Prater Violet:

Prater Violet Christopher Isherwood, 1945 Prater Violet Christopher Isherwood, 2013-11-19 A masterly novella from the author of Goodbye to Berlin the inspiration for Cabaret one of the great prose writers of the twentieth century Philip French The Observer Prater Violet concerns the filming of an unashamedly romantic and commercial musical about old Vienna It is a stinging satirical novel about the film industry trifling studio feuds and the fatuous movie Prater Violet which ironically counterpoints the tragic events on the world stage as Hitler's lengthening shadow falls over the real Vienna of the thirties At its center are vivid portraits of the mocking genius Friedrich Bergmann the imperious dazzlingly witty Austrian director and his disciple a genial young screenwriter the fictionalized Christopher Isherwood When it first appeared in 1945 Prater Violet caused a fury of critical speculation and acclaim Edmund Wilson called it a deliberate historical parable and Diana Trilling's Nation review said Prater Violet is the most charming novel I have read in a long time It is a book written in the author's own person yet utterly without ego it is a novel about movie writers which is yet a novel about the life of every serious artist it is a book without a political moral but a profound moral political statement it is gay witty sophisticated but wholly responsible Prater Violet in my view is one of the best short novels in English written in this century Stanley Kauffman The New Republic Prater Violet resembles the episodes in Goodbye to Berlin and keeps up the same high level of excellence Edmund Wilson The New Yorker Prater Violet by Christopher Isherwood Christopher Isherwood, 1946 The Cambridge History of Twentieth-Century English Literature Laura Marcus, Peter Nicholls, 2004 Publisher Description Conversations with Christopher Isherwood Christopher Isherwood, 2001 Substantive smart and insightful interviews allowing the author to discuss his approach to writing of both fiction and nonfiction Literature and Sound Film in Mid-Century Britain Lara Ehrenfried, 2025-03-27 What happened to cinema and literature when synchronized sound was introduced to the film industry in the late 1920s Literature and Sound Film in Mid-Century Britain studies the paths of film and text following this event It asks how British cinema responded to the introduction of sound and how mid-century literature took up the challenge of the synchronized audio-visual entertainment experience offered by this media change By examining the technological and industrial histories of film and its narrative strategies and by drawing links to twentieth-century literary culture this study offers a new way of approaching mid-century writing and its media ecology Developing innovative audio-visual close readings this book offers a multi-sensory multi-media approach that reframes the relationships between cinema and literature in the twentieth century The study addresses a wide range of film genres such as musical film screwball comedy the thriller documentary and melodrama alongside the writings of a large group of authors including Elizabeth Bowen Patrick Hamilton Evelyn Waugh Lewis Grassic Gibbon Henry Green Jean Rhys Ivy Compton Burnett and Eric Ambler It covers an expansive range of films and texts of the 1930s and 1940s and invites readers to comprehensively rethink mid-century media culture by arguing for a growing synergy of film and text "Prater Violet" by Christopher Isherwood Jan
