Migration Globalisation And Human Security:

Migration, Globalisation and Human Security David T. Graham, Nana K. Poku, 2005-08-04 Migration Globalisation and Human Security looks at a range of security and human security issues related to the displacement of civilian populations and shows how the tenuous existence of migrants can lead to a myriad of human security threats Providing major theoretical analyses of recent migration trends and in depth case studies this book shows that a redefinition of the notion of human security is now needed

Human Security in South Asia P. R. Chari, Sonika Gupta, 2003 The word security has a military connotation and refers to the activities involved in protecting or defending a country in which the State has a central role This book argues that the State provides as well as threatens security and that by broadening the concept of security to include both military and non military threats such as those related to ecological social economic and political causes a system of checks and balances can be introduced to regulate the State

Human Security Benny Teh Cheng Guan, 2012-01-03 Human security is becoming increasingly pronounced in recent years due to changes in the security landscape of world politics Yet inter state relations have continued to dominate security concerns in East Asia This has unfortunately eluded the broader understanding of issues and challenges facing the peoples of East Asia Home to nations with rapid economic growth and development East Asia is at the core of what some individuals have termed as the coming Asian Century Years of economic liberalization and exposure to globalization have permitted the region to achieve high levels of interconnectedness from within and without in unprecedented ways This has certainly reduced state control and opened up spaces for cross border human activities While economic wealth have increased substantially over the years it has also brought about bigger income disparities unsustainable safety nets and a surge in social problems from health issues to migratory concerns that threaten the safety and well being of individuals Human Security Securing East Asia s Future timely examines the fundamental issues causing human insecurities and evaluates the extent of which human security plays a role at the state and regional levels Covering the different areas of threats to humans and applying case study materials this volume provides an intellectual mix of perspectives that captures the relationship between people state and region This book will be of interest to those studying traditional and non traditional security threats Asian human development and critical policy analysis

Protecting Human Security in a Post 9/11 World Giorgio Shani, Makoto Sato, Mustapha Kamal Pasha, 2007-11-09 This book offers both a critical discourse and regional perspectives on the major challenges for promoting human security in a post 9 11 world

Mapping Study on International Migration Kristof Tamas, 2004 Reviews a selection of current research and activities on the causes and effects of international migration and international cooperation on migration issues Attempts to identify conditions where the maximum benefits of migration to both sending and receiving countries can be achieved while minimizing the risks for migrants and communities affected by migration Looks at the development of a policy oriented research agenda

International Migration and International Security Valeria Bello, 2017-04-21 Through an interdisciplinary analytic lens that combines debates emerged in the fields of international relations, political science and sociology Valeria Bello reveals how transnational dynamics have increased extremism, prejudiced attitudes towards others and international xenophobia. Bello begins her analysis by tracing similarities between Europe today and Europe before World War II to explain why prejudice is a global security threat and why it is arising as a current global concern within International Organizations. In such a light Bello shows how changes in the International System and the attack on the UN practice of Intercultural Dialogue have become sources of new perceived threats and the reasons for which new exclusionary patterns have arisen. She argues that both those outcomes have been exacerbating the perceived clash of civilizations and the root causes of different fashions of extremism. Bello concludes by portraying alternative ways to deal with these instabilities through a partnership of the different stakeholders involved including both state and non state actors at global, regional, national and local levels. International Migration and International Security provides a unique crosscutting angle from which to analyze the current socio-political crisis connected to the theme of international migration that the world is currently witnessing. Bello expertly shows that different paths for the world are possible and suggest ways to further promote Global Human Security through local, national, regional and global practices of Intercultural Dialogue.

Globalisation and Regional Security Dennis Rumley, Darvesh Gopal, 2007 Papers presented at a seminar organised by the Australian High Commission and Indira Gandhi National Open University in 2002 in New Delhi

HIV/AIDS and Society in South Africa Angela Ndinga-Muvumba, Robyn Pharoah, 2008 Do we know how HIV/AIDS may affect different sectors of society possibly altering the course set for development? This book presents a multidisciplinary overview of the discourse on HIV/AIDS and explores the concept of human security and the global development agenda.

Non-traditional Security in the Asia-Pacific Ralf Emmers, 2004 This work studies the non-traditional security agenda in the Asia Pacific focusing particularly on the dynamics of securitisation. It questions why and how some issues are securitised and examines the policy outcomes that derive from securitising these concerns. The conceptual discussion draws upon but also modifies the theory of securitisation and desecuritisation originally advanced by the Copenhagen School. The empirical study analyses Thailand's securitisation of drug trafficking, Singapore's combined securitisation of sea piracy and maritime terrorism and Australia's securitisation of people smuggling. These various issues can be defined as forms of transnational crime. The case studies consider the rhetoric used by the three countries concerned as well as their policy responses at the unilateral, bilateral and multilateral level.

READERSHIP: Academics, policy makers and administrators and those interested in the study of regionalism and regional security.
