the Problem of Rationality Michael A. Peters, 2021-01-21 This book develops an argument for a historicist and non foundationalist notion of rationality based on an interpretation of Wittgenstein of the Philosophical Investigations and On Certainty The book examines two notions of rationality a universal versus a constitutive conception and their significance for educational theory The former advanced by analytic philosophy of education as a form of conceptual analysis is based on a mistaken reading of Wittgenstein Analytic philosophy of education used a reading of Wittgenstein's philosophy of language to set up and justify an absolute universal and ahistorical notion of rationality By contrast the book examines the underlying influence of the later Wittgenstein on the historicist turn in philosophy of science as a basis for a non foundationalist and constitutive notion of rationality which is both historical and cultural and remains consistent with wider developments in philosophy hermeneutics and social theory This book aims to understand the philosophical motivation behind this view to examine its intellectual underpinnings and to substitute this universal conception of rationality by reference to a Hegelian interpretation of the later Wittgenstein that emphasizes his status as an anti foundational thinker Anyone Who Has a View F.H. van Eemeren, J. Anthony Blair, Charles A. Willard, A. Francisca Snoeck Henkemans, 2012-12-06 This volume of the Argumentation Library contains a collection of twenty six theoretical contributions to the study of argumentation Together they provide an over view of recent developments in the theory of argumentation which does justice to the theoretical variety in the field In Anyone Who Has a View the subject of argumentation is approached from different angles Both the formal and informal logical approaches and the rhetorical and communicative approaches are represented in various ways We are convinced that the collection of essays as a whole will be of interest not only to those engaged directly in the study of argumentation but also to scholars from a variety of disciplines who are interested in the recent developments in this field The book opens with an essay by the informal logician Robert C Pinto For all the differences between them James B Freeman Harvey Siegel Ralph H Johnson Hans V Hansen and J Anthony Blair are also prominent members of that movement Some informal logicians either eschew or simply do not use formal methods in their approach to argumentation while others such as David Hitchcock use both formal and informal methods Erik C W Krabbe is a logician who proudly defends a formal dialectical approach to argumentation Daniel H Cohen Frans H van Eemeren Peter Houtlosser Fred J Kauffeld C Scott Jacobs Christian Kock Christian Plantin Sorin Stati Chris Reed Douglas N

How Do You Know? J.M. Beach, 2017-11-13 This book defines the concept and practices of literacy through a discussion of knowledge information media culture subjectivity science communication and politics Examining the ways in which the spread of literacy and education have caused culture wars in pluralist societies since the 16th century the author reviews an interdisciplinary array of scholarly literature to contend that science and more broadly evidence based inductive arguments offer the only reliable source information and the only peaceful solution to cultural conflict in the 21st century With a focus on the multifaceted practice of literacy as communication as embedded within larger social and political processes this book offers a comprehensive study of literacy through five core topics knowledge psychology culture science and arguing over truth in pluralist democracies The central thesis of the book argues that we require a new literacy that incorporates reading and writing with advanced cognitive and epistemological skills Today's citizens need to be able to understand the basic cognitive and cultural processes through which knowledge is created and they need to know how to evaluate knowledge peacefully debate knowledge and productively use knowledge for both personal decisions and public policy How Do You Know The Epistemological Foundations of 21st Century Literacy is an interdisciplinary study that will appeal to scholars across the sciences and humanities especially those concerned with pedagogy and the science of learning

Freedom and Indoctrination in Education Ben Spiecker,Roger Straughan,1991

Person and Good Janez Juhant,Bojan Žalec,2006 From the old times on doubtless ethics presents an important part of philosophy mainly as guidance for solving practical problems In the times of big social changes the ethical questions arise anew The current times of scientific and technological radical changes of globalization and instability demand up to date ethical discussion and answers According to all the differences in the world which occur because of the media and technological capabilities present in the consciousness of ordinary people one should ask himself how to find the directions of the action and activity of an individual

of people of humanity And as a result of the rapid development of scientific and technological power the things are becoming more and more complicated and potentially dangerous What was in the past solved only by God and by the nature itself it is today also essentially influenced by humans themselves Hence the ethics and morality are far more important as they used to be and they concern the survival of humanity as such However the authors in this book have been trying to face these problems The True Christian Religion Emanuel Swedenborg,1881 Reflections of Tasawwuf Charles Upton,2008 Sufism is the practice of remaining aware of the real presence of God in every circumstance until Certainty is reached The dizzying complexity of Sufi metaphysics the passionate beauty of Sufi poetry and the profound Sufi science of spiritual psychology are all based on this The Sufi Path is the process of spiritual transformation ultimately resulting God willing in self transcendence produced by the Certainty of God's presence In traditional Muslim society many different moral intellectual and spiritual functions were performed by those estates responsible for maintaining them Parents imams and grammar school teachers transmitted the fundamental ritual and moral principles of Islamic society The madrasas took care of such traditional sciences as Qur'anic exegesis and the study of prophetic ahadith The schools of fiqh maintained and applied the shari'ah The mutakallimiin developed and taught kalam Islamic scholastic theology The falasifa or philosophers carried on an intellectual tradition largely inherited from the Greeks The ishraqiyyun developed a mystical theosophy based on direct spiritual insight Physicians employed systems of healing derived in part from metaphysics Poets often transmitted sophisticated spiritual lore many other traditional craftsmen did the same The mathematicians astronomers and other scientists sought to uncover the Signs of God in numbers in geometrical shapes and in the heavens And the alchemists worked on the reconstitution of the original human form al fitra in psycho physical terms So when a seeker applied for admittance to a Sufi tariqa he likely knew his Goal The lower rungs of the ladder of moral intellectual and spiritual aspiration were clearly defined and largely taken care of consequently the aspirant to Sufi initiation could be more certain than he was seeking God Alone In modern semi Muslim societies however things are not so clear And as for those Sufi tariqas that have emigrated to the West and the individuals who seek admittance to them the situation is even more ambiguous The traditional supports for a collective worldview that places God first and sees His hand in everything are no longer readily available and no one whose worldview is basically secular can follow the Sufi path as the great Sufis of the past once did In the secular West especially Sufi tariqas lack the exoteric religious culture in relation to which they could be truly esoteric without the Zahir one might say there can be no Batin Therefore This book is not so much a text on Sufism itself as an attempt woefully inadequate to indicate certain elements of the original context that allowed Sufism to be what it is
