Reconstruction In The Cane Fields:

Reconstruction in the Cane Fields John C. Rodrigue, 2001 Ultimately he argues the particular demands of Louisiana sugar production accorded freedmen formidable bargaining power in the contest with planters over free labor

The Louisiana Populist Movement, 1881-1900 Donna A. Barnes, 2011-05-18 The Populist movement of the late nineteenth century represents one of the largest third party challenges in American history Throughout the South widespread drops in crop prices led to agrarian revolt which contributed to the movement's popularity Yet in the largely rural state of Louisiana despite the political group's focus on empowering distressed farmers this challenge proved far less successful In Donna A Barnes's The Louisiana Populist Movement the question of ineffectuality makes an intriguing political case study of the Pelican State and Populism Emerging in the 1890s as the political wing of the Southern Farmers Alliance the Populists or People's Party garnered the support of millions of rural southerners But the affiliated Louisiana party struggled to spread beyond a limited number of parishes in the northern and central part of the state According to Barnes the movement's relatively poor mobilization record provides an excellent opportunity to explore factors that impede social growth Most scholars she contends often focus on the emergence and rise of successful political organizations and overlook the valuable observations to be found within less successful movements such as Louisiana Populism In her evaluation Barnes points to racial division as the factor that undermined the Populist cause in Louisiana The Democratic Party saw the agenda of the Populist movement as a threat to white supremacy and thus when paired with the 1898 state constitution that disfranchised poor rural whites and most blacks predestined the People's Party to poor public reception Based on an array of archival research Barnes's study offers the definitive source for the history of the Louisiana Populist Movement as well as a multidimensional theoretical analysis of the factors behind the movement's failure

A Nation under Our Feet Steven Hahn, 2005-04-30 This is the epic story of how African Americans in the six decades following slavery transformed themselves into a political people an embryonic black nation As Hahn demonstrates rural African Americans were central political actors in the great events of disunion emancipation and nation building

Educating the Sons of Sugar R. Eric Platt, 2017-10-10 A study of Louisiana French Creole sugar planters' role in higher education and a detailed history of the only college ever constructed to serve the sugar elite The education of individual planter classes cotton tobacco sugar is rarely treated in works of southern history Of the existing literature higher education is typically relegated to a footnote providing only brief glimpses into a complex instructional regime responsive to wealthy planters R Eric Platt's Educating the Sons of Sugar allows for a greater focus on the mindset of French Creole sugar planters and provides a comprehensive record and analysis of a private college supported by planter wealth Jefferson College was founded in St James Parish in 1831 surrounded by slave holding plantations and their cash crop sugar cane Creole planters regionally known as the ancienne population designed the college to impart a genteel liberal arts education through instruction architecture and geographic location

Jefferson College played host to social class rivalries Creole Anglo American and French immigrant mirrored the revival of Catholicism in a region typified by secular mores was subject to the Americanization of south Louisiana higher education and reflected the ancienne population s decline as Louisiana s ruling population Resulting from loss of funds the college closed in 1848 It opened and closed three more times under varying administrations French immigrant private sugar planter and Catholic Marist before its final closure in 1927 due to educational competition curricular intransigence and the 1927 Mississippi River flood In 1931 the campus was purchased by the Society of Jesus Jesuits and reopened as a silent religious retreat It continues to function to this day as the Manresa House of Retreats While in existence Jefferson College was a social thermometer for the white French Creole sugar planter ethos that instilled the sons of sugar with a cultural heritage resonant of a region typified by the management of plantations slavery and the production of sugar

Where the New World Is Martyn Bone,2018-01-15 Where the New World Is assesses how fiction published since 1980 has resituated the U S South globally and how earlier twentieth century writing already had done so in ways traditional southern literary studies tended to ignore Martyn Bone argues that this body of fiction has over the course of some eighty years challenged received readings and understandings of the U S South as a fixed place largely untouched by immigration or even internal migration and economic globalization The writers discussed by Bone emphasize how migration and labor have reconfigured the region s relation to the nation and a range of transnational scales hemispheric Jamaica the Bahamas Haiti transatlantic Black Atlantic Denmark England Mauritania and transpacific global southern Australia China Vietnam Writers under consideration include Zora Neale Hurston Nella Larsen John Oliver Killens Russell Banks Erna Brodber Cynthia Shearer Ha Jin Monique Truong Lan Cao Toni Morrison Peter Matthiessen Dave Eggers and Laila Lalami The book also seeks to resituate southern studies by drawing on theories of scale that originated in human geography In this way Bone also offers a new paradigm in which the U S South is thoroughly engaged with a range of other scales from the local to the global making both literature about the region and southern studies itself truly transnational in scope

Food and Agriculture during the Civil War R. Douglas Hurt,2016-01-11 This book provides a perspective into the past that few students and historians of the Civil War have considered agriculture during the Civil War as a key element of power The Civil War revolutionized the agricultural labor system in the South and it had dramatic effects on farm labor in the North relating to technology Agriculture also was an element of power for both sides during the Civil War one that is often overlooked in traditional studies of the conflict R. Douglas Hurt argues that Southerners viewed the agricultural productivity of their region as an element of power that would enable them to win the war while Northern farmers considered their productivity not only an economic benefit to the Union and enhancement of their personal fortunes but also an advantage that would help bring the South back into the Union This study examines the effects of the Civil War on agriculture for both the Union and the Confederacy from 1860 to 1865 emphasizing how agriculture directly related to the war effort in each region for example the efforts made to produce more food for military and civilian populations attempts to limit cotton production cotton as a diplomatic tool the work of women in the fields slavery as a key agricultural resource livestock production experiments to produce cotton tobacco and sugar in the North and the adoption of new implements Fractured Freedoms David T. Ballantyne, 2025-02-04 David T Ballantyne s Fractured Freedoms is a riveting history of central Louisiana from the 1860s to the 1890s focusing on majority Black Rapides Parish during Reconstruction Using the region as a case study Ballantyne reveals what is in part a rural Reconstruction success story emphasizing the resilience of Black politics and the persistence of significant divisions among white residents that allowed the Republican Party to gain and maintain power there It was only with the collapse of state level Republican power in 1877 that Democratic forces in the parish were able to dismantle local Republican political control and gradually constrict Black freedoms Schedule E.
