With an Introduction by Thomas Hart Benton ... Illustrated Harry J. HAHN,1946 The American Leonardo John Brewer,2009-10-05 In 1919 a returning World War I veteran named Harry Hahn and his French bride attempted to sell what they thought was a painting by Leonardo Da Vinci in New York Renowned art dealer Sir Joseph Duveen declared the picture La Belle Ferronni re a fake without ever seeing the canvas The Hahns sued Duveen for slander setting off a legal battle that would last for decades In The American Leonardo John Brewer traces the twisting path of the Hahn La Belle a painting of famously uncertain origin as he illuminates the workings of the twentieth century art market exploring such larger questions about the art world such as how attributions are made how they affect both the status and value of artworks and how the entire system of art dealers curators and connoisseurs authenticates works of art In the early twentieth century new methods of scientific analysis developed which meant that for the first time the critical eye of the connoisseur had to contend with an emerging array of scientific and forensic tests that however crude at their inception promised a degree of objectivity and reliability unattainable before Brewer shows how the tension between the two methods of attribution lay at the heart of the Hahn La Belle dispute which continues to this day The painting currently languishes in an Omaha storage vault awaiting the resolution of the most recent lawsuit For artists and art lovers collectors and curators and for anyone who s ever stood in front of a painting and wondered about its story The American Leonardo offers a discerning and entertaining view into the art world The Publishers Weekly ,1946 Records and Briefs New York State Appellate Division , Hearing on Violence, Crime and Campus Security Measures in California's Colleges and Universities California.
