Patterns in Post-Soviet Leadership Timothy J. Colton,Robert C. Implementing Health Sector Reform in Central Asia Zuzana Feachem,Martin Hensher,Laura Rose,1999 It is easy for reformers and their overseas advisers to develop conceptually strong plans for health sector reform that appeal to governments donors and academics Transforming these plans into successful action has proved to be extremely difficult Toward the goal of improving assistance to this sector the Economic Development Institute EDI of the World Bank held a seminar in Ashgabat Turkmenistan in June 1996 This publication provides a summary of the proceedings and papers presented at that seminar It was attended by delegations from five countries in Central Asia and from Azerbaijan and Mongolia The content of this volume emphasizes topics central to the restructuring of health sector financing and health care delivery systems at a time of transition to market economies and to democracy Maintaining and improving the health status of the population while preventing rapid escalation of health care expenditure were the recurrent themes throughout the seminar

Modern Hatreds Stuart J. Kaufman, 2015-06-22 Ethnic conflict has been the driving force of wars all over the world yet it remains an enigma What is it about ethnicity that breaks countries apart and drives people to acts of savage violence against their lifelong neighbors Stuart Kaufman rejects the notion of permanent ancient hatreds as the answer Dissatisfied as well with a purely rationalist explanation he finds the roots of ethnic violence in myths and symbols the stories ethnic groups tell about who they are Ethnic wars Kaufman argues result from the politics of these myths and symbols appeals to flags and faded glories that aim to stir emotions rather than to address interests Popular hostility based on these myths impels groups to follow extremist leaders invoking such emotion laden ethnic symbols If ethnic domination becomes their goal ethnic war is the likely result Kaufman examines contemporary ethnic wars in the Caucasus and southeastern Europe Drawing on information from a variety of sources including visits to the regions and dozens of personal interviews he demonstrates that diplomacy and economic incentives are not enough to prevent or end ethnic wars The key to real conflict resolution is peacebuilding the often overlooked effort by nongovernmental organizations to change hostile attitudes at both the elite and the grassroots levels then analyses how normative and institutional components of democracy have fared under Putin's regime of stronger executive control. It proceeds to examine the strengths and weaknesses of presidential power vis-à-vis bureaucratic, regional and corporate groups. The volume concludes with two assessments of the strategic direction in which Putin is taking Russia. They explore the tensions between bureaucratic authoritarian trends and Putin's apparent commitment to electoral democracy, market capitalism and alignment with the West. The book helps to deepen our understanding of the cultural and institutional factors shaping Putin's leadership approach and policy priorities. More widely it sheds light on the complexity of the relationship between post-communist leadership, democracy and economic modernization.
