Making The Difference:

Making the Difference Dean Ashenden, RW Connell, 2020-07-29 First published in 1982 Making the Difference has become a classic in the study of education and of Australian society Hailed on publication as certainly the most interesting book written about Australian schools in a very long time and arguably the most important it has since been recognised as one of the 10 most influential works of Australian sociology not just a major argument and a classic point of reference but an event an intervention in ways of doing research and speaking to practice a methodology a textual style it was designed to be read by a much wider audience than the standard sociological text and it has succeeded Making the Difference draws on a detailed study of the schools and homes of the powerful and the wealthy and of ordinary wage earners It allows children parents and teachers to speak for themselves and from what they say it develops strikingly new ways of understanding educational inequality of how the class and gender systems work and of schools and their social roles Equality of opportunity co education and relevant and meaningful curriculum are all questioned sympathetically but incisively Ranging across educational policy from system level to the everyday experience of kids and teachers from the problems of schooling to the production of class and gender relations this path breaking combination of theory research and politics remains engaging thought provoking and relevant Nine Best Practices That Make the Difference Brian M. Pete, Robin J. Fogarty, 2003-01-01

Twelve Brain Principles That Make the Difference Brian M. Pete, Robin J. Fogarty, 2003-01-01 Twelve Brain Principles That Make the Difference by Brian Pete and Robin Fogarty is about how the brain learns best and all the things teachers can do to facilitate the learning part of the teaching scene This book presents a unique organization of Renate and Geoffrey Caine s twelve brain principles The twelve principles are arranged in four specific quadrants Each quadrant speaks to a particular aspect of the high achieving classroom and highlights how instructional decisions are governed by the twelve principles Making All the Difference Martha Minow, 2016-10-01 Should a court order medical treatment for a severely disabled newborn in the face of the parents refusal to authorize it How does the law apply to a neighborhood that objects to a group home for developmentally disabled people Does equality mean treating everyone the same even if such treatment affects some people adversely Does a state requirement of employee maternity leave serve or violate the commitment to gender equality Martha Minow takes a hard look at the way our legal system functions in dealing with people on the basis of race gender age ethnicity religion and disability Minow confronts a variety of dilemmas of difference resulting from contradictory legal strategies strategies that attempt to correct inequalities by sometimes recognizing and sometimes ignoring differences Exploring the historical sources of ideas about difference she offers challenging alternative ways of conceiving of traits that legal and social institutions have come to regard as different She argues in effect for a constructed jurisprudence based on the ability to recognize and work with perceptible forms of difference Minow is passionately interested in the people different people whose lives are regularly mis shaped and mis directed by the legal system s ways of handling them Drawing on literary and feminist theories and the insights of anthropology and social history she identifies the unstated assumptions that tend to regenerate discrimination through the very reforms that are supposed to eliminate it Education for handicapped children conflicts between job and family responsibilities bilingual education Native American land claims these are among the concrete problems she discusses from a fresh angle of vision Minow firmly rejects the prevailing conception of the self that she believes underlies legal doctrine a self seen as either separate and autonomous or else disabled and incompetent in some way In contrast she regards the self as being realized through connection capable of shaping an identity only in relationship to other people She shifts the focus for problem solving from the different person to the relationships that construct that difference and she proposes an analysis that can turn difference from a basis of stigma and a rationale for unequal treatment into a point of human connection The meanings of many differences can change when people locate and revise their relationships to difference she asserts The student in a wheelchair becomes less different when the building designed without him in mind is altered to permit his access Her book evaluates contemporary legal theories and reformulates legal rights for women children persons with disabilities and others historically identified as different Here is a powerful voice for change speaking to issues that permeate our daily lives and form a central part of the work of law By illuminating the many ways in which people differ from one another this book shows how lawyers political theorist teachers parents students every one of us can make all the difference

Free Will, Agency, and Meaning in Life Derk

Pereboom,2014-01-31 Derk Pereboom articulates and defends an original conception of moral responsibility He argues that if determinism were true we would not be morally responsible in the key basic desert sense at issue in the free will debate but that we would also lack this kind of moral responsibility if indeterminism were true and the causes of our actions were exclusively states or events It is possible that if we were undetermined agent causes if we as substances had the power to cause decisions without being causally determined to cause them we would have this kind of free will But although our being undetermined agent causes has not been ruled out as a coherent possibility it s not credible given our best physical theories Pereboom then contends that a conception of life without the free will required for moral responsibility in the basic desert sense would nevertheless allow for a different forward looking conception of moral responsibility He also argues that our lacking this sort of free will would not jeopardize our sense of ourselves as agents capable of rational deliberation that it is compatible with adequate measures for dealing with crime and other threatening behavior and that it allows for a robust sense of achievement and meaning in life Pereboom's arguments for this position are reconfigured relative to those presented in Living without Free Will 2001 important objections to these arguments are answered and the development of the positive view is significantly embellished ASME Transactions American Society of Mechanical Engineers,1916
