

Mametz Wood Somme

Sir Muirhead Bone

Mametz Wood Somme:

Welsh on the Somme Michael Renshaw, 2015 The Battle for Mametz Wood is normally associated with the endeavors of the 38th Welsh Division and was the first of those great battles to secure possession of the woodlands of the Somme The author looks at events after the 1st July but also relates the story of the 17th Northern Division who attacked the quadrangle a defensive system guarding the western approaches to the wood Also related is the demise of both generals commanding these divisions who were sent home

Mametz Wood Michael Renshaw, 1999 Mametz Wood covers the area where the struggles of the summer of 1916 were considered vital to the development and overall success of the Somme battle This the largest of the woods has to be taken before the next stage of the battle could proceed It was to cost much in blood and reputations to those who fought there especially the Welsh battalions who suffered so many casualties as they struggled to overcome the approaches to the German second line Page 4 of cover

The Welsh at Mametz Wood Jonathan Phillip Hicks, 2016 This work is a new interpretation of the First World War battle for Mametz Wood in July 1916 telling the story of those terrible days from the viewpoint of soldiers on both sides It uses primary sources including personal accounts and photographs which are published for the first time

Silent General Don Farr, 2007 This biography assesses Henry Horne's relationship with Haig and the Canadian Corps It also evaluates his contribution to the technical advances of the artillery during the war and describes the battles which he conducted It attempts to accord to Henry Horne the recognition and credit that he deserves but which has been withheld Whether or not Henry Sinclair Horne was the silent General he might lay claim to being the forgotten General of the Western Front His self effacement in a profession not renowned for shrinking violets undoubtedly made its contribution to his relative anonymity he wrote no memoirs nor kept anything more than sketchy diaries

The Silent General - Horne of the First Army Don Farr, 2007-06-08 Whether or not Henry Sinclair Horne was the silent General he might certainly if he were still alive lay claim to being the forgotten General of the Western Front His self effacement in a profession not renowned for shrinking violets undoubtedly made its contribution to his relative anonymity he wrote no memoirs nor kept anything more than sketchy diaries but it is still surprising that such an important contributor to the defeat of the German army in the Great War has not until now received the attentions of a biographer After a customary slow start in the late Victorian army Henry Horne first made an impact during the Boer War fortuitously as it was to turn out under the eyes of a Colonel Douglas Haig By the outbreak of the Great War Henry Horne was a Brigadier General Two years later he was a full General in command of the BEF's First Army His was one of the most rapid elevations to top rank recorded in the war In the two years he spent as an army commander he commanded the brilliant capture of Vimy Ridge the desperate defensive Battle of the Lys the successful assault on the Drocourt Qu ant Switch the outstanding crossing of the Canal du Nord and the liberation of Douai Cambrai Lens Valenciennes and Mons Napoleon always sought to ensure that his generals were lucky In that respect Henry Horne would have suited him He was lucky in having a long standing close professional relationship with the Commander in Chief FM Haig in having under his command at First Army the elite Canadian Corps and some distinguished British divisions and in having as his Chief of Staff one of the outstanding staff officers of the war But there was more to Henry Horne than just luck This belated biography assesses Henry Horne s relationship with Haig and the Canadian Corps It also evaluates his contribution to the technical advances of the artillery during the war and describes the battles which he conducted It attempts to accord to Henry Horne the recognition and credit that he deserves but which has for so long been withheld

Sniper on the Ypres Salient Sue Boase, William McCrae, 2022-12-01 Just after midnight on 22 April 1916 on the Western Front a sergeant from the 15th 1st London Royal Welsh Fusiliers came sliding and stumbling along the dark mud filled trench towards the four men huddled together and soaked through in the shallow dugout He was clutching his postbag in which there were four parcels for one of them William McCrae whose twentieth birthday fell on this day A hand written account by William my grandfather was found in my mother s papers long after his death This book describes a year of his time fighting in the First World War from December 1915 to December 1916 Two months after his birthday he was marching towards the Somme where he was to act as a runner during the key Welsh engagement in the Battle of Mametz Wood Later he went on to volunteer and train as a sniper He continued in this role for over a year becoming a lance corporal in the 38th Divisional Sniping Company while fighting on the Ypres Salient His words emphasise the key role snipers played in the collecting of intelligence about the enemy through close observation and careful reporting His account stops abruptly in mid sentence just at the point where he indicates he is about to reveal more to us about a new interesting part of the line to be manned by us Snipers Piecing together clues from his sketches maps and photos and this book paints a picture of Williams time during the rest of the war In 1917 he returned to England to train as a temporary officer in the 18th Officer Cadet Battalion at Prior Park Bath He came back to the Western Front as a 2nd Lieutenant in the Duke of Wellington s West Riding Regiment where he was seconded to the 1 5 Lancashire Fusiliers until the end of the war During this time it is likely that his interest and experience as a sniper continued with evidence that he may have taught at one of the Sniping Schools set up across France

The Regimental Roll of Honour and War Record of the Artists' Rifles (1/28th, 2/28th and 3/28th Battalions, The London Regiment T.F.) S. Stagoll Higham, 1922

Broken Pots, Mending Lives Richard Osgood, 2023-08-17 A fully illustrated insight into an innovative recovery program that supports wounded soldiers through involvement in archaeology For those that survive the traumas of military conflict can be long lasting It might seem astonishing that archaeology with its uncovering of the traces of the long dead of battlefields of skeletal remains could provide solace and yet there is something magical about the subject Operation Nightingale is a program set up in 2011 within the Ministry of Defence of the United Kingdom to help facilitate the recovery of armed forces personnel recently engaged in armed conflicts in Afghanistan and Iraq using the archaeology of the British Training Areas In the following decade the project expanded to include veterans of older conflicts and of other nations from the United States from Poland from Australia and elsewhere In archaeology there is a job for everyone from surveying and drawing to examining the finds to digging itself Often this is in some of the most beautiful and restful of landscapes and with talks around a campfire at the end of the day This book is the story of those veterans of their incredible discoveries of their own journeys of recovery and sometimes into a lifetime of archaeology From the crash sites of Spitfires and trenches of the Western Front in the First World War through to burial grounds of convicts camp sites of Hessian mercenaries and Anglo Saxon cemeteries Lavishly illustrated this work will show the reader how the discovery of our shared past of long forgotten houses of glinting gold jewelry of broken pots can be restorative and help people mend otherwise damaged lives Artists Rifles. Regimental Roll of Honour and War Record 1914-1919 S. Stagoll Higham,2012-04-10 The Artists Rifles originated in May 1860 as a corps of rifle volunteers formed by an art student Edward Sterling from members of the artistic professions Its first HQ was at Burlington House It provided the largest contingent for the City Imperial Volunteers in the Boer War When the Territorial Force was created in 1908 it became the 28th County of London Battalion London Regiment Shortly after the outbreak of the Great War second line and third line battalions were formed numbered 2 28th and 3 28th the original battalion being 1 28th The latter arrived in France at the end of October 1914 and became an Officers Training Corps OTC first at Bailleul and in April 1915 at St Omer In November 1915 it absorbed the 2 28th the 3 28th which remained in the UK then became 2 28th In the summer of 1917 cadet schools in France were closed and potential officers were sent to the UK for training and 1 28th Battalion freed at last from its OTC role was sent to the front at the end of June 1917 allocated to 190th Brigade 63rd RN Division where it remained to the end of the war A short 17 pages but very informative history of the battalion s service in the line is included in the preface This remarkable book contains a complete record of all whose names have been inscribed in the regiment s Muster Roll since August 1914 showing commissions obtained when and in which corps regiments honours and decorations awarded with citations where published and a list of all casualties There is a total of 15 022 names that is everyone who at one time or another served in the Regiment in any capacity 10 256 received commissions eight VCs were awarded and the casualties suffered throughout the war numbered 6 071 of whom 2 003 were killed There are summary tables of awards and of casualties The Great War Herbert Wrigley Wilson,Sir John Alexander Hammerton,1917 War History of the Seventh Northumberland Fusiliers F. Buckley,192? The Story of the Great War Francis Joseph Reynolds,Allen Leon Churchill,Francis Trevelyan Miller,1916 The Somme 1916 - Beyond the First Day Jon Cooksey,Jerry Murland,2021-06-30 In their second Visitor s Guide to the 1916 Battle of the Somme Jon Cooksey and Jerry Murland focus on the series of secondary battles that were key stages in the five month struggle that followed the start of the offensive on 1 July They take the visitor and the reader across the entire battlefield covering in graphic detail sites where actions took place that are almost as famous as the Somme itself in the history of the First World War including Mametz Wood High Wood Deville Wood Guillemont Ginchy Pozieres and Flers They also provide tours of the less well known but equally interesting sites which played important parts in the offensive as a whole In a sequence of routes that can be walked biked or driven they describe what happened in each place identify the units involved highlight the experience and exploits of individual soldiers and point out the notable sights monuments and cemeteries This highly illustrated guidebook is essential reading for visitors who wish to enhance their understanding of the Battle of the Somme and the war on the Western Front It is also the ideal companion volume to The First Day of the Somme Gommecourt to Maricourt by the same authors The Story of the Great War, 1916 Snapshots of Welsh History Phil Carradice, 2011-11-10 A fascinating collection of stories from Welsh history collected from Phil Carradice's popular BBC Wales blog gathered together for the first time in a book Among the incredible stories are The man from Clydach who invented a Death Ray The Welsh aristocrat whose parrot once bit Herman Goering on the nose The witch who cursed the launch of a warship at Pembroke Dockyard The battle that was won by a herd of cows These stories are part and parcel of Welsh heritage and make history interesting Snapshots of Welsh History Without the Boring Bits covers a wide range of Welsh history topics Written in Phil's unique easy to read yet elegant style these stories are funny tragic sad and hilarious Yet the one thing they all have in common is that they make compelling reading History of the 17th (Northern) Division Andrew Hilliard Atteridge, 1929 The Western Front Sir Muirhead Bone, 1917 The Times History of the War, 1916 The Royal Scots, 1914-1919 John Ewing, 1925 The New Larned History for Ready Reference, Reading and Research Josephus Nelson Larned, 1924
