Making Race Visible Stuart Greene, Dawn Abt-Perkins, 2003-10-26 Grounded in classroom experiences this volume opens new territory on a critical but rarely addressed topic the intersection of race with literacy research and practice

Branding Brazil Leslie L. Marsh, 2021-05-14 Branding Brazil examines a panorama of contemporary cultural productions including film television photography and alternative media to explore the transformation of citizenship in Brazil from 2003 to 2014 A utopian impulse drove the reproduction of Brazilian cultural identity for local and global consumption cultural production sought social and economic profits especially greater inclusion of previously marginalized people and places Marsh asserts that three communicative strategies from branding promising progress cultivating buy in and resolving contradictions are the most salient and recurrent practices of nation branding during this historic period More recent political crises can be understood partly in terms of backlash against marked social and political changes introduced during the branding period Branding Brazil takes a multi faceted approach weaving media studies with politics and cinema studies to reveal that more than a marketing term or project emanating from the state branding was a cultural phenomenon On

Essays Thomas Karshan, Kathryn Murphy, 2020-09-04 Montaigne called it a ramble Chesterton the joke of literature and Hume an ambassador between the worlds of learning and of conversation But what is an essay and how did it emerge as a literary form What are the continuities and contradictions across its history from Montaigne s 1580 Essais through the familiar intimacies of the Romantic essay and up to more recent essayists such as Virginia Woolf James Baldwin and Claudia Rankine Sometimes called the fourth genre the essay has been over shadowed in literary history by fiction poetry and drama and has proved notoriously resistant to definition On Essays reveals in the essay a pattern of paradox at once a pedagogical tool and a refusal of the methodical languages of universities and professions politically engaged but retired and independent erudite and anti pedantic occasional and enduring intimate and oratorical allusive and idiosyncratic Perhaps because it is a form of writing against which literary scholarship has defined itself there has been surprisingly little work on the tradition of the essay Neither a comprehensive history nor a student companion On Essays is a series of seventeen elegantly written essays on authors and aspects in the history of the genre essays which taken together form the most substantial book yet published on the essay in Britain and America Foundations and Futures in the Sociology of Religion Luke Doggett, Alp

Arat, 2017-12-14 Since the sociology of religion became recognised as a distinct sub discipline over the last century the dominance of approaches taking their inspiration from the sociological classics has increasingly been challenged Empirical findings have brought the notion of secularisation into question and theorists have sought to deconstruct how we think of religion This collection appraises the continuing influence of the foundational approaches and places these in relation to newly emerging directions in the field The book is divided into four sections each section containing one foundational chapter written by an established academic followed by two futures chapters contributed by emerging scholars in the sub discipline

These chapters complement one another by placing the overview of future directions in the context of a survey of the development of the sociology of religion over the last century. Topics discussed in these chapters include lived religion, sexuality, ritual, religion, and the media. Combining erudite examinations of the British Sociological Association Sociology of Religion Study Group's work so far with explorations of the future directions its research might take, this book is vital reading for any scholar whose work combines religious studies and sociology.

Advocacy Research in Literacy Education
Meredith Rogers Cherland, Helen Harper, 2023-05-31
This book reviews what the authors term advocacy research in literacy education research that explicitly addresses issues of social justice, equity, and democracy with the distinct purpose of social transformation. It surveys what educational researchers who are working for social justice have accomplished, describes current challenges, and outlines future possibilities. The first section maps the terrain of advocacy research in literacy education. The authors group this large and expanding body of research into four categories: Critical Literacy, Radical Counternarratives in Literacy Research, Literacy as Social Practice, and Linguistic Studies. Each chapter describes the research area, traces its history, provides example studies, and assesses the contributions of research to advocacy work now and potentially in the future. The second section provides a deeper consideration of challenges to the field of advocacy research and suggests future directions for research and scholarship; this section reflects the need to complicate and trouble the terms and relations between and among social justice, ethics, democracy, freedom, and literacy. As a whole, this book is a response to the current popular understandings of literacy education that limit the efficacy of advocacy work in these troubled times—understandings that support the proliferation of standardized testing, teacher testing, and scripted lessons and programs, along with the privileging of particular forms of research. Intended for those who work or soon will work in literacy education—students, teachers, educators, researchers, and practitioners—this book represents the authors' belief that it is time for advocacy workers to strengthen and intensify their efforts to promote the most principled, effective literacy education for democratic life. It is their hope that this book will contribute to such an effort.

Handbook of Social Justice in Education

Timely and essential, this is a must-have volume for researchers, professionals, and students across the fields of educational foundations, multicultural diversity, education, educational policy, and curriculum.
