Pollen Memory:

Pollen Memory Laynie Browne, 2003 Poetry These poems in prose are instructions for not interpretations of dreams and as such of intrinsic value They take fully into account what is lost what cannot be told the missing object the no one to blame They ring true Keith Waldrop With a knowledge of what has come before Laynie Brown charts the processes of natural phenomenon by means of a lyric tuned to the harmony of the spheres POLLEN MEMORY marks the journey of a poet who listens to important things that most of us take for granted it is both hypnotic and wise Lisa Jarnot Epigenetic Memory and Control in Plants Gideon Grafi, Nir Ohad, 2013-04-18 Epigenetics commonly acts at the chromatin level modulating its structure and consequently its function in gene expression and as such plays a critical role in plant response to internal and external cues This book highlights recent advances in our understanding of epigenetic mechanisms as a major determinant through which internal and external signals such as those occurring during hybridization flowering time reproduction and response to stress communicate with plant cells to bring about activation of multiple nuclear processes and consequently plant growth and development The outcome of these processes may persist for generations long after the initial cues have expired and may contribute to plant evolution A Memory of Ice Elizabeth Truswell, 2019-08-01 In the southern summer of 1972-73 the Glomar Challenger was the first vessel of the international Deep Sea Drilling Project to venture into the seas surrounding Antarctica confronting severe weather and ever present icebergs A Memory of Ice presents the science and the excitement of that voyage in a manner readable for non scientists Woven into the modern story is the history of early explorers scientists and navigators who had gone before into the Southern Ocean The departure of the Glomar Challenger from Fremantle took place 100 years after the HMS Challenger weighed anchor from Portsmouth England at the start of its four year voyage sampling and dredging the world's oceans Sailing south the Glomar Challenger crossed the path of James Cook's HMS Resolution then on its circumnavigation of Antarctica in search of the Great South Land Encounters with Lieutenant Charles Wilkes of the US Exploring Expedition and Douglas Mawson of the Australasian Antarctic Expedition followed In the Ross Sea the voyages of the HMS Erebus and HMS Terror under James Clark Ross with the young Joseph Hooker as botanist were ever present The story of the Glomar Challenger's iconic voyage is largely told through the diaries of the author then a young scientist experiencing science at sea for the first time It weaves together the physical history of Antarctica with how we have come to our current knowledge of the polar continent This is an attractive lavishly illustrated and curiosity satisfying read for the general public as well as for scholars of science The Earth Memory Compass Farina King, 2018-10-01 The Din or Navajo have their own ways of knowing and being in the world a cultural identity linked to their homelands through ancestral memory The Earth Memory Compass traces this tradition as it is imparted from generation to generation and as it has been transformed and often obscured by modern modes of education An autoethnography of sorts the book follows Farina King's search for her own Din identity as she investigates the interconnections among Navajo students their people and Din Bik yah or Navajo lands across the twentieth century In her exploration of how historical changes in education have reshaped Din identity and community King draws on the insights of ethnohistory cultural history and Navajo language At the center of her study is the Din idea of the Four Directions in which each of the cardinal directions takes its meaning from a sacred mountain and its accompanying element East for instance is Sis Naajin Blanca Peak and white shell West Dook o oos d San Francisco Peaks and abalone North Dib Nitsaa Hesperus Peak and black jet South Tsoodzi Mount Taylor and turquoise King elaborates on the meanings and teachings of the mountains and directions throughout her book to illuminate how Navajos have embedded memories in landmarks to serve as a compass for their people a compass threatened by the dislocation and disconnection of Din students from their land communities and Navajo ways of learning Critical to this story is how inextricably Indigenous education and experience is intertwined with American dynamics of power and history As environmental catastrophes and struggles over resources sever the connections among peoplehood land and water King s book holds out hope that the teachings guidance and knowledge of an earth memory compass still have the power to bring the people and the earth together

Place and Memory Julian Thomas, Matt Leivers, Julia Roberts, Rick Peterson, 2007 This volume is concerned with the investigation of three complexes of prehistoric ceremonial monuments in the immediate environs of Dumfries in the south west of Scotland conducted between 1994 and 1998 These were the Pict s Knowe henge the Holywood cursus complex and the post alignments cursus at Holm The field research was designed in such a way as to recognise that prehistoric monuments often have complex and individual sequences of construction and use while also acknowledging that detailed studies of particular sites and local contexts will ultimately advance our understanding of monumentality in prehistoric Europe The three sites of the Pict s Knowe Holywood and Holm have proved especially helpful in addressing questions of how particular places maintained their importance over long periods of time In each instance the location was characterised by features which possess a high degree of archaeological visibility In the former case it was the upstanding earthwork of the bank and ditch that identified the site as a henge monument while Holywood and Holm were discovered through aerial photography Each of the sites investigated had complex sequences of development in which the structural elements that were recognised prior to fieldwork were not necessarily the most important or the most long lived This book considers the details of the excavated features environmental and artefactual evidence as well as more general concerns The first part of the volume concentrates on the Pict s Knowe while the second looks at the more spatially and typologically related sites of Holywood and Holm
