Navajo Joe:

Navajo Talking Picture Randolph Lewis,2012-07-01 Navajo Talking Picture released in 1985 is one of the earliest and most controversial works of Native cinema It is a documentary by Los Angeles filmmaker Arlene Bowman who travels to the Navajo reservation to record the traditional ways of her grandmother in order to understand her own cultural heritage For reasons that have often confused viewers the filmmaker persists despite her traditional grandmother s forceful objections to the apparent invasion of her privacy What emerges is a strange and thought provoking work that abruptly calls into question the issue of insider versus outsider and other assumptions that have obscured the complexities of Native art Randolph Lewis offers an insightful introduction and analysis of Navajo Talking Picture in which he shows that it is not simply the first Navajo produced film but also a path breaking work in the history of indigenous media in the United States Placing the film in a number of revealing contexts including the long history of Navajo people working in Hollywood the ethics of documentary filmmaking and the often problematic reception of Native art Lewis explores the tensions and mysteries hidden in this unsettling but fascinating film

Karim, 2006-05 Until recently Iranian literature has overwhelmingly been the domain of men But in the twenty seven years since the Iranian revolution women both in Iran and in the diaspora have written and published in unprecedented numbers The new hybrid cultures of Iranian diaspora writers has given way to a uniquely feminine literary voice the Iranian diaspora is an extensive collection of poetry fiction and nonfiction that explores through literature the influences of history revolution war exile and immigration The work in this collection uncovers an emerging multicultural generation of female sensibility and eloquence Unlike the tired familiar images of Iran in the media these women write about the complicated spaces between cultures and capture a unique and still emerging literature They challenge both the patriarchal literary tradition of Iran and the singular portrayals in the West of Iranian women as veiled silent and lacking in agency published before from over fifty contributors including such well known writers as Susan Atefat Peckham Tara Bahrapour Firoozeh Dumas Azadeh Moaveni and Farnoosh Moshiri the collection represents a substantial cross section of this unique multicultural community Organized around six general themes including home and away family and tradition gender politics love and silence Let Me Tell You Where I ve Been creates a rich conversation about Iran Iranian culture the Persian and English languages and the dual identities of its authors In a time when Iran is cited daily in the news and political rhetoric is at an all time high this collection offers a complex and humanizing literary representation These writers bring their individual and collective vision and offer a powerful new voice to the international literary scene
