Overheard in Seville 2014 ,2014-10-03 An annual publication Overheard in Seville Bulletin of the George Santayana Society includes scholarly articles on American philosophy poet critic and best selling novelist George Santayana as well as announcements of publications and meetings pertaining to Santayana Scholarship Sargent's Women Donna M. Lucey,2017-08-22 A New York Times Book Review Editors Choice Selection Lucey delivers the goods disclosing the unhappy or colorful lives that Sargent sometimes hinted at but didn't spell out Boston Globe In this seductive multilayered biography based on original letters and diaries Donna M Lucey illuminates four extraordinary women painted by the iconic high society portraitist John Singer Sargent With uncanny intuition Sargent hinted at the mysteries and passions that unfolded in his subjects lives These women inhabited a rarefied world of wealth and strict conventions yet all of them did something unexpected something shocking to upend society's rules The Letters of George Santayana, Book Eight, 1948-1952 George Santayana,2001 Letters from the last years of Santayana's life written as he completed Dominations and Powers the final volume of his autobiography and the one volume abridgement of his early five part masterwork The Life of Reason This final volume of Santayana's letters spans the last five years of the philosopher's life Despite the increasing infirmities of age and illness Santayana continued to be remarkably productive during these years working steadily until September 1952 when he died of stomach cancer just three months short of his eighty ninth birthday Still living in the nursing home run by the Blue Sisters of the Little Company of Mary in Rome now with such prewar luxuries as hot baths and central heating restored Santayana completed his book Dominations and Powers which had been more than fifty years in the making the final part of his autobiography Persons and Places published posthumously in 1953 as My Host the World and the abridgement of his early five part masterwork The Life of Reason into a single volume all while continuing to maintain a voluminous correspondence with friends and admirers The eight books of The Letters of George Santayana bring together over 3 000 letters many of which have been discovered in the fifty years since Santayana's death Letters in Book Eight are written to such correspondents as the young American poet Robert Lowell whom Santayana thinks of only as a friend and not merely as a celebrity and to whom he sends a wedding gift of 500 Ira D Cardiff the editor of Atoms of Thought a collection of excerpts from Santayana's writings which Santayana complained portrayed him as more akin to Tom Paine than Thomas Aquinas Richard Colton Lyon a young Texan who would later collect Santayana's writings about America in Santayana on America Essays Notes and Letters on American Life Literature and Philosophy 1968 and the humanist philosopher Corliss Lamont Guide to America; a Treasury of Information about Its States, Cities, Parks, and Historical Points of Interest ,1947 A Philosophical Novelist Henry Tompkins Kirby-Smith,1997 In the preface to the second edition of The Last Puritan George Santayana wrote that he saw this memoir in the form of a novel as an exemplification of his own spirit H T Kirby Smith uses Santayana's 1936 novel The Last Puritan as both an occasion and a means for bringing into focus the complex relations between Santayana's life, his personality and his philosophy

Twentieth-century American Cultural Theorists Paul Hansom, 2001 This award winning series systematically presents career biographies of writers from all eras and all genres through volumes dedicated to specific types of literature and time periods

The Letters of George Santayana: 1941-1947 George Santayana, 2001 The seventh and penultimate book of the letters of American philosopher George Santayana covering the years 1941 to 1947 and including letters to such correspondents as Daniel Cory, John Hall Wheelock, Robert Lowell and others. This penultimate volume of Santayana's letters chronicles Santayana's life during a difficult time: the war years and the immediate postwar period. The advent of World War II left Santayana isolated in Rome and the difficulties of wartime travel across borders forced him to abandon plans to move to more agreeable locations in Switzerland or Spain. During these years Santayana lived in a single room in a nursing home run by the Blue Sisters of the Little Company of Mary in Rome where during the winter months he did much of his writing in bed wearing well mended gloves in order to stay warm. And yet despite wartime deprivations, illness and old age he was 77 in 1941 Santayana was remarkably productive, completing both his autobiography Persons and Places and The Idea of Christ in the Gospels or God in Man and all but completing Dominations and Powers. He confided to one correspondent that he had never been more at peace or more happy. The eight books of The Letters of George Santayana bring together over 3 000 letters, many of which have been discovered in the fifty years since Santayana's death. Letters in Book Seven are written to such correspondents as his friend and protégé Daniel Cory, his financial manager and heir George Sturgis and the American poet Robert Lowell. The correspondence with Lowell which began when the younger writer sent Santayana a copy of his Pulitzer Prize winning Lord Weary's Castle signals an important new friendship which became a source of affection and intellectual engagement in Santayana's final years.

Shattered Pictures of Places and Cities in George Santayana's Autobiography Graziella Fantini, 2011-11-28

Shattered Pictures of Places and Cities se adentra por las páginas autobiográficas filosóficas y narrativas más relevantes de George Santayana discurrendo por sus viajes y geografías físicas en paralelo a sus viajes y geografías morales. Es un intento de ir más allá de la reflexión entorno a los orígenes biográficos del filosofar de ahí que se recupere una indagación sobre su habitar el lenguaje y el arte. Santayana reconsidera los fundamentos del arte de la memoria clásica en su autobiografía para formular una nueva propuesta estética donde el arte y la vida se funden y se confunden estimulándose recíprocamente. Hila una filosofía del viaje y del lugar donde se privilegia una noción del habitar que ilumina nuestra condición más allá de la vida y en el pensamiento y nuestra trágica e inestable inestabilidad en este mundo.
