Negotiating in Asia ,1996 Negotiating Financial Agreement in East Asia Kaewkamol Karen Pitakdumrongkit,2015-10-30 Every international negotiation bears a risk of collapse as even among like minded countries

different players often have different priorities and interests This can result in conflict as states clash over certain agreement details and their disputes can escalate and founder the entire negotiation missing an opportunity to realize potential initiatives However other circumstances have witnessed the cases of successful deals This begets a puzzle What did these states do to salvage their talks and seal their deals This book examines East Asian financial negotiation processes and seeks to explain why some negotiations are successful despite the risk of bargaining failure Using the Chiang Mai Initiative Multilateralization CMIM talks as the case study the book analyses how states with little prior experience at dealing with certain aspects of an agreement manage to avert negotiation failure and successfully conclude their final deal Using extensive archival research in depth interviews with involved negotiators and experts and process tracing method it reconstructs the making of the CMIM agreement The multi country analysis reveals the roles played by key actors namely China Japan South Korea Indonesia Malaysia and Thailand in shaping the agreement terms The book goes on to argue that preventing a stalemate or succeeding in concluding arrangements like the CMIM is a product of various strategies and tactics employed by negotiators These include employing bargaining strategies and tactics that help avoid a negotiation deadlock and assessing the conditions under which such strategies and tactics are likely or unlikely to achieve the objective of avoiding bargaining failure As a study of East Asian economic negotiation processes this book will be of huge interest to students and scholars of East Asian cooperation and regionalism as well as finance international business international relations and international political economy

Negotiating Asymmetry Anthony Reid, Yangwen Zheng, 2009-01-01 Argues that neither the Chinese world order of tribute relations nor the Westphalia model of sovereign equality ever operated effectively in Asia but suggests that the past does offer strong indicators about the shape of a new order in Asia

How to Design, Negotiate, and Implement a Free Trade Agreement in Asia Asian Development Bank. Office of Regional Economic Integration, 2008

The Trans Pacific Partnership, China and India Amitendu Palit, 2014-06-05 The United States and 11 other countries from both sides of the Pacific are currently negotiating the Trans Pacific Partnership TPP The agreement is expected to set new benchmark for international trade through its comprehensive coverage of issues and binding regulations It is expected to eventually mature into a regional trade agreement covering the entire Asia Pacific As of now it does not include China and India the two largest emerging markets and regional economies The TPP has generated controversy for its excessive emphasis on trade issues which have remained unresolved or unaddressed at the WTO due to differences between developed and emerging markets It has also been criticized for adopting a negotiating style reflecting the US regulatory approach to international trade and also as a geo political strategy of the US for supporting its strategic rebalancing towards Asia From both economic and geo political perspectives the TPP has various significant implications for China and India that are examined in the book This book sheds light on how China and India s entries in the TPP are mutually beneficial and how both countries can gain from the TPP by gaining preferential access to large markets and using it as an opportunity for introducing more outward oriented reforms The book also cautions that US must reconcile to the rebalancing of economic power within the grouping that will occur following the entries of China and India Otherwise the TPP and China and India might walk divergent paths and trade and regional integration in Asia Pacific may not ever converge This book will interest anyone who wishes to learn more about the TPP and its future implications and challenges and China and India s roles in global and regional trade The East Asian Negotiator Lee Cheng Tan,Tai Wei Lim,2023-11-17 While many East Asians are becoming more confident in their own culture and ways of doing things at the same time they are open to the melding of east west ways Because of this form of cultural hybridization it is useful to include the authors multidisciplinary area studies training which decodes some of the cultural symbols and contextual language used in Asian negotiations They do so keenly with globalization s impact in mind Due to globalization western styles of negotiations have constantly engaged closely with negotiations styles in Asia including East Asia and the cross pollination of ideas between the two have resulted in hybridized negotiations styles in the contemporary setting Distilled practitioner knowledge will be combined with literature review and theoretical readings to share with readers the intricacies as well as theoretician s conceptualizations of East Asian negotiation styles The book is written from the sub discipline of cross cultural negotiating styles adopting some sociological anthropological perspectives anecdotes and concepts to discuss this subject matter This volume hopes to fill in the gap between theoretical and applied knowledge through the use of theoretical concepts that readers from the West and other English language textbook readers are familiar with while supplementing the concepts with practitioner oriented case studies drawn from actual experiences This prevents the publication from becoming a theory heavy text Collective Self Reliance of South Asia V. Kanesalingam,1993 Asian Sources Timepieces ,1991 Culturally Responsive Counseling with Asian American Men William Ming Liu,Derek Kenji Iwamoto,Mark H. Chae,2011-01-19 Asian American men represent a complex group with distinct psychological and mental health concerns yet the current counseling literature is lacking in resources for clinicians working with this population The purpose of this text is to provide practitioners with a comprehensive overview of the current research and theory related to the important and unique issues that Asian American men experience It offers clinicians culturally responsive practical counseling techniques and strategies to help inform them on how to work effectively with this group Chapters are written by leading figures in the field and explore such topics as intergenerational conflict racism challenges associated with masculinity and fatherhood sexual orientation identity development substance abuse and career counseling Numerous clinical vignettes and case conceptualizations are included to assist clinicians who work with Asian American men and to demonstrate appropriate treatment responses The Global Economic Crisis and Its Implications for Asian Economic Cooperation Michael G. Plummer,2009 Asian Migrations Beatriz P. Lorente,2005 The migration of people within and beyond Asia no longer takes the form of permanent ruptures uprooting and resettlement Today such movement is more likely to be transient and complex ridden with disruptions and detours and based on translocal interconnections between places and multiple chains of movement. Written from various disciplinary perspectives, this collection of essays explores the migration experiences of a wide spectrum of people from professional and managerial elites to contract workers and refugees. In addressing the nature of these Asian migrations, the authors demonstrate how mobility in today's world has transformed notions of citizenship and identity and of displacement and home.

Chinese negotiating styles Kagechika Matano, 1998. The rise of China as a political and economic power in East Asia is creating more opportunities for cross-cultural negotiations between China and various governments and outside organizations. As the frequency of these negotiations grows, however, some are wondering if China has a particular negotiating style and if so, what lessons can be learned from this style. In September 1998, the Asia Pacific Center for Security Studies held a conference designed to study Chinese negotiating behavior in the context of case studies involving border and territorial disputes.

The U.S. and Japan in Asia, 1994. ASEAN Negotiations Pushpa Thambipillai, Jayaratnam Saravanamuttu, 1985. The first part of this book looks at ASEAN negotiating styles; the second examines ASEAN's position on collective negotiations with the Third World countries and blocs on North-South questions for a common front approach on the New International Economic Order. This book is one of six in the ASEAN Political Studies series.

Locating Asian Australian Cultures Tseen Khoo, 2013-10-18. Locating Asian Australian Cultures is a timely and challenging interdisciplinary compilation that sets a contemporary benchmark for Asian Australian studies and its future directions. In the dynamic field of diasporic Asian studies, Asian Australian Studies is an emerging and contentious area. While cognisant of issues and critical developments in North America, Europe, and Asia, Asian Australian studies forges its own specific engagements with questions of identity, racialization, and nationalisms in a world of globalized cultures and movements. This book deliberately engages with international perspectives on Asian Australian studies that offer contingent connections and address crucial questions for fields that are rapidly de-nationalizing. The volume focuses on Asian Australian cultural production and identity, presenting work that interrogates notions of belonging and citizenship, representational politics, and disciplinarity in the academy. The broad-ranging essays examine the politics of Asian Australian art and literature, as well as the area's significant interventions in disciplinary formations nationally and internationally. Other essays discuss the Vietnamese War memorial in Cabramatta, notions of the sacrificial Asian in contemporary films, and Chinatown sites in Australia. This book will be essential reading not only for researchers in Asian Australian studies but also for those with an interest in Asian diaspora and Australian studies.
