Re Thinking History:

Rethinking History Keith Jenkins, 2003-12-16 The perfect introduction to the discipline of history It guides the reader through the controversies and debates that surround historical thinking and offers readers the means to make their own discoveries

Re-thinking History Keith Jenkins, Alun Munslow, 2003 History means many things to many people But finding an answer to the question What is history is a task few feel equipped to answer If you want to explore this tantalising subject where do you start What are the critical skills you need to begin to make sense of the past The perfect introduction to this thought provoking area Jenkins clear and concise prose guides readers through the controversies and debates that surround historical thinking at the present time providing them with the means to make their own discoveries

Experiments in Rethinking History Alun Munslow, Robert A. Rosenstone, 2004 From two of the world's leading postmodern historians this thoroughly original collection of articles allows students and researchers to understand and learn important new ways of thinking and writing about the past This book includes a thorough two part introduction on theory and practice as well as introductory material in each section that allows the reader to fully engage with the theoretical aspects of the book It provides a deeper understanding of how to engage with the past today Fourteen thought provoking experimental pieces of historical writing tackle subjects as diverse as lynching in South Carolina the life of an eighteenth century Marquise and a journey to a string of Pacific islands and demonstrates how little considered factors such as the impact of emotions authorial subjectivity the confining character of boundaries and even a sense of boredom with conventional historical writing practices can intrude on historical practice This text works as a Reader companion alongside the Routledge best seller Rethinking History and provides students with an innovative engaging and easy to read research tool to enhance all history related course studies

Authoring the Past Alun Munslow, 2012-11-12 Please explain why you think about and write history as you do Collecting together the responses to this question from 15 of the world's foremost historians and theorists Authoring the Past represents a powerful reflection on and intervention in the historiographical field Edited by Alun Munslow and presented in concise digestible essays the collection covers a broad range of contemporary interests and ideas and offers a rich set of reasoned alternative thoughts on our cultural engagement with times gone by Emerging from an intensely fertile period of historical thought and practice Authoring the Past examines the variety of approaches to the discipline that have taken shape during this time and suggests possible future ways of thinking about and interacting with the past It provides a unique insight into recent debates on the nature and purpose of history and demonstrates that when diverse metaphysical and aesthetic choices are made the nature of the representation of the past becomes a matter of legitimate dispute Students scholars and practitioners of history will find it a stimulating and invaluable resource

A History of History Alun Munslow, 2012-12-20 In a provocative analysis of European and American historical thinking and practice since the early 18th century A History of History confronts several basic assumptions about the nature of history Among these are the concept of historical realism the belief in representationalism and the idea that the past possesses its own narrative What is offered in this book is a far reaching and fundamental rethinking of realist and representationalist history of a particular kind by addressing and explaining the ideas of major philosophers of history over the past three hundred years and those of the key theorists of today In pursuing this radical analysis the understanding of history as a narrative is evaluated along with contemporary notions such as the continuing presence of the past and the idea of its lessons Written by one of the leading thinkers on the subject A History of History provides an accessible and radical history of history while offering new insights into the pressing questions of the nature purpose and function of history This book is an essential text for all students teachers and consumers of history Why History? Keith Jenkins,1999 The author aims to show through a series of case studies of Derrida and others that postmodern ways of thinking signal the end of history history especially when taken in either of two forms the metanarrative on the one hand and the professional academic form on the other introd

Experiments in Rethinking History Alun Munslow,Robert A. Rosenstone,2004 History is a narrative discourse full of unfinished stories This collection of innovative and experimental pieces of historical writing shows there are fascinating and important new ways of thinking and writing about the past Thinking Like a Historian Nikki Mandell,Bobbie Malone,2013-06-19 Thinking Like a Historian will help you bring history to your classroom and reenergize your teaching of this crucial discipline in new ways A group of experienced Wisconsin historians and educators representing elementary through university levels developed and piloted this framework The Thinking Like a Historian charts which are the centerpiece of Thinking Like a Historian were created by condensing into simplified and easily remembered language the combined expertise of the historical profession as expressed in the published standards of the American Historical Association the Organization of American Historians the National Council for History Education the National History Standards and state standards for Wisconsin and California Thinking Like a Historian is the fruit of our thinking and practice grounded in the highest standards of the discipline designed to stimulate your own thinking planning and teaching Adapt or draw inspiration from the examples for engaging and effective lessons and classroom activities Return again and again to the common language of Thinking Like a Historian as a foundation that can connect and develop students curiosity about and understand of history throughout their school years As history educators we wholeheartedly embrace the responsibility and opportunity to guide the next generation to think more deeply about the past to think like historians Rethinking History, Science, and Religion Bernard Lightman,2019-10-03 The historical interface between science and religion was depicted as an unbridgeable conflict in the last quarter of the nineteenth century Starting in the 1970s such a conception was too simplistic and not at all accurate when considering the totality of that relationship This volume evaluates the utility of the complexity principle in past present and future scholarship First put forward by historian John Brooke over twenty five years ago the complexity principle rejects the idea of a single thesis of conflict or harmony or integration or separation between science and religion Rethinking History Science and Religion brings together an interdisciplinary group of scholars at the forefront of their fields to consider whether new approaches to the study of science and culture such as recent developments in research on science and the history of publishing the global history of science the geographical examination of space and place and science and media have cast doubt on the complexity thesis or if it remains a serviceable historiographical model The Jesus of History Terrot Reaveley Glover,1927 The New History Alun Munslow,2016-09-17 The notion of history has always been one strenuously debated by both academics and the wider population This deeply provocative re thinking of our engagement with the past by one of the world s leading post modern historians takes that debate one step further Alun Munslow re assesses history in the light of post modernism and other intellectual challenges which have questioned the primacy of the modernist epistemology of empiricism In an original and stimulating vision of history that will intrigue all those seriously interested in the subject Munslow argues that history is not only about the sources but a literary construction Munslow concludes that history as a cultural narrative about the past can never tell us what the past really means This far reaching conclusion is based on the radical idea that the content of history is defined as much by the nature of the language used to represent and interpret that content as it is by research into the sources This suggests that history does not produce the most likely meaning of the past but rather can only generate alternative meanings The lead volume in a major new series on historical thinking and practice this is an accessible yet absorbing study that breaks new ground in discussing the stage history is at now and perhaps most engagingly the direction it will take in the future Rethinking the Disciplines ,1992 The Works of William Makepeace Thackeray: The history of Pendennis William Makepeace Thackeray,1899 The Philosophy of History in France and Germany Robert Flint,1874 A History of the National Cordage Company Arthur Stone Dewing,1913 The New Natural History John Arthur Thomson,1926 Current History and Forum ... ,1917 A catechism on gospel history Samuel Kettlewell,1878 Current History ,1925 Minutes of Evidence Cape of Good Hope (South Africa).
