Lost Language:

Three Introductory Lectures on the Science of Language Friedrich Max Müller, 1899 An Exploration of a New Poetic Expression Beyond Dichotomy Shin'ichiro Ishikawa, 2004 This study attempts to re evaluate Lawrence s poetry which has often been read as a set of biographical documents or supplementary notes to his novels as fully independent literary work in the light of post modern critical theory The author carefully examines how Lawrence needed to misread his precursors the nineteenth century Romantics to establish himself as one of the modern poets What separates his poetry from his precursors is his self consciousness as a modern poet His search for radical freedom in language and his meta poetic exploration of a new poetic expression make him a true pioneer of the terra incognita in English poetry

Studies in Urhobo Culture Peter Palmer Ekeh, 2005 This unique book is the product of pioneering research carried out by scholars native to the Urhobo culture and language Unlike many of the other major ethnic cultures in Nigeria which were studied by Western anthropologist in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries the Urhobo language and culture remained neglected Studies in Urhobo Culture represents a comparatively new area of research approached from an indigenous perspective The result is a wide ranging survey of Urhobo culture in Nigeria offering diverse perspectives on topics such as naming traditions and practices of the Urhobo religious beliefs values and movements traditions of marriage artistic productions food and dress subcultures and the geography of Urhoboland and agricultural practices In depth consideration is given to Urhobo traditional poetry and the intellectual aspects of Urhobo culture and language within the wider complex of the Edoid languages and cultures The contributors further situate the language question within the global context of language endangerment arguing the Urhobo case is an example of how English and Pidgin are imperilling small and medium sized languages in Africa and weakening the hold of indigenous cultures on the younger generation

The Bilingual Brain Arturo E. Hernandez, 2013-08-22 Cases of language loss and recovery bring up an intriguing paradox If two languages are stored in the brain how can it be that a person can lose one of them but not the other and then gain one back without relearning it The traditional models of how a language is represented in the brain suggest that languages can become inaccessible even though they are not entirely lost As the author demonstrates through fascinating cases stress whether due to foreign language immersion sleep deprivation or brain damage can lead to the apparent loss of one language but not the other Arturo Hernandez presents the results of 25 years of research into the factors that might help us to understand how two or more languages are stored in one brain It is clear that the brain is not egalitarian some languages are privileged and others are not but why Hernandez will extend recent work that has begun to take a biological or natural systems approach He proposes that in bilinguals two languages live inside a brain almost like two species live in an ecosystem For the most part they peacefully co exist and often share resources But they also compete for resources particularly when under stress Although there are still many questions to answer and many puzzles to solve Hernandez argues that the nonlinear dynamical models which have been used to uncover the underlying mechanisms seen in natural systems and more recently in language and cognition can be used to shed considerable light on the neural bases of bilingualism

The Poetics of Reading Eitel Friedrich Timm, Kenneth Mendoza, 1993 Situates the act of critical reading in the context of poetic aesthetics This volume situates the act of critical reading in the context of poetic aesthetics Running alongside recent post structuralist theories the textuality of such matters as literary discourse history media philosophy and religion has emerged as a focal point of debate in the humanities The essays here examine how questions of the canon genres and transformation of texts challenge the present epistemological situation taking an interdisciplinary approach to textual readings their methodology is drawn from a range of literary figures and critics including Lessing Kafka Walter Benjamin and Derrida The study also addresses the controversial predicament of subjectivity as one of the key terms in current literary and historical scholarship

Convergence: English and Nigerian Languages Ndimele, Ozo-mekuri, 2016-02-22 The present volume which is the 5th in the Nigerian Linguists Festschrift Series is devoted to Professor Munzali A Jibril a celebrated icon in university administration and an erudite Professor of English Linguistics The title of this special edition was specifically chosen to crown Professor Jibril's academic prowess in both English and indigenous Nigerian languages and to mark and laud his official departure from active university lectureship 72 assessed papers are included from the many submitted Papers cover the main theme of the volume i e the interaction between English and indigenous Nigerian languages and there are a number of papers on other secular areas of linguistics such as language and history language planning and policy language documentation language engineering lexicography translation gender studies language acquisition language teaching and learning pragmatics discourse and conversational analysis and literature in English and African languages There is also a rich section devoted to the major traditional fields of linguistics phonology morphology syntax and semantics
