European Review of Social Psychology is an annual series that reflects the dynamism of social psychology in Europe and has been widely accepted as one of the most important international series in social psychology. The series is open to authors from all nations and its primary purpose is to further the international exchange of ideas by providing an outlet for substantial accounts of theoretical and empirical work. With the help of an editorial board consisting of senior scholars from various European countries, Australasia, and North America, the editors invite outstanding researchers to contribute to these volumes. Invitations are based either on suggestions from editorial board members or made in response to proposals submitted to the editors. The emphasis of these contributions is on critical assessment of major areas of research and of substantial individual programmes of research as well as on topics and initiatives of contemporary interest and originality.

Moskowitz, 2013-05-13 A comprehensive overview of the mechanisms involved in how cognitive processes determine thought and behavior toward the social world. Cognitive Social Psychology examines cognition as a motivated process wherein cognition and motivation are seen as intertwined. It reviews the latest research on stereotyping, prejudice, and the ability to control these phenomena, providing invaluable information to managers who need to prevent against bias in the workplace and provides a current analysis of classic problems/issues in social psychology such as cognitive dissonance, the fundamental attribution error, social identity, stereotyping, social comparison, heuristic processing, the self-concept, assimilation and contrast effects, and goal pursuit. Intended for psychology and management students as well as social cognitive and industrial/organizational psychologists in both academic and applied settings, this new book is also an ideal text for courses in social cognition due to its cohesive structure. In Search of Psyche Douglas P.
