Landscapes of Realism Dirk Göttsche, Rosa Mucignat, Robert Weninger, 2021-04-15 Few literary phenomena are as elusive and yet as persistent as realism While it responds to the perennial impulse to use literature to reflect on experience it also designates a specific set of literary and artistic practices that emerged in response to Western modernity Landscapes of Realism is a two volume collaborative interdisciplinary exploration of this vast territory bringing together leading edge new criticism on the realist paradigms that were first articulated in nineteenth century Europe but have since gone on globally to transform the literary landscape Tracing the manifold ways in which these paradigms are developed discussed and contested across time space cultures and media this first volume tackles in its five core essays and twenty five case studies such questions as why realism emerged when it did why and how it developed such a transformative dynamic across languages to what extent realist poetics remain central to art and popular culture after 1900 and how generally to reassess realism from a twenty first century comparative perspective

Critical Realism, Feminism, and Gender: A Reader Michiel van Ingen, Steph Grohmann, Lena Gunnarsson, 2020-05-10 In assessing the current state of feminism and gender studies whether on a theoretical or a practical level it has become increasingly challenging to avoid the conclusion that these fields are in a state of disarray Indeed feminist and gender studies discussions are beset with persistent splits and disagreements This reader suggests that returning to and placing centre stage the role of philosophy especially critical realist philosophy of science is invaluable for efforts that seek to overcome or mitigate the uncertainty and acrimony that have resulted from this situation In particular it claims that the dialectical logic that runs through critical realist philosophy is ideally suited to advancing feminist and gender studies discussions about broad ontological and epistemological questions and considerations intersectionality and methodology methods and empirical research By bringing together four new and eight existing writings this reader provides both a focal point for renewed discussions about the potential and actual contributions of critical realist philosophy to feminism and gender studies and a timely contribution to these discussions

Social Movement De-Radicalisation and the Decline of Terrorism Gordon Clubb, 2016-10-04 By drawing on social movement theories this book explains how terrorist movements decline using the case of Irish Republicanism The continuity of terrorism and political violence from generation to generation demonstrates the need to go beyond a focus on groups or individuals in order to explain how terrorism ends The concept of de radicalisation has been critiqued for its lack of explanatory value in accounting for disengagement from terrorism or how the risk of terrorism re emerging is reduced However building on the morphogenetic approach this book distinguishes between structure culture and agency over time in order to analyse the causal influence between the two Two processes are analysed disengagement framing processes explain how actors change attitudes to violence and the book identifies which factors ensure frames resonate with audiences and social movement de radicalisation accounts for the outcomes of disengagement in initiating structural change which transforms the landscape the next generation finds itself in The fundamental aim of the book is to provide theoretical and conceptual insights into how terrorism can not only come to an end but can be prevented from emerging to be a significant threat again within a society This book will be of much interest to students of terrorism and political violence social movement theory British and Irish Politics war and conflict studies security studies and IR in general
