Rising Seas:

Rising Seas Vivien Gornitz, 2013 The Earth's climate is already warming due to increased concentrations of human produced greenhouse gases in the atmosphere and the specter of rising sea level is one of global warming's most far reaching threats Sea level will keep rising long after greenhouse gas emissions have ceased because of the delay in penetration of surface warming to the ocean depths and because of the slow dissipation of excess atmospheric carbon dioxide Adopting a long perspective that interprets sea level changes both underway and expected in the near future Vivien Gornitz completes a highly relevant and necessary study of an unprecedented age in Earth's history Gornitz consults past climate archives to help better anticipate future developments and prepare for them more effectively She focuses on several understudied historical events including the Paleocene Eocene Thermal Anomaly the Messinian salinity crisis the rapid filling of the Black Sea which may have inspired the story of Noah's flood and the Storrega submarine slide an incident possibly connected to a sea level occurrence roughly 8 000 years old By examining dramatic variations in past sea level and climate Gornitz concretizes the potential consequences of rapid human induced warming She builds historical precedent for coastal hazards associated with a higher ocean level such as increased damage from storm surge flooding even if storm characteristics remain unchanged Citing the examples of Rotterdam London New York City and other forward looking urban centers that are effectively preparing for higher sea level Gornitz also delineates the difficult economic and political choices of curbing carbon emissions while underscoring through past geological analysis the urgent need to do so

Rising Sea Levels Hunt Janin, Scott A. Mandia, 2012-10-09 The fundamental point of this book is that in the past the world's political economic military and social development took place during a time of relatively stable sea level That time however is now over The world must begin to cope with rising seas This book is a wide ranging introductory survey It addresses global warming the hydrologic cycle why we should care about the rise of the oceans storm surges and other extreme events the changing seas and their shorelines cities and countries of the Atlantic Pacific and Indian ocean basins the West Antarctic Ice Sheet and the Greenland Ice Sheet case studies on how the Netherlands and the U S plan to cope with sea level rise the likely impacts of this rise getting to know the experts on sea level rise and very long term prospects for the world's shorelines

Rising Seas Martin Ince, 2013-11-05 Recent and dramatic flooding in places as far apart as Bangladesh and North Wales are example of what could become commonplace if sea levels rise Most scientists are predicting a rise of about one metre and this book based on research carried out for the Commonwealth governments describes in simple terms what is likely to happen as a result and where the worst effects will be Martin Ince a well known scientific journalist deals with the accuracy of our knowledge and the possible errors in assessment He considers the different kinds of damage that higher seas could cause inundation increased salination coral damage increased flood and surge damage and so on Brief case studies are included covering the UK the Maldives North America Bangladesh Guyana Kiribati The Netherlands Italy Egypt and

Australasia The book ends with an examination of the scientific and technical developments which could make the problems easier to deal with and above all set out the policies on which governments must agree Originally published in 1990
