Subject: File naming protocols

From: Konstantin Babichev

Team,

Please, it is IMPOSSIBLE to keep assets organized when we aren't following the naming protocols that we ALL AGREED ON when we kicked off this project. Surely I needn't remind you that these files are sent out to fabrication and production partners, used for multi-million dollar COX spots, etc. Version control is massively important, and it becomes unreasonably complicated when we have folders full of files that look like this:

Billboard_Crosby@_NewCampaign_First_v01_Alt_v01_FINAL_FINAL.psd

This is very unprofessional, and could result in a catastrophically expensive, embarrassing mistake.

Please, please, PLEASE review the file naming protocols we agreed on. I've attached them again for your convenience. Please surprise me by reading, understanding, and implementing them.

I promise I don't enjoy writing these emails.

Yours in sandy-colored rage,

Konstantin

Frankétienne and Rewriting Rachel Douglas, 2009-06-16 Rewriting in the context of critical work on Caribbean literature has tended to be used to discuss revisionism from a variety of postcolonial perspectives such as rewriting history or rewriting canonical texts By shifting the focus to how Caribbean writers return to their own works in order to rework them this book offers theoretical considerations to postcolonial studies on literariness in relation to the near obsessive degree of rewriting to which Caribbean writers have subjected their own literary texts Focusing specifically on Frank tienne this book offers an overview of how the defining aesthetic and thematic components of Frank tienne s major works have emerged over the course of his forty year writing career It reveals the marked development of key notions guiding his literary creation since the 1960s and demonstrates that rewriting illustrates the central aesthetic of the Spiral which has always shaped his uvre It is the book argues the constantly moving form of the Spiral which Frank tienne explores through his constant reworking of his previously written texts Frank tienne and Rewriting negotiates between the literary and material ends of the burgeoning field of postcolonial studies arguing that literary characteristics in Frank tienne connect with changing political social economic and cultural circumstances in the Haiti he rewrites
