In a Mysterious Way Anne Warner,1909 The War Ledger A. F. K. Organski,Jacek Kugler,1980 The War Ledger provides fresh sophisticated answers to fundamental questions about major modern wars Why do major wars begin What accounts for victory or defeat in war How do victory and defeat influence the recovery of the combatants Are the rules governing conflict behavior between nations the same since the advent of the nuclear era The authors find such well known theories as the balance of power and collective security systems inadequate to explain how conflict erupts in the international system Their rigorous empirical analysis proves that the power transition theory hinging on economic social and political growth is more accurate it is the differential rate of growth of the two most powerful nations in the system the dominant nation and the challenger that destabilizes all members and precipitates world wars Predictions of who will win or lose a war the authors find depend not only on the power potential of a nation but on the capability of its political systems to mobilize its resources the political capacity indicator After examining the aftermath of major conflicts the authors identify national growth as the determining factor in a nation s recovery With victory national capabilities may increase or decrease with defeat losses can be enormous Unexpectedly however in less than two decades losers make up for their losses and all combatants find themselves where they would have been had no war occurred Finally the authors address the question of nuclear arsenals They find that these arsenals do not make the difference that is usually assumed Nuclear weapons have not changed the structure of power on which international politics rests Nor does the behavior of participants in nuclear confrontation meet the expectations set out in deterrence theory Loser's Ledge Michael J.
