Smart Structures Franklin Y. Cheng, Hongping Jiang, Kangyu Lou, 2008-02-25 An innovative concept smart structural systems have proven to be extremely effective in absorbing damaging energy and or counteracting potentially devastating force thus limiting structural collapse and subsequent injury As this technology rapidly evolves there is an ever increasing need for an authoritative reference that will allow those in t

NEHRP Recommended Provisions: Design Examples , Seismic Assessment and Retrofit of Reinforced Concrete Buildings fib Fédération internationale du béton, 2003-08-01 In most parts of the developed world the building stock and the civil infrastructure are ageing and in constant need of maintenance repair and upgrading Moreover in the light of our current knowledge and of modern codes the majority of buildings stock and other types of structures in many parts of the world are substandard and deficient This is especially so in earthquake prone regions as even there seismic design of structures is relatively recent In those regions the major part of the seismic threat to human life and property comes from old buildings Due to the infrastructure s increasing decay frequently combined with the need for structural upgrading to meet more stringent design requirements especially against seismic loads structural retrofitting is becoming more and more important and receives today considerable emphasis throughout the world In response to this need a major part of the fib Model Code 2005 currently under development is being devoted to structural conservation and maintenance More importantly in recognition of the importance of the seismic threat arising from existing substandard buildings the first standards for structural upgrading to be promoted by the international engineering community and by regulatory authorities alike are for seismic rehabilitation of buildings This is the case for example of Part 3 Strengthening and Repair of Buildings of Eurocode 8 i e of the draft European Standard for earthquake resistant design and which is the only one among the current 2003 set of 58 Eurocodes attempting to address the problem of structural upgrading It is also the case of the recent 2001 ASCE draft standard on Seismic evaluation of existing buildings and of the 1996 Law for promotion of seismic strengthening of existing reinforced concrete structures in Japan As noted in Chapter 1 of this Bulletin fib as CEB and FIP did before has placed considerable emphasis on assessment and rehabilitation of existing structures The present Bulletin is a culmination of this effort in the special but very important field of seismic assessment and rehabilitation It has been elaborated over a period of 4 years by Task Group 7 1 Assessment and retrofit of existing structures of fib Commission 7 Seismic design a truly international team of experts representing the expertise and experience of all the important seismic regions of the world In the course of its work the team had six plenary two day meetings in January 1999 in Pavia Italy in August 1999 in Raleigh North Carolina in February 2000 in Queenstown New Zealand in July 2000 in Patras Greece in March 2001 in Lausanne Switzerland and in August 2001 in Seattle Washington In October 2002 the final draft of the Bulletin was presented to public during the 1st fib Congress in Osaka It was also there that it was approved by fib Commission 7 Seismic Design The contents is structured into main chapters as follows 1

Introduction 2 Performance objectives and system considerations 3 Review of seismic assessment procedures 4 Strength and deformation capacity of non seismically detailed components 5 Seismic retrofitting techniques 6 Probabilistic concepts and methods 7 Case studies

Building Construction Illustrated Francis D. K. Ching, 2014-02-17 The classic visual guide to the basics of building construction now with a 3D digital building model for interactive learning For over three decades Building Construction Illustrated has offered an outstanding introduction to the principles of building construction This new edition of the revered classic remains as relevant as ever providing the latest information in Francis D K Ching s signature style Its rich and comprehensive approach clearly presents all of the basic concepts underlying building construction New to this edition are digital enhancements delivered as an online companion to the print edition and also embedded in e book editions Features include a 3D model showing how building components come together in a final project illustrated throughout with clear and accurate drawings that present the state of the art in construction processes and materials Updated and revised to include the latest knowledge on sustainability incorporation of building systems and use of new materials Contains archetypal drawings that offer clear inspiration for designers and drafters Reflects the 2012 International Building Codes and 2012 LEED system This new edition of Building Construction Illustrated remains as relevant as ever with the most current knowledge presented in a rich and comprehensive manner that does not disappoint Recommended

A. Brebbia, Willy Patrick Wilde, 2004 A range of topics relating to advanced types of structures particularly those based on new concepts or new types of materials Originally presented at the Second International Conference on High Performance Structures and Materials the papers contain detailed developments in design optimization manufacturing and experimentation Displacement-based Seismic Design of Structures M. J. N. Priestley, Gian Michele Calvi, Mervyn J. Kowalsky, 2007 Displacement Based Seismic Design of Structures is a book primarily directed towards practicing structural designers who are interested in applying performance based concepts to seismic design Since much of the material presented in the book has not been published elsewhere it will also be of considerable interest to researchers and to graduate and upper level undergraduate students of earthquake engineering who wish to develop a deeper understanding of how design can be used to control seismic response The design philosophy is based on determination of the optimum structural strength to achieve a given performance limit state related to a defined level of damage under a specified level of seismic intensity Emphasis is also placed on how this strength is distributed through the structure This takes two forms methods of structural analysis and capacity design It is shown that equilibrium considerations frequently lead to a more advantageous distribution of strength than that resulting from stiffness considerations Capacity design considerations have been re examined and new and more realistic design approaches are presented to insure against undesirable modes of inelastic deformation The book considers a wide range of structural types including separate chapters on frame buildings wall buildings dual wall frame buildings masonry buildings timber structures bridges structures with isolation or added damping devices and wharves These are preceded by introductory chapters discussing conceptual problems with current force based design seismic input for displacement based design fundamentals of direct displacement based design and analytical tools appropriate for displacement based design The final two chapters adapt the principles of displacement based seismic design to assessment of existing structures and present the previously developed design information in the form of a draft building code The text is illustrated by copious worked design examples 39 in all and analysis aids are provided in the form of a CD containing three computer programs covering moment curvature analysis Cumbia linear element based inelastic time history analysis Ruaumoko and a general fibre element dynamic analysis program SeismoStruct The design procedure developed in this book is based on a secant stiffness rather than initial stiffness representation of structural response using a level of damping equivalent to the combined effects of elastic and hysteretic damping The approach has been fully verified by extensive inelastic time history analyses which are extensively reported in the text The design method is extremely simple to apply and very successful in providing dependable and predictable seismic response Authors Bios M J N Priestley Nigel Priestley is Professor Emeritus of the University of California San Diego and co Director of the Centre of Research and Graduate Studies in Earthquake Engineering and Engineering Seismology ROSE School Istituto Universitario di Studi Superiori IUSS Pavia Italy He has published more than 450 papers mainly on earthquake engineering and received numerous awards for his research He holds honorary doctorates from ETH Zurich and Cujo Argentina He is co author of two previous seismic design books Seismic Design of Concrete and Masonry Buildings and Seismic Design and Retrofit of Bridges that are considered standard texts on the subjects G M Calvi Michele Calvi is Professor of the University of Pavia and Director of the Centre of Research and Graduate Studies in Earthquake Engineering and Engineering Seismology ROSE School Istituto Universitario di Studi Superiori IUSS of Pavia He has published more than 200 papers and is co author of the book Seismic Design and Retrofit of Bridges that is considered a standard text on the subject has been involved in important construction projects worldwide such as the Rion Bridge in Greece and the upgrading of the Bolu Viaduct in Turkey and is coordinating several international research projects M J Kowalsky Mervyn Kowalsky is Associate Professor of Structural Engineering in the Department of Civil Construction and Environmental Engineering at North Carolina State University and a member of the faculty of the ROSE School His research which has largely focused on the seismic behaviour of structures has been supported by the National Science Foundation the North Carolina and Alaska Departments of Transportation and several industrial organizations He is a registered Professional Engineer in North Carolina and an active member of several national and international committees on Performance Based Seismic Design
